ENTERPRISE HOME FROM THE WAR

The 90,000-ton, nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise rivaled the Golden Gate Bridge in sheer enormity as it eased into San Francisco Bay this morning following a 31-day combat tour off Vietnam. Most of the ship's 5,800 crew members who were not on duty manned the edge of the flattop's huge flight deck to wave at well-wishers lining the span railing. A 150-foot banner reading "Welcome Home, Big E" was unfurled as the carrier drew close and passed under the bridge, with only yards to spare. The ship's relatively short combat tour, its fourth off Vietnam, was caused by a delay in reaching the Far East when an explosion and fire which killed 28 men occurred Jan. 14. The Enterprise will remain at Alameda Naval Air Station until July 14. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Bagley Set To Abandon Withholding

Hopes Compromise Tax Bill Will Speed Budget

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill to withhold state income taxes from all payroll checks, one of the hottest potatoes before the Legislature, is about to be dropped by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, in a try to get a new state budget.

Dropping the measure would cut $135 million a year out of the $308 million in increased school aid proposed by a bipartisan group of six Assemblymen, "but if it will help put together a meaningful tax package, so be it," said Bagley.

COSTLY MOVE

Dropping it also would lose $590 million in the first year of withholding, when the state could collect for the prior year and for part of the current year.

The $1 billion tax reform program proposed last month by the six-man subcommittee, chaired by Bagley, has been in "suspended animation" since the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee voted instead to endorse Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax package, Bagley said. The governor's package, which does not provide for mandatory withholding — adamantly opposed by Ragan — now is to be heard by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Asked why he joined Democrats and conservative Republicans in the revenue and taxation committee's vote to endorse the governor's package, which he later said had serious defects, Bagley said he did so with disdain, because, "there was no way I could hold the bills for refinement," he said.

VETO THREAT

Noting that Assembly Democrats had argued the bipartisan package was doomed because its withholding provision would draw a veto from the governor, Bagley said that dropping the withholding provision would remove this objection to the bipartisan package.

Bagley added that he hoped this might break the impasse over the budget. Democrats have demanded that the Assembly vote on a tax reform package before passing the budget, and withholding has been a major stumbling block.

GOP Flays Unruh Stall On Budget

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO — Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan accused lower house Democratic leader Jesse M. Unruh today of "trying to obtain cheap personal publicity for his campaign for governor" by blockading the state budget.

Monagan joined Republican Senate President pro tem Howard Way in sharply attacking Unruh, expected to challenge Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan next year. Monagan and Way appeared at a news conference held amid a deepening state fiscal crisis.

With California in its second day without legal authorization to spend money, Republicans and Democrats showed no signs of budging in the fight that forced the state to begin a new fiscal year yesterday without an appropriations bill.

"We have seen the putting of personal ambitions and personal views ahead of the people," Way said when asked if he agreed with Monagan's assessment of Unruh.

Monagan said "I can't help but feel that it has hurt" Unruh's chances for winning the governorship next year. "I think it is useless to speculate on that," Unruh said.

"It has given him a great amount of cheap publicity," Monagan said. "But I have faith in the people and they realize he is just seeking notoriety."

As Monagan spoke, state agencies were feeling the pinch of an unprecedented situation where some of them lacked even the ready cash to buy postage stamps. Prisons and mental hospitals arranged to buy their eggs, milk and meat on credit. "This is just exactly

40TH ANNIVERSARY

The Great Fire In Mill Valley Recalled

By ANNE BARDWELL

Forty years ago today the great Mill Valley fire swept through town leaving 130 charred homes and the ashy remains of uncounted acres of mountain scenery in its wake.

Even today, oldtimers talk of The Fire with an awe similar to that expressed by San Franciscans who experienced the 1906 earthquake and fire.

The fire's 40th anniversary is getting more attention than normally would be expected because of recent discussions by residents of a possible repeat of the disaster which swept the city on July 2, 1929.

Increased use of the Cascade Reservoir area by young people as a swimming and camping area has heightened residents' fears of fire in the heavily wooded canyon areas at the base of Mount Tamalpais.

If a fire started in the back of Cascade Canyon, there would be no stopping it until it reached downtown, residents say. Outside of the reservoir, there is no water for firefighting in the canyon and roads are narrow and easily blocked to fire trucks.

Ironically, much of Cascade Canyon, the area of greatest fire fear today, was comparatively untouched by the great fire which broke out, it's believed, when a passenger on the old Mount Tamalpais narrow gauge railroad tossed a lighted cigarette out of a train window into the dry underbrush on the slopes of Mount Tamalpais.

The fire began as a small wisp of smoke up behind the Garden of Allah in the back reaches of Blithedale Canyon, remembers Jean Barnard of 1 El Capitan, whose family owned the famous estate before it was converted into the Ralston White retreat some years back.

Mrs. Barnard, just a young girl at the time recalls the fire vividly, particularly since it reduced her grandmother's home at 309 Tamalpais Avenue to a pile of charred timbers in a matter of minutes.

"The fire came roaring up the middle ridge (between Blithedale and Cascade Canyons) and in 15 minutes the only thing left of the house was the stone fireplace," Mrs. Barnard remembers.

The fireplace still stands today, part of the home of Laurence M. Symmes Jr., Mrs. Barnard's brother, who built a new home on his grandmother's property.

"No one really could believe their house would burn," Mrs. Barnard says. An uncle, she remembers, spilled ink while rescuing furniture. "He stopped, with the fire coming up the hill, took off his shirt and wiped up the ink. Imagine! It didn't make any difference, of course, because the ink and everything else was ashes within a few minutes."

The fire burned for three days

McGovern In Secret Paris Hanoi Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern disclosed today he met in secret for 10 hours in May with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong negotiators in Paris.

He said he came away convinced that progress in the peace talks is impossible until the United States starts "the systematic withdrawal of all our forces," and stops unqualified support of the Thieu government.

He said the other side would respond quickly to ease off their military pressure if the United States changed strategy and withdrew troops.

The South Dakota Democrat, a long-time critic of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, disclosed his meeting and its details in a prepared Senate speech and in a briefing for newsmen.

He said he discussed the plan in advance with chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge, who he said agreed "it might be helpful." He added he reported at length on his return to the State Department and to Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Richard M. Nixon's national security adviser. He said he has seen no change in the administration's attitude.

He emphasized that he told the North Vietnamese he had no authority to speak for the United States but was interested, as a senator and private citizen, in asking questions. Most of the sessions, he said, were devoted to his interrogation of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

"I am certain," he went on, "that we should now notify Saigon, Hanoi, the NLF and other interested parties that we are definitely moving out all of our forces and that the only consideration on the speed of the withdrawal will be the safety of our men.

Rogers Is Optimistic About Viet War Lull

WASHINGTON (AP) —Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today that battle activity in Vietnam in the last week may have dropped to the lowest level of the war and he indicated this could increase U.S. troop withdrawals if the lull continues.

Rogers also told a news conference that "we know pretty conclusively" that the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam has declined in the last two or three months but the reason for this is not clear.

Rogers cautioned that the reason for the battlefield lull is not yet quiet clear either, saying more time would be required to decide whether it was politically significant.

He said, however, that "we hope this is a response to the announcement by President Richard M. Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam at Midway." The Midway announcement June 8 disclosed Nixon's decision to withdraw 25,000 American troops by the end of August.

One question asked Rogers was whether the United States would react to the lower level of combat now apparent, assuming that it proved to be significant.

He recalled that one of President Nixon's stated criteria for withdrawing forces from Vietnam was the level of enemy military activity in the field.

Rogers was questioned about whether the Nixon administration was studying proposals for a cease-fire in Vietnam. He said a cease-fire did not appear to be practical in the absence of an agreement on troop withdrawal on both sides which, he argued, would automatically lower the level of combat.

$8.15 Million Loss Faces Marin, S. Sonoma Schools

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — Governor Ronald Reagan's tax reform proposal would slash $8,146,504 from school district budgets in Marin and Southern Sonoma, and a 60 per cent approval by the voters would be needed in special tax elections to replace the lost funds.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who released the figures yesterday, said that 501 of some 1,200 school districts in the state also would have deep cuts made in their funds.

The cuts would be forced because the governor's tax proposal limits each taxpayer's total property tax for education to a maximum of $1.10 per $100 assessed valuation. Tax revenue from this levy then would be shared among all the school districts in which the taxpayer resides.

Fifty cents would be allowed on the tax rate for kindergarten through sixth grade, 7 cents for each grade from seventh to 12th, 4 cents for high school districts maintaining classes for adults, and 14 cents for junior college districts.

Thus, for example, a Sausalito homeowner would pay a rate of 64 cents to the Sausalito Elementary School District, 32 cents to the Tamalpais Union

Nightlong Efforts Get Fair Ready

Orchids and begonias, some of the most fragile of flowers in the Marin Art and Garden Fair which opens at 6 p.m. today in Ross, were put into place during last night. (See art review, page 10, and photos, page 21).

Many exhibitors worked all night to put everything into place by 8 a.m. when the judges began their judging.

From 8 a.m. to noon today the judges reigned supreme at the quiet fairgrounds. Exhibitors were verboten, and, if found, their gardens would be disqualified.

Cut flowers and vegetables, which arrived yesterday, were also judged today. Judging results will be announced tomorrow.

The art show on display in the Frances Young Gallery has already been judged as well as the photography show located in the barn.

The fair is open from 6 to 10

According to the county coroner's office, the parents are separated and the child lived with her mother in San Francisco.

The other victim of the pool accident, Nika Carter, 2, died Monday at Marin General.

Enemy Attacks In South Vietnam Drop; Attitude Of Wait And See

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy attacks in South Vietnam "are almost down to nothing," an American source reported today.

Military officials said attacks have dropped to one of the lowest levels of the year, but added that infiltration from North Vietnam is keeping enemy forces up to strength.

"For reasons unknown," one source said, "the enemy has decreased his actions. They are almost down to nothing. They are not launching any sizable attacks."

The source noted that "attacks have gone down in the past. Whether we're in a valley between a couple of peaks, I don't know yet. We'll have to wait and see. There is a sprinkling of reports indicating possibly another surge of enemy attacks rather soon, but this is not firm,."

Ranking officers said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are waging the war almost solely for political goals now and are correlating their military objectives with their goals at the peace talks in Paris.

Military analysts cited a Communist Command policy directive, captured last month, warning subordinate commands not to assume that the summer campaign will be decisive. It admitted that it would be impossible to annihilate the entire American and South Vietnamese force, the analysts said.

The U.S. Command said ground fighting was light and scattered today, and there were only seven enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night —the lowest number in a month. None of the attacks was directed against U.S. bases, and only three caused casualties or damage.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 13 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 16 were wounded yesterday when Viet Cong terrorists threw hand grenades into two movie theaters in the provincial capital of Na Xuyen, 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

In a note to the International Control Commission, the Saigon government complained that enemy terrorists killed 471 civilians and wounded 1,521 during May. The note said the terrorist activities "showed that North Vietnamese aggressors have remained stubborn and bellicose (and) have no goodwill in searching for a solution to end the Vietnam war."

The commission, composed of Canada, Poland and India, was set up to police the 1954 Geneva Accords ending the French Indochina war.

Admen Criticize Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed federal requirement that all cigarette advertising carry a death hazard warning was condemned by the American Advertising Federation today as "piecemeal and simplistic."

The federation also questioned whether the stiff warning proposed by the Federal Trade Commission would be effective in getting cigarette smokers to quit.

"However much the commission's proposal may salve its conscience," the federation said in written testimony, "it does not solve the problems."

Czech Party Purge

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's hardline Communist bosses purged officials in two major party organizations and announced editorial shakeups on three daily newspapers today.

At the same time, pro-Soviet journalists and party propaganda officials launched a campaign to isolate newsmen unwilling to support the government's policy of appeasing Moscow.

The moves were part of the continuing drive to dismantle the liberal Communist apparatus and press freedoms that existed in Czechoslovakia before the Soviet-led invasion in August 1968.

Air Battle Over Suez Follows Raids

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claimed its jets shot down four Egyptian MIGs in a dogfight over the Gulf of Suez today. Egypt did not confirm the losses but claimed two Israeli Mirages were shot down.

Cairo radio quoted a military communique as saying two Israeli plane formations entered Egyptian air space in the Ain el Suk Neh area, were intercepted by MIGs and two Israeli jets were shot down in the ensuing fight.

The Israeli army said its planes encountered the MIGs while on patrol, pursued them, and four of the Soviet-built planes were seen falling in Egyptian territory.

The Israelis now claim to have shot down 25 Egyptian warplanes since the June 1967 war.

The Israelis also confirmed that some of their jets flew over Cairo last June 17, an audacious move that led to the firing of Egypt's air force chief, Gen. Mustapha el Hennaw; and Gen. Hassan Kamel, responsible for Egypt's air defense.

Their dismissal was announced in Cairo June 23. Egypt's new air chief, Gen. Ali Baghdadi, lost three MIGs by Israeli count within days of assuming his new office.

The air clash follows Israeli commando raids on three Egyptian positions in the Gulf of Suez Tuesday night and an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli army position in Jordan's occupied West Bank.

A spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Arab raiders were driven off by Israeli fire and there were no casualties.

In a brief communique on the Suez raid, the Israeli army said its commandos killed 13 Egyptian soldiers, took one prisoner and returned safely to base. A map released by the army showed the target area near Ras Issaran, about 100 miles south of Port Suez.

Charles Begins Tours Of Welch Provinces

CAERNARVON, Wales (AP) —Cheering yachtsmen and spectators ashore greeted Prince Charles today at the vacation resort of Llandudno as the new Prince of Wales began a four-day "meet the people" tour of his restive principality.

The 20-year-old heir to the British throne had a cozy dinner party with friends, including some much talked about girls, before leaving Holyhead aboard the royal yacht Britannia. He was reported in a relaxed mood with the personal ordeal of his investiture, its bomb scares, deaths and royal pageantry behind him.

"It's as if a huge weight had been lifted from his shoulders," said an aide.

Small sailboats and yachts clustered around the Britannia when it arrived at Llandudno, on Wales' north coast, after the overnight trip from Holyhead, on the Isle of Anglesey. But security was heavy, and Navy frogmen searched the Llandudno pier for bombs throughout the night.

Charles landed just after 9 a.m. wearing a dark brown suit. As the royal barge moved toward the pier, he waved in acknowledgment of the cheers.

The prince had said he wanted to meet as many Welsh people as possible during his tour. At Llandudno town hall, he signed the visitors book and talked with local officials.

While he was ashore, his sister, Princess Anne, and other guests on the Britannia disembarked and left for London by special train.

Charles was to visit Denbigh, Caernarvon, Merioneth, Montgomery and Cardigan Shires today before returning to spend the night aboard the Britannia off Newquay on the west coast of Wales.

Charles invited his closest friends to an informal celebration dinner last night aboard the royal yacht. The guest list, particularly girls, was headline news in Britain and aroused fresh speculation about the nation's most eligible bachelor.

The girls included Lucia Santa-Cruz, 25-year-old daughter of Chile's ambassador to London and a classic blonde beauty Charles has known for years; Sybilla Dorman, 19-year-old daughter of the governor general of Malta who was Charles' guest at a Cambridge ball last May, and Lady Cecil Kerr, 21, a pretty brunette daughter of the Marquess of Lothian.

Only nine hours after his investiture—Britain's most spectacular royal ceremony since the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II—a military policeman was killed by a firebomb beneath the floodlight walls of Caernarvon Castle. The area swarmed with investigators who warned post-midnight celebrators away.

"This is a murder scene so keep away," said one officer. "This is obiously connected with the ceremony in some way."

Earlier yesterday, before the investiture, a bomb went off in a vacant lot outside Caernarvon at the very moment Prince Charles mounted his state carriage for a two-mile drive through cheering crowds to the ceremony.

A bomb hoax also had delayed the Royal Family's train ride to Wales, and two men believed to be Welsh extremists were killed by a bomb blast 200 yards from the railroad tracks before the train arrived.

Police also reported today a bomb was found in a suitcase by the side of the road over which Prince Charles traveled from Caernarvon to Holyhead to board the Britannia.

The Question: Who'll Lead Black Studies?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The firing of Dr. Nathan Hare by Dr. S. I. Hayakawa brought a new focus today to the simmering dissent at San Francisco State College.

Hare, a controversial 34-year-old black scholar, reached the end of his contract June 30 and it was not renewed. He said he is staying anyway to head the college's black studies program.

Hayakawa, a controversial 62-year-old Oriental semanticist from Mill Valley now acting president of the college, said Hare is out. There is "not a chance" he will be rehired, Hayakawa told UPI.

Both Hare and Hayakawa said the strife-torn 17,000-student college will have a black studies program next fall — one of the key issues in last winter's violent student-faculty strike.

The question is who will run it and who will staff it?

"Hayakawa has the authority, and I have the power," said Hare. "The people who are in black studies relate to me, not to him. We will have the black studies program — one of the best in the country."

Said Hayakawa: "We can put together a program without him. He is not the only man who knows about black studies. We have already hired other people."

Hare's salary ended June 30.

He said he can do without it. In fact, he scorned the $12,300 a year he was paid as being much less than he was offered at other colleges. He is staying he said, because "the black students and the black community urged me to stay and I promised I would."

Hayakawa observed that Hare "helped himself to his pay" while not working during the strike. It was on the basis of his refusal to work during the strike that he was fired, Hayakawa said.

Hare said all Negro scholars have been "warned not to take my place." He said if he is evicted from his office at the college he will still be running any black studies program that the college has.

He leaves July 15 for the Pan-African Cultural Festival in Africa and says he will recruit Africans to teach in his department.

Hayakawa yesterday requested the state department to spread the word in Africa that Hare has no authority to hire faculty for the college.

S.F. State Minority Leader Quits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Another minority administrator at San Francisco State College resigned yesterday, claiming he was in a "lackey type position."

"I can no longer serve in this administration with its callous attitudes," said Anthony J. Salamanca, 27, associate director of the Educational Opportunity program (EOP).

Four of the college's black administrators quit last Friday.

"We are strictly in a lackey type position here," Salamanca told newsmen.

Salamanca announced his resignation following a meeting with acting President S. I. Hayakawa and 15 Mexican-American student and community leaders.

They tried to persuade Hayakawa to use his prestige in Sacramento to raise the number of minority students admitted in the fall under the EOP program from 150 to 400.

Hayakawa said the cut was necessary because of budget pressures but after the meeting he said he doesn't regard the 150 figure "as permanently fixed."

Nurses Return After Ratifying New Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With a stronger voice in patient care and salary increases of $90 a month over two years, California Nurses Association members returned to work today at eight Bay Area hospitals.

Nearly 1,000 CNA members, including those at Merritt Hospital in Oakland, ratified an agreement last night ending a 19-day strike.

Nurses at Merritt remained on their jobs but participated in the voting since the hospital was a member of the nine-member Associated Hospitals of San Francisco and the East Bay.

A CNA official said no vote results would be announced, but said the nurses were "ecstatic" that the strike had ended.

The walkout began at five hospitals and gradually escalated to include eight: St. Francis and French in San Francisco; Children's, Peralta and Providence in Oakland; Herrick and Alta Bates in Berkeley, and Alameda Hospital in Alameda.

Agreement on 14 issues came after two days of meetings negotiated by Sam Kagel, the professional mediator who helped settle a nine-week newspaper strike here early in 1968.

The nurses achieved their main objective, a patient care committee at each hospital comprised of from five to eight members depending on the size of the hospital.

The $90 increase — $50 retroactive to last Jan. 1 and $40 more next Feb. 1 — was $10 less than the nurses asked for.

The agreement puts the new salary range at $650 a month for beginners, $800 for nurses with five years' experience and a top of $860 a month for head nurses.

Next Feb. 1 the range increases to $690, $840 and $907.

All staff nurses will be required to join the CNA after 31 days of employment.

Year's 79th Homicide Discovered In Tunnel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— San Francisco today listed its 79th homicide victim of the year. At the current rate, police said the city may pass its all-time annual record of 97 slain, set last year, by late August.

The victim was an unidentified man found shot through the face on the steps of the Stockton Street tunnel. He was about 30 and was clutching a newspaper with some scribblings in the margin.

Trustees Will Look Into Election At Sonoma State

California State College Trustees will open their meeting Tuesday in Los Angeles with a review of the disputed Sonoma State College student government elections.

John T. Kehoe, educational consultant to Gov. Ronald Reagan, said he has continued to gather information about the election for the trustees and especially Reagan, a trustee.

Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. Sonoma State president, spent Monday in Sacramento giving information to the governor's office, but would not comment on what was discussed.

In question will be the election of James G. Gillette, 35, of Cotati, who defeated Jon Owen of Novato after a disputed series of two general elections and two run-off elections. Owen had received the most votes in the three previous election which were invalidated by the Student Elections Commission.

Owen and other students who were defeated in the final voting, had petitioned Dr. Nichols to invalidate the balloting because of questionable voting procedures and rumors of an election conspiracy.

After a five-hour hearing, which included legal counsel from the chancellor's office, Dr. Nichols said he found no legal grounds on which to invalidate the Gillette election.

Trustee William O. Weissich of San Rafael said he had asked the trustees to schedule an investigation into the election and possibly to take action at the July meeting.

"I have no preconceived ideas about the election, but it appears to me that there is enough dissatisfaction on campus for the trustees to study it," Weissich said today. He noted that he had visited the campus several times recently and had seen delegations of unhappy students in his San Rafael office.

While the trustees will not have a great amount of time to study the problem, Weissich said he hoped the transcript of the five-hour investigation by Dr. Nichols would be made available to the trustees to speed deliberation.

Gillette, who considers himself the duly elected student body president, plans to be in Los Angeles next week for a meeting of the state college student body presidents and said he would "drop in" at the trustee session.

"I see no reason to expect fanfare," Gillette said, noting that charges of corruption in the former student government and in the election are completely unfounded.

Gillette called the trustees' investigation an interference in student government. "We're subject to the rules of the state and can't do much about it, but we still consider it meddling" he said yesterday.

He said the final say in student government elections should be left up to the students and that any trustee action on the election "would be setting an alarming precedent."

Gillette said the other student body presidents will also be watching the trustees actions closely and may make a statement as a group if necessary.

Owen, who is coordinating the efforts of the dissatisfied students, said he knows of no plans for his group to attend the trustees' meeting.

"The matter is not being dropped," he said. "It's being pursued, but I can't say in what manner." Owen called the situation "very serious and delicate" and said he would not want to endanger the plans of his group by making them public before the Tuesday meeting.

Although Sonoma State does not appear on the official trustees agenda, it is expected to be discussed at the educational policy committee meeting at 9 a.m. and perhaps later go to the full board.

FIRE

before it finally was extinguished, but the crisis was passed late in the evening of July 2.

Fanned by 25 to 30-mile-per-hour winds, the flames swept down Blithedale Canyon, over both the Warner and Middle ridges and into portions of Warner and Cascade canyons.

Mill Valley's small fire department — one truck and two men plus several volunteers — was unable to cope and a call went out to neighboring communities for help.

The San Francisco Fire Department dispatched eight trucks and 60 men by ferry to the beleaguered community. From the Presidio came 155 soldiers and from the Coast Guard and San Francisco police Department 50 more men were dispatched.

In "These Hills Afire: the Story of the Mill Valley Conflagration," an anonymous manuscript written shortly after the fire from eyewitness accounts, an observer noted: "While the red ruin ran flaming toward the imperiled town, while volunteers ran from homes and offices, from play and work; while brave women herded wide-eyed frightened children to places of safety — the rescuers were coming to sav Mill Valley and its inhabitants."

One of the railroad trains, caught at the top of the mountain with 65 passengers, barely beat the fire back to downtown Mill Valley.

Engineered by T. J. (Jake) Johnson, the train came down a "winding, blazing trail, smoke filled and bordering an inferno as thousands of rattlesnakes driven from cover by the flames to the haven of the railway right-of-way made the rails slippery, necessitating a liberal use of sand to keep the train under control," according to "These Hills Afire."

Another engine, full of volunteer firemen and the police chief, was suddenly trapped by flames behind the Garden of Allah and all aboard had to run for their lives to escape.

Close to midnight the fire came to the edge of downtown and the town seemed lost when suddenly, just as in the movies, the wind shifted and blew the fire back up upon itself, saving the central business and residential areas.

Damage to homes alone was estimated at $1,045,500. Many of the destroyed homes were valued from $10,000 to $35,000, a lot of money by pre-Depression Day standards. One, owned by John Forbes, then vice president of Crocker's First National Bank in San Francisco, burned to the ground, an estimated loss of $100,000.

Word of the fire spread as far away as Maine where one Marin resident on vacation remembers reading headlines which said "Mill Valley Wiped Off Map."

The city wasn't quite wiped off the map, but the mountain railroad was. The fire had destroyed so much of the track and ties that the railroad's operators decided not to rebuild. few years later the road to the top of the mountain was completed, ending once, and perhaps for all time, the tourist attraction known as "The crookedest railroad in the world."

Marijuana Charges Dismissed In Court

Marijuana possession charges against Rene G. Reclus, 21, of Novato were dismissed yesterday by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court on the grounds that the search and seizure of the drug were illegal.

Reclus was arrested by Novato police March 8 on a traffic warrant and allegedly had the marijuana with him.

BUDGET

the same as if the banks closed," State Finance Director Casper Weinberger.

Monagan said the California Youth Authority has only five days of food left in its 18 institutions for juvenile offenders, and California Medical Facility 15 days' supply. All the computers that help the Franchise Tax Board collect taxes have been shut down because officials have no way of paying the private firms from which they are leased.

Monagan said he will hold Assembly sessions daily until the budget passes.

"We may be able to resolve it today," he said. "But I do not intend to carry on any other business in the Assembly until it is resolved — that includes working on July Fourth."

Monagan expressed willingness to negotiate the key issue behind the fight — Democratic demands for more school aid than Reagan wants to give.

The governor has offered to add $105 million a year to current state aid to local schools of $1.3 billion. Democrats want more but they haven't specified precisely how much; $198 million is in the stalled budget.

Unruh has held out for a guarantee that Reagan wouldn't trim a higher appropriation, if the legislature gives him more than $105 million. The governor has the right to trim a budget, but not add to it.

In another development in the fight over the record $6.37 billion budget, two assemblymen proposed a constitutional amendment that they said would prevent recurrence of such a crisis.

Assemblymen Craig Biddle of Riverside and John Stull of Leucadia proposed that if a future legislature failed to pass a budget before May 30, the previous year's budget would be automatically adopted for the new fiscal year—with a 10 per cent cut in every state agency's appropriation.

And Unruh sought to introduce a resolution declaring the Legislature intends to honor any unpaid claims against the state made before a budget is passed.

Reagan pleaded with the state's 186,000 employees to work "voluntarily" possibly without pay. The Governor promised to do "everything in my power" to make sure employees are "justly compensated."

Employes had mixed emotions.

"It's more of a joke than anything else among the employees," said Eldon Petersen, a Capitol window washer. "These guys (legislators) take off on Thursday every week and then they can't even pass a budget."

"We've got a job to do and we're going to do it regardless of pay," declared Andrew Lolli, a former Army general from Marin County, who now is State General Services Director.

Jerry D. Harrell, a Fish and Game Department information officer, asked "What's the use of staying home a couple of days while they straighten this out? You just come back and find your 'in' basket piled higher. They're going to have to pay us sooner or later. Aren't they?"

Reagan said a survey of agencies showed employees reporting to work as usual.

Program Stimulates Children Reading

The Larkspur Library, in its first summer reading program for children, last month reached the highest circulation in juvenile books in five years, librarian Richard A. Kilbourne reported last night to the library board.

Circulation for June of last year was 1,618 which compares with 2,110 of this June, Kilbourne said. Eighty-two children are currently in the program.

Regents' Antisecrecy Bill Amended, Gains

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to force the University of California regents to open their meetings to the public yesterday narrowly won endorsement by the Senate Judiciary Committee. It was the first time in years that such a measure managed to clear a Senate committee.

But to get his measure out of the committee, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, had to accept university amendments allowing the regents to close meetings to discuss compensation, independent contracting and land purchases. Hiring, firing and hearing charges are the only exceptions allowed under the state's anti-secret meeting law, which applies to all public bodies in the state except the regents and the Legislature.

Nixon's Leave For Holiday In Florida

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon flew today to their Key Biscayne, Fla., vacation home to spend the July 4 holiday and celebrate the 21st birthday Saturday of their younger daughter, Julie Eisenhower.

Julie accompanied her parents. Her sister Tricia, now in London, is to join the family later in the week. The Nixons are expected to return Sunday.

High School District, and 14 cents to the Marin Junior College District.

The figures were prepared for Babley by the Department of Finance, and based on last fiscal year's school budgets. No figure was given for the total statewide impact of the cuts.

"This is not an effort to badmouth a proposal," Bagley told the Independent-Journal, "but to analyze it."

But he stressed that without extensive reworking, the governor's tax proposal "will be disruptive to education from kindergarten up. School districts would have the property tax rug pulled out from under them."

The governor's tax proposal, embodied in 13 bills, is the only tax package alive and kicking in Sacramento. Another set of tax proposals, drawn up by a six-member Assembly subcommittee headed by Bagley, still is bottled up in committee.

The district that would be hit hardest under the governor's proposal would be the Tamalpais High School District, which would lose $2,139,547. Its budget last year totaled $9.1 million.

However, four districts would gain under the proposal. Dixie School District would pick up an additional $102,000, Fairfax School District wguld pick up $76,000, Novato Unified School District would gain $68,000, and Lagunitas school District would gain $12,000.

Bagley's staff said there was no logical explanation of why these four gained more money under the proposal.

The special tax elections to replace the lost funds would range from $1.69 in the Sausalito School District to 2 cents in the San Anselmo School District.

These extra taxes, as well as bonded indebtedness taxes, would be in addition to the $1.10 local property tax rate set in the governor's proposal as the maximum for all local education, including junior college. Also, business would pay a statewide tax of $3.50 per $100 assessed valuation toward education, Bagley's staff noted.

The governor's proposal would juggle about $2 billion in new taxes and cuts in existing taxes, and raise state aide to schools from $1.6 billion to almost $3 billion. But this increase in state aid would not offset the revenue loss by cutting back the property tax rate to $1.10, Bagley said.

The impact of the governor's proposal on three Marin districts was reported in May by the Independent-Journal, but yesterday was the first time complete figures were released.

The amount that would be cut from each Marin school district's budget, with the amount of the raise in the tax rate needed to replace the cut indicated in parenthesis, would be: Bolinas-Stinson, $125,715 ($1.18); Kentfield, $217,794 ($.60); Laguna Joint, $7,398 ($.47); Larkspur, $146,451 ($.42); Lincoln, $7,284 ($.49); Mill Valley, $250,080 ($.37); Nicasio, $22,788 ($.87); Reed Union, $353,892 ($.75); Ross, $19,849 ($.17); San Anselmo, $7,907 ($.02); San Rafael, $828,796 ($.70); Sausalito, $546,966 ($1.69); Union Joint, $8,203 ($1.18); West Marin Union, $7,850 ($.06); San Rafael High School, $729,724 ($.44); Tamalpais Union High School, $2,139,547 ($.71); Tomales Joint Union High School, $159,065 ($0.69); and Marin Junior College, $1,670,776 ($.30).

In Southern Sonoma, the figures are $657,191 ($.76) for Petaluma Joint Union High School, and $239,728 ($.37); for Analy Union High School.

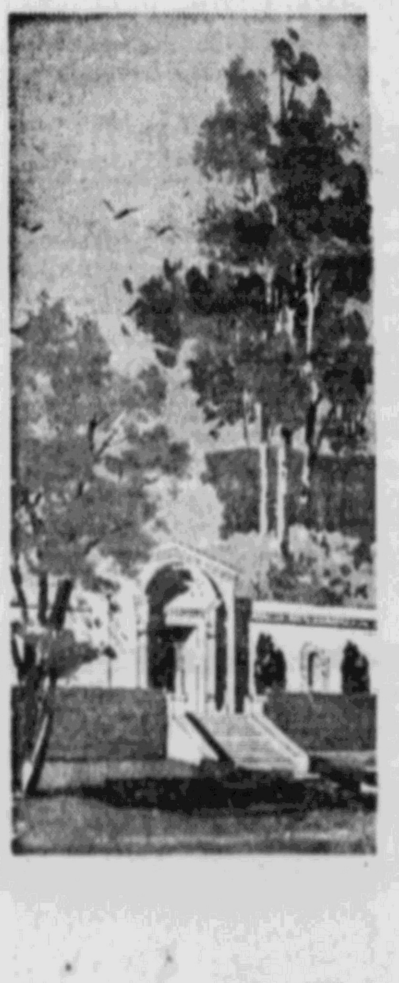
MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County



Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

Proposed Hippie Curb Draws New Criticism

The Mill Valley Human Rights Commission last night unanimously disapproved Carmel's "antihippie" ordinance or anything resembling it.

The commission urged the city council to refrain from adopting any such ordinance. The Carmel measure is designed to regulate the activities of "undesireable and unsanitary persons."

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also has opposed the controversial measure under consideration by the city council.

Roger Fleischmann, chairman of the human rights commission, said members decided such a measure would unreasonably limit use of city parks, impose a prohibitive policing cost on taxpayers, violate the Constitution and polarize the community.

The commission also voted to urge the city council to reconsider its list of priorities for use of city recreation facilities. The commission said rules now in effect are vague and could be considered discriminatory against nonresidents. Commissioners William J. Walker and Richard N. Jessup abstained.

Deputies Break Up Wild Park Party, Arrest 10

Two sheriff's deputies who attempted last night to break up a wild and noisy gathering at Paradise Park in Tiburon were greeted with a barrage of flying rock and bottles and shouted obscenties.

After calling for help from seven additional deputies and about a dozen California Highway patrolmen, the law officers within about an hour cleared the parking lot where the fracas took place and arrested 10 young men.

Deputies said today that two homemade "fire bombs" subsequently thrown at the wall outside the sheriff's department in the Court House in San Rafael were probably the work of friends of those jailed.

The bombs, which were two soft drink bottles filled with an incendiary liquid and wicks, fizzled, however, and were not even heard by those inside the building. Two burned spots over the entrance to the jail and sheriff's department and broken glass as well as the wicks were found by deputies early this morning.

Deputies said they were called to the park by neighbors about 9:50 p.m. and found about 100 persons in the lower parking lot. They were drinking wine and beer, setting off firecrackers and playing car radios at full volume, according to the deputies.

When told to leave over a loud speaker, the revelers shouted obscenities and said "we are ready for you." They also hurled rocks and bottles at the patrol car. One man took his pants off and made obscene gestures, deputies said.

While waiting for re-inforcements the deputies said they were constantly under siege from flying objects.

When additional law officers arrived, the rioters were again asked to leave and many did. The officers then marched into the parking lot and dispersed all but the 10 young men who refused to leave.

One 16-year-old boy was taken to Juvenile Hall and nine other youths were booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace and refusal to disperse.

Arrested were Rick Dalhover, 18, of 10 Walnut Street, Larkspur; Scott Francis Lang, 19, of 33 Poplar Avenue, Ross; James Edward McKenna, 19, of 216 South Ridgewood Road, Kent Woodlands; Randolph Hugh Holt, 20, of Tahoe City; Robert Lee Davis, 20, of 1595 Redwood Highway, Corte Madera; Robert David Freid, 18, of 110 Sycamore Avenue, Larkspur; James William Vandall, 21, of 81 Elm Avenue, Kentfield.

Bail for each was set at $625.

Vandall and Zimmerman posted bail to appear in Municipal Court Monday and McKenna to appear today. The othars remained in jail to appear in court today.

Body Of Man Found Floating

The body of a 40 to 50-year-old man was found floating off Fort Baker at 8:10 a.m. today, the Coast Guard reported.

Taken to the San Francisco coroner's office, the body was described by Deputy Coroner Mark R. Alleeson as Caucasian, five feet, 10 inches, 180 pounds, brown eyes and hair, wearing a light tan sport shirt, dark pants and black elevated shoes. The clothing contained no identification.

Alleeson said the body had cuts and scratches around the face which could have been caused by bumping against rocks. He estimated it was in the water from one to six hours.

Mail Carrier Hurt When Van Rolls

A Sausalito mail carrier was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with internal injuries and chest bruises suffered when he was crushed between his mail van and a utility pole Monday afternoon, according to Sausalito police.

Robert A. Schmidt, 31, of Box 681, Tiburon, was found semiconscious after the accident at 3:30 p.m. at 66 Cloudview Road. Police said his mail van apparently started to roll backward as Schmidt was away from the vehicle; Schmidt tried to stop it and was caught between vehicle and pole.

Police said the van may have a defective brake, since they found it with emergency brake set and an electrical brake lock also set.

Mill Valley Picks Acting Fire Chief

Joseph E. Regalia, a 26-year veteran of the force, was named acting fire chief of Mill Valley today by City Mgr. William Cunningham.

Regalia succeeds Leslie (Nook) Armager, who had been chief for 27 years and with the force since 1933. Armager, who has been in failing health for several months, officially retired from the force last month. He was listed in poor condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Regalia, who joined the force in 1943, lives at 23 Walnut Avenue in Mill Valley. He has been assistant fire chief for several years.

The fire chief will be paid $14,692 per year.

Two Burglaries In Corte Madera

Two burglaries were reported in Corte Madera yesterday, according to police.

Crescent Venuto told officers that someone stole $15 from a cash box in his bedroom at 457 Redwood Avenue after having removed two screens and entered through a sliding window. The burglary took place at about 4:30 p.m., police said.

Joan Bourgeault reported that between 11:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. someone entered her home at 150 Stetson Avenue through an open window and stole a stereophonic FM receiver and a pink blanket, police said. No value was given.

Trustees To Study KQED Film Series

The Mill Valley School District board has decided to take a look at the controversial KQED "Time of Your Life" sex education film series before approving it for use in Mill Valley schools.

The board's action came after hearing that a parents committee studying the series barely approved use of the films by district teachers, Supt. James A. Collins reported yesterday. The committee vote was 12-11 in favor of the films in schools, chairman Dirk West told the board.

If use of the films is approved. the committee recommended that adequate notice be given of individual filmings to allow objecting parents to withdraw children from classes, that use of the films as part of the family life education program be left to the discretion of individual teachers and that inservice training be available for teachers who do use the films, Collins said.

The committee, Collins noted, was unable to agree which grades could see the films and recommended that that decision be left to the board.

Because of the close vote and the controversy over the films, trustees agreed to personally view the film series, either this summer or in early fall, before authorizing use, Collins said.

Iran Frees, Warns Its Dope Peddlers

TEHRAN (AP) — Ten thousand Iranian dope peddlers were released by government order circulated last night. But they were warned they would be shot by firing squads if they resumed their trade.

Iran banned the cultivation, sale and use of opium in 1955, but resumed cultivation of poppies this year in restricted quantities and under government control. During the 14-year ban, the government estimated it lost a billion dollars in revenue while neighboring Turkey and Afghanistan benefited with increased exports.

Leach spent a week in Washington before the convention opened, participating in activities related to the federalists' goals. He worked with the National Coalition to Repeal the Draft, National Franchise Coalition to Lower Voting Age and the Coalition on National Priorities and Military Policy.

Leach is coordinator of the Third Rail Coffeehouse in San Anselmo and speaks frequently at local youth gatherings.

Fairfax Hits Ross Valley Sewage Leak

A leaky sanitary sewer and the inaction of the Ross Valley Sanitary District last night prompted the Fairfax City Council to complain to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board

Councilman Frank J. Egger reported the leaky sewer is at 4 Meadow Way, property of Everett Jensen, and it's been leaking periodically for many months.

Repairs were made last winter, but raw sewage began leaking out again and flowing into Cascade Creek, Egger said. (Cascade flows into San Anselmo Creek which flows into Corte Madera Creek.)

He called the reapir job "very slipshod" and produced pictures of the area.

He noted the council had written another letter to the sanitary district at the beginning of June and there had been no reply.

In other business last night, the council approved hiring two experienced policemen to assist during July because of manpower shortages and vacations.

Police Chief James R. Orr reported he is recruiting and expects to fill two vacancies by August.

The two men are a San Anselmo police officer who lives in Fairfax and who would be working a double shift. The officer, Bernard Del Santo, will work eight hours in Fairfax unless it interferes with his work, in which case his time will be cut to six hours, Orr said.

The other man is John Orr, a brother of the chief. The council waived for 30 days an ordinance which prohibits hiring a relative.

Pay for the two men will probably be on an hourly basis, but has not been set, City Administrator Frances R. Lestanguet reported.

Sarcophagus means "flesh-eater," a name deriving from the corrosive effect of early limestone coffins on bodies interred in them.

Marin Dogs, Cats Curbed By New Licensing Control

Most of Marin County was placed under more stringent animal control yesterday.

The board of supervisors, with some reservation, approved an ordinance requiring the licensing of dogs and imposing fines against owners who let their dogs run loose.

The ordinance, effective Aug. 1, would cover the unincorporated area plus all municipalities but Ross, San Anselmo and Tiburon. These communities said they did not want to participate in the program.

Timothy M. Jackson, county administrative analyst, said the hiring and training of additional Marin Humane Society officers and the purchase of trucks that will be needed for patrol purposes would begin immediately.

Dog licenses, except for spayed bitches, will cost $5. If a wandering dog is impounded, it will cost the owner $7 to retrieve the animal the first time and $10 for each time after that, plus a $1.50 daily fee.

The ordinance also covers stray cats and other animals found loose.

Supervisor Michael Wornum expressed concern over possible exuberance by impounding officers. Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella said he felt sufficient discretion would be shown in seizure of loose animals.

San Francisco Worth $9 Billion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The cash value of San Francisco's land, buildings and personal property is $9.3 billion, City Assessor Joseph E. Tinney said yesterday.

He placed the taxable assessment at more than $2 billion, based on 25 per cent of the full cash value.

Appeal Is Denied In Union Killing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The State Court of Appeal yesterday affirmed the first degree murder conviction of Ben Rasnick in the slaying of Painters Union leader Lloyd Green of Hayward.

In a brief opinion, the court unanimously rejected arguments of Rasnick's attorneys that evidence concerning the slaying of union leader Dow Wilson of San Francisco should have been excluded from the Green trial.

Rasnick, former secretary-treasurer of the union's District Council 16, was convicted of fingering Green for the slaying, which was carried out by two other men. His trial in the Wilson killing ended in a hung jury.

Three Sausalito Police Promoted

Three Sausalito policemen were promoted and one new patrolman hired yesterday, Sausalito police chief James D. Wright has announced.

Detective Jack L. Heringer was promoted to sergeant and patrolmen Brian E. Newlon and Robert D. Glynn were promoted to detective.

Gary Reynolds, 22, of Oakland, began work yesterday as a patrolman.

Olompali Landlord Plans Action To Remove The Chosen Family

The landlord of Rancho Olompali — where the clouded waters of a swimming pool have claimed the lives of a two young girls — told the Marin County Board of Superivosr yesterday he would take steps to remove hippies from the property.

Sounding a note of compassion for the residents, most of whom belong to the so-called Chosen Family, but expressing deep regret over the death Monday of Nika Carter, 2, (the other child, Audrey Jean Keller, 4, died today), Novato investor Timothy W. O'Donoghue Jr. said:

"We don't want people living on the ranch. They'll be out shortly."

Despite O'Donoghue's assurances, the board authorized County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to file suit to prohibit living on the ranch if no voluntary action is taken.

Maloney and County Building Inspector Hans J. Berge inspected the ranch north of Novato Thursday after the children tumbled into the murky waters of the ranch swimming pool.

Maloney reported to the board that living conditions at the ranch were "extremely dangerous and unsanitary." Berge presented a long list of defects, particularly in a two-story dormitory used as the main living quarters by the hippies since fire wrecked the rancho mansion.

Rodric L. Robinson, attorney for O'Donoghue, blamed troubles at the ranch not on the 25-member Chosen Family, but on "undesirables coming on the property and living there." He said the tenants were repeatedly bothered by trespassers and that Nika Carter was the daughter of a nonresident.

"Sir, if you have trespassers, why don't you do something about it?" inquired board chairman John F. McInnis.

Robinson replied that the property was in escrow a year and that O'Donoghue did not take title (from a large partnership) until last week.

O'Donoghue pleaded for board understanding of the problems of the Chosen Family, founded by businessman-turned-hippie Donald C. McCoy Jr., now undergoing voluntary psychiatric treatment.

"In the fire, they lost everything. Then they fell four months behind in rent. They had no place to go. Where would you send 95 people?"

O'Donoghue said the group had been reduced to 25 since the fire.

"We still have requested that they leave, but you must understand that this is a very, very difficult problem. As far as the child falling in hhe pool, I feel very bad about that. We don't want people living on the ranch. They'll be out shortly."

Jo-Jo D'Amore, a member of the Chosen Family, told the board that it is "very hard to say to someone that you can't live on a beautiful piece of land."

He raised the problem of trespassers, but said there was "no way we can say to someone, 'You can't stay here, you have to leave.' We can't chase anyone off our land. We can't be violent."

"I don't see where you can say to people (the family) that they can't live here when it (the accident) is not their fault. But I can just see by the look on your faces that you feel you can just chase out a bunch of people and tell them to go somewhere else."

D'Amore accused the press of printing unqualified reports of conditions at Olompali and asked, "Has anyone come up to see what good has been done up there?"

"We don't want people to die," he said. "We don't want people getting sick."

"We are no more devotees of violence than you, sir," McInnis told D'Amore, "but I suggest it was a form of violence that took place when that child fell in the pool and drowned . . . it's a little late to come in and say we don't believe in violence and our hands and hearts are pure."

In addition to legal action, the board authorized the county probation department to investigate conditions under which children live on the ranch.

Maloney also urged construction of a fence around the swimming pool.

O'Donoghue told reporters outside the supervisors' chambers later that he would insist that the tenants move from the dormitory at once.

He said he ultimately planned to build housing of various income ranges on the 760-acre ranch. The gutted mansion — whose interior dates back to the 1840s — and swimming pool would be donated to the county as a historical site.

D'Amore said the Chosen Family had members throughout Marin and San Francisco with whom to stay if evicted.

Bolinas, Stinson Sewer Plan Backed

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday endorsed in principle, but not without a fistful of qualifications, a proposal to finance a $2,300,000 sewage system for Bolinas and Stinson Beach.

The proposal would finance all but $670,000 worth of the work by the issuance of bonds by the county under the Special Assessment District Act of 1915.

However, the board strongly urged Bolinas and Stinson Beach officials to make greater efforts to secure federal assistance in financing the project.

John F. McInnis, board chairman, said, after scanning a county administrator's report on the proposal, it seemed officials of the beach communities were not "finding the right door to open" in their efforts to finance the sewage disposal system.

McInnis said the officials were "missing the boat" by "messing around" with public financing without exhausting avenues for federal funding.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District has been under pressure for three years to stop dumping raw sewage in the mouth of Bolinas Lagoon.

A cease and desist order by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board against the district set July 15, 1970 as the deadline for completion of a new treatment plant.

Steps to build the sewage collection and treatment system have been held up in efforts to have Stinson Beach, which uses septic tanks, join in the program.

Alan Bruce, county administrator, told the board approval of the proposal would give Bolinas and Stinson Beach officials a "greater chance for success" in efforts to secure federal monies.

The proposal calls for construction of a treatment plant and major sewage lines. The Bolinas share that would be financed under bonds would total $230,000. The Stinson Beach local sewer lines would be financed at $1,400,000.

The other $670,000 for the Stinson Beach share of the plant and major trunk construction would be financed by general obligation bonds, which would have to be approved by voters of the district, and state assistance.

Strawberry Cable TV Not Likely Before Christmas

Most homes in Strawberry will not have clearer television pictures until Christmas.

William Hess, acting county public works director, reported to the board of supervisors yesterday that Cable TV of Marin had finally gained access to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. poles to secure its lines but that he felt the work was not going as fast as it could be.

"We feel cable TV service will not be ready in the majority of the area any sooner than Christmas," he said.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Robert Lewis, owner of Cable TV, said extra men were not available to speed up work. He said cables would be secured to poles within 60 days, as previously announced, but did not indicate how long hookups to homes would take.

Supervisor Michael Wornum asked for work schedules, with copies to be sent to directors of the Strawberry Recreation District.

"There's a credibility gap," Wornum said. "People just don't believe anything is happening."

Suspect Denies Narcotics Count

Larry Monroe Moore, 20, who was arrested June 18 in a raid on a San Anselmo house where drug agents said there was a large amount of equipment for making LSD, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to two felony drug charges.

He is accused of possessing LSD for sale and possessing marijuana.

A preliminary hearing was set for July 28.

Highway 37 Work Will Cause Delays

Motorists are being urged to avoid State Route 37 between Mare Island and Sonoma Creek bridge from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays for the next four months while the road is being resurfaced and shoulders widened.

Traffic will be one-way and subject to 30-minute delays between those hours on weekdays, according to A. J. Zorbas, construction manager for Syar and Harms Industries, Inc. which is working on the project.

Annexation Of Civic Center Upsets Group

A group of Gallinas Valley residents expressed concern yesterday before the Marin County Board of Supervisors over plans to annex the Civic Center and about 1,000 acres on the east side of Highway 101 to the City of San Rafael.

Marie B. Sessi of the Los Ranchitos Improvement Association said residents had received no word of the annexation plans until they were approved last week by supervisors.

"Everybody thinks something is being put over on them," Mrs. Sessi said. "People feel they're being sold down the river."

John F. McInnis, board chairman, said any property owner had a right to apply for annexation of his contiguous land to a municipality. "We can't stop it," he said.

McInnis told Mrs. Sessi that the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission would hold a hearing on the annexation July 7 and urged residents to attend.

The annexation would include the Smith Brothers Ranch, the new El Marinero office building to be built across from the Civic Center and the new Crest Marin apartments above Franchini's Chateau. It would exclude the Gallinas Village and Los Ranchitos areas.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows explained to the board last week that original annexation plans included only the Civic Center in order to obtain better fire protection, but that other property owners expressed interest in joining the annexation.

The board took no action yesterday on a request by the owners of the Wiltshire Towers Motel on the west side of Highway 101 to join the other property owners. Michael Chrystal, administrative analyst, said the LAFC hearing already had been set.

Costa Rica is about the size of West Virginia.

Ailing Jordan Slightly Better

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Frank Jordan, 80, has improved "slightly" since he suffered a stroke May 1.

Assistant Secretary of State Bert Clinkston reported Jordan was moved yesterday from Mercy General Hospital to nearby Mercy Convalescent Hospital for continued treatment.

Clinkston said the veteran state official is still paralyzed on his right side and his speech is impaired.

ICBM Over Pacific In Air Force Test

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — A Minuteman I intercontinental ballistic missile was successfully test-launched down the Western Test Range over the Pacific Ocean by the Air Force early today.

The Air Force said the shot, part of the routine missile test program, was made at 2 a.m. PDT.

County Is Urged To Hire Machines To Clear Debris

Acting Public Works Director William Hess recommended yesterday that the County of Marin hire the equipment need to clear underwater streets of substandard houseboats and debris at Waldo Point.

Hess told the county board of supervisors that the equipment operators also would be hired but county employees would supervise the work.

The Cleveland Wrecking Co. startled the county last week when it bid $113,940 — more than twice the job estimate — to do the cleanup work. Threats against contractors were blamed for the high bid, ultimately rejected.

Hess said the alternate method would give the county more control over the work.

Reporting on conditions around Gate 5, Hess said many houseboat dwellers were striving to comply with new building code standards, but that he was "appalled anew at the total lack of sanitary facilities."

"It's a group of people living in a big garbage dump," he said.

Several houseboat dwellers expressed concern about the county's cleanup action, with one stomping out of the board chambers after charging that the board was wrongfully imposing Establishment standards on Waldo Point residents.

The board asked Hess for cost estimates of his alternate cleanup plan.

Now work could proceed until court battles between the county and houseboat owners are settled. A hearing into the county's right to clear underwater streets was to open today before Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Marin City Awaits Developer Talks

Marin County Redevelopment Agency directors had to bide their time last night, two weeks away from a key meeting with representatives of Marin Development Co., which has development rights in Marin City.

There has been some sentiment from residents to have the developer declared in default of his contract, thereby opening up community development by others.

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, reported that representatives of the New York-based company are scheduled to meet with directors July 16.

Director Vera Schultz said it appeared that Mairn Development Co. was "in serious default," but the agency needed legal advice before it could take any action.

Director Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. said if the Marin Development Co. couldn't come up with a plan that met community approval, under procedures outlined by the agency, "there will be a new developer here."

The agency as "representatives of the people," should make the decision "the people want us to make," said Director Collie Gaines.

Ulysses J. Montgomery, San Francisco urban consultant, who last month proposed a $13 million, three-year development program for Marin City, said last night he needed assurance that land would be available.

Developable land in the community has been committed to the Marin Development Co., and the Tamalpais High School District holds 32 acres in the center of the community.

One resident protested Marin Development Company's Role, saying it seemed that development was left up to the company and not the community. "California Development (former name of Marin Development) hasn't done much," she said.

Because of the uncertainty of the status of development, directors postponed action on a request by Richard Bradley of Marin City to construct a restaurant off Donahue Street.

Directors also reviewed another factor in the community's future, the Marin City Council's program for a development plan.

The council recently received a planning grant from Marin County and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development and is proceeding toward recruiting a staff.

Because the council's program will include an extensive community survey, directors agreed not to undertake a survey of their own on housing needs of community residents.

Wallace K. Shepherd, administrative assistant, asked Montgomery if his plan would coincide with the council's planning program.

Montgomery replied that his proposal was flexible and would be coordinated with the council's program. He stressed the need for undertaking development as soon as possible in view of rising costs of construction and financing.

He emphasized that his proposed program would be controlled by local residents. There would be formation of a nonprofit organization, a Marin City Development Association, that could be advised by the Fillmore Development Association, which has undertaken similar projects, Montgomery explained.

Full Name Omitted In Sentencing Report

The full name, omitted in yesterday's Independent-Journal, of the 19-year-old Mill Valley youth who was sentenced Monday in Marin Superior Court for running a California Highway Patrolman off Lucas Road on March 27 is Terrence Scott Borrman.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered Borrman to spend a year

Finch Faces Thurmond On School Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch, fresh from a losing battle with Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, has taken on another powerful Republican senator in a dispute over school desegregation policies.

Finch is on record opposing any relaxation of federal desegregation standards, such as lifting deadlines for complying with integration guidelines.

However, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., joined by some members of the White House staff and by officials from Finch's own health, education and welfare department, have been pushing hard to get the deadlines lifted.

Finch, however, appeared yesterday to be winning support, both inside the government and from other Republicans, in his effort to maintain the time limits.

And he gained additional time to argue his view when Justice Department officials postponed, for a second time, a desegregation policy statement.

Last week, when Thurmond and his allies were starting their push to lift the deadlines, Finch was concentrating on trying to gain presidential approval for Dr. John H. Knowles as his undersecretary for health and scientific affairs, despite Dirksen's objections.

The Illinois senator won. Knowles was rejected and it looked like a foregone conclusion that Finch would lose on the desegregation issue as well.

Then, sources said, intragovernmental bickering increased over how the statement of the administration's position would be worded.

Originally scheduled to be announced Friday, the statement was further postponed Tuesday when objections to some proposals were raised within the Justice Department's civil rights division.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, head of the division, said it appeared unlikely an announcement would be made this week.

Moreover, Leonard told a group of southern civil rights advocates, who came to Wash-

Housing Agency Sets Appearance In Novato

Marin County Housing Authority directors, contemplating an election next year for more low income housing in Marin, agreed last night to start its campaigning before the Novato City Council Tuesday.

Agency representatives were scheduled to appear before the Novato councilmen to seek expansion of the leased housing program.

Chairman Philip S. Ehrilich Jr. then suggested that the matter of having a vote on additional housing units in the city also be discussed.

"We have got to get the public aware," Ehrlich said.

Director Vera L. Schultz suggested that combination housing for both senior citizens and families be considered since it would be sociologically desirable.

Driectors also voted to ask Marin County supervisors to apply for federal funds for neighborhood development programs at Kentfield Corners and Lomita Park, south of San Rafael.

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, explained that this would defer if not eliminate a proposal by Balboa Enterprises Inc. and Western States Turnkey Corp. to construct a 56-unit, low cost senior citizen housing project at Kentfield Corners.

Directors also voted to increase the salary scale for white collar employees 5 per cent across the board, with the chance for another 2.5 per cent hike Jan. 1 if the cost of living warrants it.

Stutsman explained that the blue collar workers were granted a pay raise in April. Stutsman's salary was increased from $1,454 a month to $1,527.

Directors also approved 20-day vacations after 10 years and 12-day vacations for those three and four years on the job.

Mrs. Schultz asserted that government seemed to be "taking the lead" in providing pay raises, "generous" vacations and fringe benefits and should be more sensitive to taxpayers' complaints.

Stutsman replied that the pay increases were the same as those granted by Marin County and that the cost of living has gone up more than 5 per cent in the past year.

HILARITA POWER — Authorized calling for bids for new electrical lines to the Hilarity Housing project in Tiburon, at a cost up to $5,000 to replace lines now crossing property, which has been bought by the Reed School District.

PUC Rejects Rate Hike Plan Asked By Edison

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission yesterday ruled against a temporary rate increase asked by Southern California Edison Co.

The company requested the hike because of the commission's delay in ruling on a petition for a $60 million annual rate hike.

The commission said no "emergency conditions exist to justify a temporary hike, adding the delay was due in part to Edison's request for a full briefing on the issues.

Bus Strike Bid By Mayor Alioto

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto says he is considering serving as a mediator in an attempt to settle a mechanics strike against Western Greyhound Lines, Inc.

He also said that might lead him to ask federal mediator Sam Kagel to attempt a settlement.

Shop workers represented by the International Association of Machinists, the Teamsters Union and the Automobile, Truck and Car Painters Union struck Greyhound three weeks ago in a contract dispute over wages and working conditions.

Drivers of the Amalgamated Transit Union have gone through picket lines during the walkout and both commuter and long distance buses still are operating.

SAN JOSE (UPI)—The Rev. Kirby J. Hensley, who ordained more than 85,000 persons into his Universal Life Church for the price of a postage stamp, was sentenced to a year in jail yesterday for peddling honorary doctor of divinity degrees.

The 57-year-old Hensley, whose church is headquartered in Modesto, was sentenced for violating the state education code by mailing a divinity degree to a San Jose policeman who sent Hensley a $20 "free will offering."

Hensley, a native of Pensacola, N.C., was also fined $625 and placed on a year's probation. Municipal Judge Edward J. Nelson granted a one-month stay of execution pending an appeal.

'People's Pad' In Hostile Hands

BERKELEY (AP) — The fate of the "people's pad," a former Navy housing project that would be converted into a summer youth hostel, rested today in the hands of its enemies.

Trustees of the Berkeley Unified School District, which owns the project, voted last night to refer a progress report to the South Berkeley Neighborhood Council, a largely Negro organization which opposes the idea.

Richard Foster, superintendent of schools, told the board that if the council doesn't want the hostel, "I certainly will recommend against it."

ART REVIEW

Fair Exhibit Is Suitably Professional

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The Marin Art and Garden Fair's juried art exhibit, which opens tonight, has a look of purposeful professionalism about it. It's a look of technical control, of knowledgeability, that while sometimes cold, can also be very satisfying for its own sake.

Not that everything here is reserved. There are two gruesome ceramic TV dinners which are realistic enough to make you swear off them forever. There's a garish painting of a huge face reflecting an enormous hotdog in its sunglasses. And then there is "The Rodrigues Anti-Earthquake Shrine," a sundial-like wooden star with velvet, mirrors and candle cups on its points. It is centered with a rainbow-haloed doll, a dead butterfly and real grass that requires watering.

The artist is Richard Rodrigues who should be easily recognized as the show's most versatile and magnetic talent. Not only does he have a point of view but he can deliver it with craftsmanship in either seriousness or humor. By contrast to his sculpture, Rodrigues's cloud painting with its floating gray spheres, has pure etherial mood.

Another plus for the exhibit is that it isn't just a rehash of the usual local art. There are familiar names such as Barbara Briggs whose first award, lens-like painting telescopes from black through blue and focuses on vivid color. There is familiar work such as Fred Berensmeier's oft-viewed third award winner "Three Star Owl Set." But there is also interesting new local talent.

Sculpture John Hammond is one whose inverted pyramids look dangerously off balance from any direction. And the entire show is happily heavy with artists who neither live nor show here at all such as David Ogle who won second place for his plexiglass nude sculpture.

If there is a major weakness it lies in watercolors. Most of them are a drag. And Eric Oback's and Fred Herschleb's are such great exceptions they don't even seem to stem from the same group. Oback's beautifully rendered, cut apart and refitted sections of landscape for which he was awarded best-in-show, and Herschleb's double-sectioned overlays of rich, fluid shapes are such strong, personal usages of the medium they make the others seem dull by comparison.

Most of the show has like strength. And while it is seldom adventurous or really very new, its controlled flair is overall and it cuts consistently through a great many styles.

Hub Proposals On Radio Panel

Proposed reconstruction of the Hub in San Anselmo will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board by a panel including San Anselmo Councilmen James F. Reed, Kenneth L. Anderson and Robert M. Scott and Sara Nome, a San Anselmo resident.

Reed and Anderson favor the reconstruction while Scott and Mrs. Nome oppose it.

The live broadcast tomorrow, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be re-broadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Although Spain recently ceded the 579-square-mile territory of Ifni to Morroco, it retains two enclaves in the country — Melilla, an export center, and Ceuta, a fortified city facing Gibraltar.

West Marin Doctor Says He Won't Leave

A medical crisis that threatened to leave West Marin without a doctor of its own has been averted with the decision of one of the two doctors in the sprawling rural area to continue his practice there.

Dr. Richard D. Baldwin told the Independent-Journal yesterday that he has decided to try to contiiue practice. "I think it will work out," he said.

Baldwin and his partner, Dr. Robert L. Houk, announced earlier this year they would not renew their lease on the West Marin Medical Center at Point Reyes Station.

A concerned citizenry — faced with the second such crisis in a year — immediately began seeking replacements with the help of Baldwin and Houk, but, Baldwin said, "there were no serious replies."

Houk went ahead with his decision to quit and is seeking a position in the state of Washington, Baldwin said.

The relatively isolated area, which has less than 4 per cent of Marin's population — a little under 8,000 people — and about 45 per cent of its area, is up against a thorny medical problem: it has too many people for one doctor and not enough for two.

Baldwin said the lease on the medical center, which expired Monday, is under discussion and he is maintaining normal office hours. Additionally, other Marin doctors have offered to be on call for the area on occasion to take some of the work load off him.

"I don't think I could keep it up seven days a week all year," Baldwin said. If he had quit his practice in West Marin, the nearest medical care would have been as far away as Petaluma, Fairfax, Novato and Terra Linda.

Now, Baldwin's — and formerly Houk's — practice stretches from Stinson Beach to Invernss and Marshall and as far inland as Nicasio and Forest Knolls.

Baldwin yesterday stressed that there are no financial difficulties in the area. "It's the isolation and running all over more than anything," he said of the area's difficulty in keeping doctors.

A year ago, Dr. Leslie R. Webber quit to move to Oregon and Dr. Gordon J. Plattes, faced with the physically arduous task of serving the whole area alone, closed his practice.

Baldwin, a younger man than Plattes, is going to try to make a go of it, at least for the time being.

Is Tiburon In The Park Space Hole?

If existing city ordinance are strictly interpreted, downtown Tiburon is 695 parking spaces in the hole, the Tiburon Planning Commission has been told.

Wayne E. Moody, planning director, told the commission Monday that 1,733 parking spaces are required by the city's loading and parking ordinance for downtown shops, offices, restaurants, motels and residence while only 1,038 spaces have been provided.

"Simple subtraction indicates that either there is a 695 space parking shortage in downtown, or the ordinance requirements are excessive," Moody said in a written report.

He recommended that a use permit procedure be established to allow the assignment of parking requirements as uses are established or changed.

Moody also recommended that parking requirements be analyzed for daytime, nighttime, weekday and weekend needs. Daytime and nighttime uses could share the same parking spaces, he said, thereby cutting down on spaces required.

The commission took no action on Moody's recommendations but agreed to discuss the parking problem again at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall. Commissioners also asked Moody to report on commuter parking needs at the Monday meeting.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

ARK — Sitting as a board of adjustments, approved a use permit amendment for the Tiburon Peninsula Club to allow a teen recreation center in a park zone.

AMENDMENT — Heard recommendations by Moody to streamline procedures for the planned development zone ordinance.

RECOMMENDATION — Discussed but took no action on proposed amendments to the planned residential zone and design review ordinances.

The night Paul Revere made his famous ride to warn colonists that the British were coming, there was also another rider who went in another direction but did not gain the notoriety of Revere. He was William Dawes.

Hoffman Resigns Sausalito Council Post; Plans Move

Sausalito City Councilman George C. Hoffman resigned last night in a surprise move, a year after he was elected to the council.

Hoffman said he was moving from Sausalito to Alto for business reasons.

He said he regretted leaving, but was unable to arrange to stay.

"My resignation will make a lot of people happy," he said jokingly, "And I wish I could stay on and make them miserable."

Hoffman was elected to the council in April 1968. He served over three years on the planning commission before that, and has lived in Sausalito 19 years. He is a builder, and operates a home inspection and maintenance service.

The council must choose a successor within 30 days.

New Needy Service For Marin's Poor

A new service project called Helping Elevate Low-income Persons (HELP) was launched today by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, according to W. Robert Lomax Jr., executive director.

HELP will serve as a clearing house for household goods, clothing and nonperishable foods which can be distributed to needy persons.

Donations will be solicited from churches, individuals and fraternal organizations. Centers have been established in San Rafael and Marin City with trucks which will pick up any donations. Centers are also planned for Novato and Fairfax-San Anselmo.

The EOC will also request the Marin County Board of Supervisors to pass a resolution designating Aug. 3 as "Help Sunday" and encouraging county residents to donate goods by taking them to church that day.

A board of directors composed of five low-income persons in each area will govern the operation, set the standards for distribution of goods and manage the project. Ernest Kettenhofen of San Rafael will serve as interim chairman of HELP.

North Carolina ranks first in tobacco production.

Sierra Club Hits Disney Resort

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorneys for the Sierra Club argued yesterday for a preliminary injunction to prevent construction of a Walt Disney resort in the Mineral King Valley, adjacent to Sequoia National Park.

U.S. Dist. Judge William T. Sweigert delayed his decision on the matter until July 7.

Attorney Leland Selna claimed the recreational development, which would include skiing, is "inconsistent" with the natural beauties of the wildlife refuge and would permanently alter the ecology of the area.

Sausalito Again Votes Variance For Edgewater Restaurant Plans

Ignoring a withering blast from attorney Richard V. Bettini, the Sausalito City Council last night voted 3-2 for a resolution declaring Edgewater Yacht Co. had met legal requirements for a variance granted in February to pave the way for construction of a 109-seat restaurant in the Edgewater building on Turney Street.

Bettini charged the city was "covering up tracks" with the lengthy resoultion. He called it a "bizarre proceeding" which challenged the council's integrity.

The vote was identical to the vote in February, approving the variance to allow remodeling the building for the restaurant. Councilmen George C. Hoffman and Jan Paul Dyk voted against the resolution. Councilmen Alexander R. Imlay and Robin Sweeny and Mayor Earl N. Dunphy voted for it.

The resolution, prepared by City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, listed grounds on which the council found Edgewater met legal requirements for the variance — hardship, special circumstances, no special privilege.

Bettini said the council had to ask if it really had considered all the things listed when it acted in February, "or is this only an effort to cover up the track of something obviously illegal?"

Earlier, the council unanimously approved an encroachment permit by Edgewater to allow a boardwalk around the building, partly on the Humboldt Street right-of-way.

The actions clear the decks for a July 11 session in Marin Superior Court when Judge Joseph G. Wilson will consider suits by Bettini, representing restaurateur Sam Zakessian, to void city building permits issued for the project.

In a long opinion, Jordan told the council he believed its actions in the matter have been legal and proper so far, and rebutted Bettini's arguments point-by-point.

Jordan also said a limit on alterations to a nonconforming building to 50 per cent of its market value did not apply because in granting a variance the city made the building legally conforming.

The council approved the 1969-70 budget of $1,264,852, which is expected to keep the city tax rate at $1.315, and also passed a salary schedule for employees granting raises of 7.5 per cent almost across the board.

The Sausalito City Council also:

TOWAWAY — Passed an emergency ordinance banning parking or driving on the raised center strip on Bridgeway between Princess and Richardson streets, making the strip a tow-away zone. The strip is reserved for emergency vehicles.

DANCE — Approved an application by the Sausalito Teen Center to hold a dance from 8 p.m. to midnight July 10 at Central School.

WIDENING — Authorized seeking bids for widening Bridgeway to four lanes with a landscaped center strip between Olive and Nevada streets, and approved proposed street lighting in the center strip.

MOBIL — Granted a variance sought by Mobil Oil Co. for a station at Second and Main streets, setting a nine-foot rear setback and allowing a sign more than five feet from the building.

HOUSING — Approved a use permit, variance and encroachment permit to allow rebuilding a fire-damaged house at 63 Central Avenue as a two-unit dwelling. The building had four units before the January fire, but is in a one-family zone.

HEARING — Set a July 15 hearing on a request by M. Bruce Drever to allow joint parking use on weekends at the Hurricane Gulch Shopping Center so a restaurant there can open at 11 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. Joint parking is now limited to after 5 p.m.

PARK — Approved final plans for Princess Park and authorized the planning firm, Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams, to advertise for bids.

TELEPHONES —Approved a request by Pacific Telephone Co. to install two telephone booths at the downtown gazebo.

ZONING — Passed a resolution eliminating the deposit required for most planning applications.

PARKING — Told staff to review a protest by Robert W. Shinn of 370 Sausalito Boulevard against a parking ban on the newly-paved part of the street.

Pen Pals Meet After 43 Years

KINNEAR, Wyo. (AP) — When Mrs. Bill Watson of Kennear was a pupil at a small rural school she started corresponding with a pen pal.

The two girls kept in touch with each other through their grade school and high school days, the early years of their marriage and finally corresponded about their children and grandchildren.

Recently Mrs. Paul Muhs of Council Bluffs, Iowa, stopped at Kinnear en route to Oregon for a vacation. The two pen pals who had written to each other for 43 years finally met face to face.

Mobile Home Park Ordinance Advanced

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved a mobile home park ordinance to provide for the orderly development of mobil home park zones.

In the report submitted by William C. McGivern, planning director, it was recommended that parks be a minimum of 10 acres and be located in areas where the general plan suggests high density housing.

Maximum density set for mobile home parks was seven units per acre with the park having a minimum frontage of 250 feet from a collector street.

Each mobile home must have a front yard setback of 20 feet and rear and side yard setbacks of 15 feet.

Included in the ordinance is the requirement of a six-foot solid masonry wall or decorative fencing to enclose the entire park and auxiliary buildings.

Access drives must be a minimum of 25 feet wide from shoulder-to-shoulder or 33 feet in width if parking is to be permitted to one side or 41 feet with parking on both sides.

Space between mobile homes was set at a minimum of 10 feet and 20 feet from a building or structure. Parking was set at two 9-by-19-feet spaces per unit.

The Petaluma Planning Commission Also:

SIGN — Approved the use permit application of Standard Oil Co. to relocate an existing sign at the northwest corner of its service station on Denman Road.

TOWER — Reviewed the request of Nelson Asbell to relocate an existing television tower from its present location to another site on a vacant lot at 2080 Harrison Street. The matter was continued for study of easements.

HOSPITAL — Denied the request of Sunco Development Corp. to renew its use permit for a convalescent hospital at 2001 East Washington Street for another year.

CONTINUED FOR THE Greenbriar Subdivision No. 2 on McGregor Avenue off The subdivision is planned by the antas Development Corp.

SUBDIVISION DEVELOPMENT — Continued for further study the tentative map for the Greenbriar Subdivision No. 2 on McGregor Avenue off South McDowell Boulevard. The subdivision is planned by the Qantas Development Corp.

Sausalito Teacher Aides Reject Pay Scale Offer

Teacher aides and an aide to the Central School principal last night turned down pay offers from the Sausalito School District board and asked for a greater increase.

The board went into closed session to give Assistant Supt. Joseph Amato new instructions for further pay talks today.

The teacher aides were offered a pay range of $2.58 to $3.30 an hour, but asked for a scale of $3.21 to $3.91.

Community worker Gabe Jackson, aide to the Central School principal, asked for a "salary commensurate with the position" instead of the board offer of $6,008 to $8,179 a year, but he did not name an amount.

The board elected trustee Nathaniel Johnson president for 1969-70; David E. Freedheim was named vice president; Martha Freebairn-Smith clerk; James E. Muldoon assistant clerk, and new trustee C. Gerald Clear trustee representative.

The Sausalito School District Board Also:

MATHEMATICS — Rehired Carole Alexander to teach a new mathematics class. She was paid last year with state funds in the SB28 special mathematics program which won notice throughout the Bay Area. The district is continuing a special mathematics program with its own funds next year. Her salary is $8.163.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of junior accountant Martha Butterfield for medical reasons and hired Diane Nelson to replace her at a salary of $518 a month.

Lambert New Cotati School Board Leader

Richard G. Lambert was elected president of the Cotati School District trustees at the board's reorganizational meeting last night.

Lester H. Petersen, past president was elected as board clerk. Supt. Duncan A. Coleman was named secretary.

Appointed as representatives to the Sonoma County Committee on School District Organization were trustees Maurice Fredericks and Andrew Camozzi. Appointed to the personnel and finance committee were Petersen and Fredericks; named to the building committee were Bart C. Mitchell and Lambert, and appointed to the curriculum committee were Camozzi and Fredericks.

The board reestablished its meeting schedule as the second and Fourth Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. at the district office.

Coleman said the district '69-70 budget would be reviewed in committee on July 11 at 7:30 p.m. and be presented to the board as a special meeting Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m. He said the regular meeting of Aug. 12 would not be held.

Board's Gavel For Mrs. Busse

Trustee Cornelia B. Busse was elected president of the San Anselmo School District board at an organizational meeting last night.

Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr. was elected clerk and Basil Hugh Scalabrini, trustee representative, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The elections were held after the seating of trustees Franklin C. Latcham, Mary Helen Olive and Scalabrini, all elected in the April 15 election.

The board agreed to continue to have adjourned or curriculum meetings on the first Tuesday of the month and regular meetings on the third Tuesdays. Mrs. Busse was absent.

Antiwar Amnesty Asked By Clergy

BOSTON (AP) — A body of Protestants whose roots go back to the nation's beginnings wants President Richard M. Nixon to grant amnesty to young men who have been punished or driven into exile for refusing to serve in the Vietnam War.

The United Church of Christ, at its policy-making assembly last night, urged "in the name of Christian love" a pardon for those imprisoned, indicted or caused to flee the country in resistance to service in Vietnam.

California produces more prunes than any other state.

Dillon Beach Queried On Sewage Plan

The North Marin County Water District board last night approved a sewage disposal agreement for Units 3 and 4 of 48 lots of Oceana Marin.

It also approved the formation of an assessment district for construction of a sewage disposal system for the lots, according to Manager Eugene Churchill.

The board then approved a letter to be sent out to all of the residents of Dillon Beach area proposing an area-wide sewage disposal plant.

"If there is enough interest shown through this, then the water district would form a larger assessment district and install larger sewage disposal system," Churchill said.

Water to the development and to Dillon Beach will continue to be supplied by the Coast Springs Water Co. owned by L. R. Vanoni, according to Churchill.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

BLACK POINT — Amended assessments in the Black Point improvement district after no one appeared to protest at the public hearing. This was done because eight of the properties have been divided since the original assessment, Churchill said.

Tired Driver Strikes Pole, Chips Tooth

Raymond G. Wilkerson, 39, of 123 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, was treated for a chipped tooth and injury to his mouth early today after his car struck a utility pole in San Rafael.

San Rafael police said Wilkerson apparently fell asleep while driving west on Third Street shortly after 3 a.m. The mishap occurred in front of 1536 Third Street.

Oakland Sites Trouble BART

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District chief engineer says he will recommend that directors reject a bid for construction of two downtown Oakland subway stations.

Christensen & Foster of Santa Rosa submitted the low bid of $5.5 million yesterday for the stations at 12th and 19th streets. That was $1.5 million more than the estimate of BART's engineers, Parson, Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel.

David G. Hammond, the chief engineer, said: "I can see no way out, except to redesign and put them out for bids again."

BART, a rapid transit system being constructed in San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa counties, is having financial troubles, brought on mainly by inflation.

Routine Stop Helps CHP Nab Suspect

Highway patrolmen stopped to help a stalled motorist Monday and bagged a robbery suspect, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Donald Edward Smith, 33, a former San Quentin Prison inmate with no known address, was charged in Marin Municipal Court yesterday with being a felon in possession of a gun and possessing other people's credit cards.

Smith pleaded innocent and a preliminary hearing was set for July 15.

Patrolmen said they stopped at 7:30 p.m. Monday to aid Smith, who was getting out of his stalled car on Highway 101 in Corte Madera. One officer noticed the license plate looked newly attached and asked who owned the car.

When Smith produced identification, officers saw a credit card in his wallet issued to James Daley. Asked whose it was, Smith reportedly answered, "They belong to the people whose name is on them."

A radio check indicated the license plates were stolen, although the car was not. Searching the car, patrolmen found a loaded .41 Magnum revolver and a .45 automatic pistol, and some 20 credit cards owned by three persons, which a check indicated were taken in an armed robbery in Reno.

Smith entered San Quentin in December, 1961, to serve time for two robberies in Los Angeles County. Me was paroled in January 1968.

Dress Up A Pineapple Salad

In a pineapple rut? Yes, if you've been making Pineapple Delicious all your life and know the recipe by heart. If your kids love it that much, you probably won't have a bit of trouble foisting some new dishes upon them, and what a break for the adults. Pineapple Burgers to start with. The canned pineapple slices are centered with a fresh garden relish of tomato, celery, green pepper and green onion. From plain hamburgers to Pineapple Burgers with Garden Relish is a mere matter of time. Five minutes if you're slow.

Another dish to relish is Pineapple Seabreeze Salad. The contrasting flavors and textures of canned pineapple chunks with grapefruit sections, cucumber and shrimp are delightful together. You could use a simple oil and vinegar dressing if you're pressed for time. Otherwise, this spicy tomato dressing is the perfect one to meld all the flavors.

Once you get the hang of it, pineapple sorcery is the easiest form of magic. Some things can be brought around with the help of canned pineapple. Do a little experimenting in small batches to see for yourself how far you can go with a sense of adventure.

TROPICAL PINEAPPLE BURGERS

1 pound ground lean beef
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon oregano
Soy sauce
4 canned pineapple slices
Fresh garden relish

Combine beef, salt, monosodium glutamate, onion, Worcestershire and oregano. Mix lightly but well. Divide into 4 portions, shaping each into a round patty. Brush with soy sauce. Pan broil to crusty brown on one side. Turn, top each patty with pineapple slice. Brush lightly with soy sauce. Cover and continue cooking to desired degree of doneness. Serve with Fresh Garden Relish. Makes 4 servings.

FRESH GARDEN RELISH: Combine 1 cup chopped tomato, ¼ cup each chopped celery and green pepper and 2 tablespoons chopped green onion. Drain off excess liquid. Combine vegetables with ¼ teaspoon seasoned salt, 2 teaspooons prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Makes about 1½ cups.

PINEAPPLE SEABREEZE SALAD

A salad bowl to set before luncheon guests. . . . It's one to dress and serve at the table.

1 (1-pound 14-ounce) can pineapple chunks
2 cups grapefruit segments
1 sliced cucumber
2 cups cooked or canned shrimp
2 cups shredded crisp salad greens
Crisp romaine
Spicy tomato dressing

Combine drained pineapple chunks with grapefruit, cucumber and shrimp. Line bottom of chilled salad bowl with shredded greens. Arrange romaine spears around sides. Pile pineapple mixture in bowl. Serve with spicy tomato dressing. Makes 6 servings.

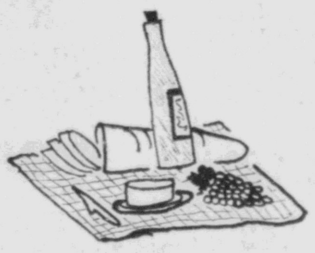
SPICY TOMATO DRESSING: Combine ¼ cup each, syrup drained from canned pineapple, tomato catsup, salad oil and vinegar with ½ teaspoon each of seasoned salt, pepper, dry mustard and celery seed. Shake vigorously to blend. Let stand 1 hour to mellow flavors. Shake well before using. Makes about 1 cup dressing.

Ready The Grill For Fun On Fourth

Beef is great on the grill, especially if it is a steak sandwich. Broiled to order over charcoal briquets — rib eyes, sirloin club, and filet mignon — there is no better fodder!

Here are some suggestions, with a complete menu, for your next steak sandwich cookout:

Grilling: Place steaks over hottest part of barbecue briquet fire and grill quickly, allowing about 4 minutes on a side for ½-inch thick steaks. Brush with spicy barbecue sauce once or twice. Heat sauce and toast rolls on grill's outer edge.



Serving: Serve steaks on toasted rolls or French bread. Help yourself to celery, cucumber sticks, and Bermuda onion and tomato slices from a foil package. Cut the cake and serve it right from the pan at your cookout. Pour beverages into paper cups.

SPICY BARBECUE SAUCE

Prepare ahead of time. Saute one medium chopped onion in ⅓ cup corn oil. Add ½ cup each: white corn syrup, ketchup, water and wine vinegar. Add 2 tablespoons each of prepared mustard and Worcestershire sauce; 2 teaspoons salt, and a generous grating of pepper. Simmer for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 2½ cups.

COCONUT TOPPED PUDDING CAKE

1 2-layer package regular yellow cake mix
1 package vanilla or lemon instant pudding
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
⅓ cup salad oil
3 eggs

Place cake mix, pudding, and salt in large mixer bowl. Add water, oil, and eggs; blend at low speed, then beat at medium speed for 3 minutes, or until smooth and creamy. Pour batter into a greased, floured 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees F 50 to 55 minutes. Let cool 10 minutes. Fold a 40-inch sheet of 12" wide foil wrap to make a long band 3 inches wide. Wrap around pan, overlapping at ends and pressing to pan. It should extend up 2 inches. Spread with the following topping:

COCONUT TOPPING

½ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup light brown sugar
¼ cup milk
Few grains of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup shredded coconut
½ cup chopped walnuts

Blend all ingredients together. Spread over cake. Brown slowly and carefully under the broiler (Mother take note — Dad is busy outside with the barbecue grill) until topping is golden — about 5 minutes.

Barbecue Ham Slices With Kabobs For An Outdoor Meal

Keeping cool isn't difficult when you move your kitchen to the back yard and put your charcoal barbecue grill to work.

Here's a combination to delight the family: festive apricot-glazed ham slices grilled with dinner-vegetable kabobs. It's an easy meal to prepare and takes only about 40 minutes of cooking time on the grill.

Ham is a perfect meat for outdoor cookery. It's tender, of course, It's lean, so there's little smoke. Using either "fully cooked" or "cook-before-eating" ham, the cooking time is short. Two of the inch-thick ham slices will provide eight to 10 servings.

Also, try these other flavorful pork cuts on your grill: pork chops, pork blade steaks, smoked shoulder roll slices, Canadian-style bacon, thick slices of bacon, sausage links and patties.

FESTIVE HAM SLICES AND KABOBS

2 slices smoked ham, cut 1 to 1½ inches thick
1 cup apricot preserves
½ teaspoon powdered ginger
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons lime juice
24 small canned or cooked potatoes
24 1-inch squares green pepper
24 cooked 1-inch thick slices carrot
½ cup melted butter or margarine
Salt, Pepper

Combine apricot preserves, ginger, soy sauce and lime juice. Mix well. Thread 3 carrot pieces, 3 green pepper squares and 3 potatoes alternately on each of eight 10 to 12-inch skewers.

Place ham slices on grill over briquets. Broil, slowly, 10 minutes; brush with apricot mixture, turn; brush with apricot mixture, broil another 10 minutes. Repeat procedure. Place vegetable kabobs on grill, brush with melted butter or margarine. Turn occasionally and continue brushing and broiling kabobs until potatoes are lightly browned and other vegetables are heated through. 8 servings.

Sprouts And Burger Bake Pleases Men

Please the men on your list the next time you plan a stag party or make a dish-to-tote to an all male gathering. Brussels Sprouts 'n Burger Bake is a meal-in-one that is made to a man's liking. Hearty and satisfying, it captures the flavors of good old-fashioned cooking. It's easy on the chef, too, because it can be prepared in advance and refrigerated until it is time to heat for serving.

Convenience foods star in this dish. Both the tangy, cheese-flavored rice, called Rice Risotto, and tender baby Brussels sprouts in butter sauce come frozen in boilable cooking pouches. You can thaw them in the same cooking water while your hamburger is frying. The casserole bakes in layers, with a layer of rice first, then hamburger, Brussels sprouts and finally a rich creamy soup on top.

To complete your menu, serve a crisp tossed green salad, dark pumpernickel rolls and a rich chocolate cake.

SPROUTS 'N BURGER BAKE

1 12-oz. package rice risotto (rice with Cheddar cheese and pimiento) frozen in cooking pouch.
2 10-oz. packages baby Brussels sprouts frozen in butter sauce
1 pound hamburger
½ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can cream of celery soup
¼ cup milk or water
Shredded Cheddar cheese, if desired.

Slip pouches of rice risotto and Brussels sprouts in boiling water. Bring water to second boil; continue cooking just long enough to thaw rice and vegetables. Do not cover pan.

Meanwhile, fry hamburger with onion; drain off excess fat. Add salt and pepper. Place rice in 2-quart casserole; fluff with fork. Spoon hamburger over rice; top with Brussels sprouts. Dilute soup with milk or water, pour over casserole mixture. Garnish with sharp Cheddar cheese, if desired. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes.

Yield: 6 servings.

Parties Given For Africa Bound Donald Smith Family

By MOLLY MARIN

Feted at many farewell parties were the Donald Smiths of Mill Valley, who left Sunday with their son Brandon, 15, and daughters Devon, 14, and Tia, 9, for two years in Africa.

Mr. Smith, a professor of economics at City College of San Francisco, will be teaching economics at the Uganda College of Commerce in Kampala, Africa.

The entire family will first spend six weeks at Columbia University in New York City learning Swahili, and the teenagers will have a special indoctrination at the United Nations.

In Kampala, Brandon and Devon will attend the African high school, and Tia will attend the elementary school.

On June 18 Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byard Jr., were hosts at their home in Mill Valley at a large farewell party, which was also a celebration of their 48th wedding anniversary.

Others giving parties for the Smiths were the Grant Robbinses, Bart Grimeses, William Schwarzers and Frank Whiteheads of Mill Valley and Walter Morenos of Ignacio. A no-host party was also given at the home of the James Goldsmiths of Mill Valley. Devon was given a surprise party by her friend, Patty Theiss of Mill Valley.

MARTY MAZERES should have a few tales to tell his sixth grade classmates at San Ramon Elementary School when he returns from a European trip with his grandfather, J. A. Mazeres.

The eleven-year-old will visit both of his fraternal great-grandmothers in Southern France and then tour London, Paris, the Pyrennes, Lourdes, Marseille and Barcelona.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mazeres of Novato and has a fifteen-year-old brother, Greg.

MRS. LOUISE McPhee, formerly of Novato and now a resident of Long Beach, was in Novato on Thursday and was hostess at a luncheon for a number of her friends. Attending the luncheon and then going to Mrs. Sydney Smith's home to play bridge were Mmes. Robert Farrell, Herbert Sears, Erith Peterson, Wilfred Waldrop, Russell Zenk, R. M. Crane and Smith.

BACK FROM Grand Rapids, Mich., where they attended their son's wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Downer and son, Jeffrey, of Tiburon.

Hugh Downer Jr. took Lynn Chamberlain of Grand Rapids as his bride on June 21. She is the daughter of Mrs. John Battjes of Grand Rapids and the late Dr. Robert Chamberlain. Mr. and Mrs. Downer will live in Palo Alto while Hugh continues his studies at Stanford University School of Law.

Nancy Downer, who is studying at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, met her parents and brother in Grand Rapids.

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. Mark E. Cory of Novato have returned from a three-month trip to Germany, Italy and Greece.

Driving across the country to New York, they stopped in Washington, D.C., to see their son, Lt. Gregory Cory, who is with the Army courier service. While in Germany they visited their oldest son and wife, the Mark E. Corys III. Mark is working on a doctorate in German language at the University of Munich.

They went on to Italy and in Athens, Greece, they met with three former interpreters of Colonel Cory's, who was stationed in northern Greece in 1948-49.

Marin Women

A Call For Female Liberation

By PETER J. SHAW

LONDON (UPI) — The rice pudding puzzled the five-year-old girl.

"Why does uncle get his rice pudding served to him while he sits in his big leather chair?" she asked her mother, one of the females left at the dinner table.

"BECAUSE HE'S a man," was the reply.

Thirty-one years later the answer still disturbs playwright Jane Arden. She is in the growing vanguard of British women calling for a female revolution to terminate what she calls "the live psychodrama of male-female distinction."

The contemporary trend toward unisex in clothing appeases Miss Arden and her mates only a little. But she admits it may be a sign "the whole him and her concept is starting to break down."

Miss Arden says, "Women are oppressed like any other slave group.

"AND OPPRESSION is when you're defined, when you're imprisoned in a character group and told what you can do and cannot do."

Miss Arden thinks there will be no liberation of women "until the definition of family is solved." The family structure is at the root of female woes, she says.

"The family unit is the most unbelieveably horrible thing. We need a society where children are everyone's children —a group society where it isn't 'them and us' fighting social wars."

The key issue, Miss Arden says, is "can man live without someone below or above him?"

ALLIES OF Miss Arden include actress Diane Hart who is trying to form a separate independent political party for women in Britain.

"Men don't like women with brains," Miss Hart, 42, says. "They get jealous. But by avoiding them women can decide their own manifesto and really get started on the problems facing the country."

The most aggressive of the female revolutionaries to surface thus far are the dozens who make up the Women's Liberation Workshop, a brimstone-breathing band within the more conventional National Joint Action Campaign Committee for Women's Equal Rights.

Miss Arden remains one of the more erudite spokeswomen for the liberation movement. A chain-smoking blend of philosophical pensiveness and gamin wit, she fixes the listener with wide brown eyes while sitting barefoot on floor cushions.

SHE RECENTLY authored a play called "Vagina Rex and the Gas Oven" which dealt bluntly with female oppression.

Now she is starting a liberation newsletter called "The Gas Oven." The title derives from the attachment of most women to their kitchens. "And many women use them for suicide," she adds.

The newsletter will "probe the resentment, hidden violence and pain experienced by woman paralyzed by a male society," Miss Arden says.

"WOMEN, LIKE the Negro, is singled out from the beginning. She's considered something special — passive, frivolous, weak, lacking in leadership, incapable of dealing with power.

"Is it said the whole range of human experience isn't open to men? I don't mean equal pay or a woman being president. I'm talking about freedom. We don't have a 'special' role to play," she argues.

"Who ARE these spinachloving, Spock-oriented, honey-giving women anyhow?"

Miss Arden contends most girls "are brainwashed into their roles by the age of eight or nine. In their middle twenties they may see they've been duped."

Most women could avoid psychiatric care if they had freedom to choose "our own projects and our own destinies," she says.

"Free women and you free the world of an enormous number of social problems."

They're Redesigning The Tomato So That It Looks Like A Wiener

CHULA VISTA (AP) — If you were redesigning a tomato, what shape would you seek?

Here in this San Diego suburb they're trying to develop one that looks like a weiner.

They call them bologna or sausage tomatoes. Growers are testing consumer reaction in the fresh tomato market to see if there's a demand.

The odd shape originally was developed for canning. The longer, uniform shape reduced or eliminated the need to shave or mash tomatoes to get them into a can.

They also are easier to slice. The average bologna tomato is 2 to 2½ inches in diameter and 4 to 5 inches long. Breeders try to make them even longer and narrower, and also are striving to improve flavor.

They're even tackling a tougher problem: eliminating the depression at the stem end and flatting the tomato at the bottom.

A triumph at the two ends would reduce waste in the slicing.

But don't look for the sausage types at your neighborhood market. They're being sold on a trial basis in just a few stores. If they catch on, it will be three or four years before they are widely available.

MARJORIE LEE Haggard was wed to Richard Eric Nilan. Her parents are the Rev. and Mrs. James W. Haggard of New Orleans, La., and the bridegroom is the son of the Edwin C. Nilans of Mill Valley. Reverend Haggard performed the ceremony at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in New Orleans.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Girl Makes Family Miserable With Attitude Towards Babies

DEAR HELEN:

My wife and I each had five children by former marriages. We all get along great except for my oldest daughter who resented our having a baby last year, and is throwing a fit because my wife is pregnant again. (We can afford a big family, and we have love enough for all.)

She disrupts the whole family, and her grandmother eggs her on. My mother considers it indecent to have more than two children, so she ignores all of ours except the two oldest. She spoils and pampers them, but it has had an effect only on my daughter. Our son won't buy this sort of thing.

I must admit this 14-year-old girl is a big problem. She is bad-tempered and lazy. She has run away twice, and each time ended up at her grandmother's, which is where she wants to live.

I'm not in favor, as I feel my mother is trying to take my daughter away from me, but we can't go on fighting. It makes for big tensions in an otherwise very compatible home. I seem to have failed as a parent, in this case.

Why, when you raise them all the same, does one turn out so differently? — FATHER

DEAR FATHER:

You didn't fail. With an over 90 per cent compatibility record in your family, I'd say you are an outstanding success as a parent. Each child is "born different." Even a paragon sometimes can't win 'em all.

For the good of the whole, let your daughter go to her disdainful grandmother. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Thirty years ago 10 of us young matrons started a little club. We did charity work, volunteered for Red Cross during the war, and finally ended up playing bridge once a week.

Of course we are getting along in years and some are widowed. The trouble is one lady has become very careless with her housework, which wouldn't bother us, except that we take turns being hostess and always serve lunch. Her dishes are so dirty we hate to eat there, but we don't want to hurt her feelings. Since her husband died, she just lies on the couch and watches television all day. You'd think her daughters, who visit her often, would insist that she clean up.

Since they don't, would it be all right to give her a little hint? — MRS. CLEAN AND FRIENDS

DEAR MRS. C.:

If friends of 30 years' standing can't level with each other, who can? Let your friend know how the rest of you feel about widows who give up. She may thank you for it—later on.—H.

Canned Foods Are Time-Savers

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Elderly homemakers, and others too, may find a real convenience in a shelf well-stocked with canned foods.

Mrs. Ruth J. Buck, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the Pennsylvania State University, notes that canned vegetables, meats and soups are convenience foods that save time in labor and preparation.

When selecting, Mrs. Buck advises, buy the can size that fits your needs. While larger cans are often more economical, they can be costlier if not all the food is eaten.

Green Chili Iceberg

To ½ cup dairy sour cream add 2 tablespoons chopped canned green chilis, ¼ tablespoon salt, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard. Mix well and serve on crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce.

Mill Valley Schools Boost Paychecks By 5 Per Cent

A 5 per cent salary scale increase for all district employees has been approved by the Mill Valley School District Board, according to Supt. James A. Collins.

The salary scale hike, a compromise following weeks of negotiations between the teachers' negotiating council and Collins, will cost $130,000 in the 1969-70 budget, Collins said.

Extension of health benefits to employees families, estimated to cost $30,000, was also approved at the board's Monday night meeting, Collins said.

At the June 16 board meeting, teachers asked for a 6 per cent raise while the board offered 4 per cent. Originally, teachers had sought an 8 per cent hike, Collins noted.

Collins also received a 5 per cent raise, increasing his yearly salary from $20,000 to $21,000. The superintenednt's salary was negotiated seperately from those of other personnel.

Trustees also agreed to allow three days of sick leave for emergency absences and said they would eliminate nonteaching duties, such as playground supervision, for teachers as soon as additional funds are available, Collins reported.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

LETTERS — Received 70 letters from parents in the Strawberry Point School attendance area protesting the transfer of Principal Robert DeVilbiss to Tamalpais Valley School and the assignment of a half-time principal at Strawberry. The board said a full-time principal will be assigned to the school as soon as additional funds are available.

NEW ORLEANS IN ROSS

The new brick wall flanking the entrance of the Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross sets the New Orleans motif for the popular annual event. Marcie Hicklin (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hicklin of San Rafael, looks in 2-year-old disbelief at melon-sized lemons entered in the fair by D. S. Lange of San Rafael. The fair opens today at 6 p.m. See also story, page 1. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean).

Orr Declines To Appear At Probe Into Grievance

Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr has declined to appear at a hearing into charges that he struck a 17-year-old youth outside a teen-age dance at the Fairfax Pavilion on Memorial Day.

Attorney Bella H. Aaron, chairman of the police-community relations committee of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said yesterday that the committee had hoped to hold a hearing into a grievance filed against Orr by Michael Mulqueeny, a Los Ranchitos youth, and an ad hoc committee.

Mulqueeny claims he saw Orr strike David E. Pratt, 17, of Fairfax, after Orr had ordered a large crowd that had been refused admittance to the dance to disperse.

Mrs. Aaron said she was informed yesterday by Wallace S. Myers, Fairfax city attorney that Orr "won't come" to a hearing. Myers gave no reason, Mrs. Aaron said.

Myers could not be reached today for comment.

The committee is empowered by county ordinance to investigate and conciliate human rights disputes, but has limited subpoena powers.

Mrs. Aaron was uncertain about the committee's next course of action.

Meanwhile, Mulqueeny revealed that the Marin District Attorney's office, which says it is conducting an investigation into the alleged assault, declined to take his statement because he wanted a lawyer present during questioning.

"They told me they don't allow lawyers present for statements," he said. "I told them I'm not going to make a statement unless I have a lawyer present.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony, assigned to investigate the case, could not be reached for comment on Mulqueeney's report.

Mulqueeny said he wanted an attorney present because "I believe they're not trying to investigate the case. I think the thing is being used to prosecute Pratt and not investigate Orr.

Orr asserts that Pratt, who faces charges of disturbing the peace, assault and resisting arrest, was belligerent and offensive and kicked several policemen.

Mulqueeny said he had conferred with the state attorney general's office in San Francisco about the investigation and it agreed to make inquiries of Marin authorities.

Bolinas, Stinson Set 4th Events

The Fourth of July will be as thoroughly celebrated on Bolinas Lagoon as anywhere in Marin.

The traditional Fourth of July carnival of the Stinson Beach Community Center will start at 7 p.m. tomorrow and run through Saturday. The carnival will have a gallery of game booths, refreshment stands, and a sandwich and salad bar for the hungry.

The carnival will open at 11 a.m. Friday and Saturday, and will continue all three nights "until there are no more customers," said Mildred Sadler of Stinson Beach.

The event was founded in 1947 to raise funds, and has helped build the community center, the Stinson Beach Fire Station and a community chapel. Carnival sponsors are the five groups comprising Community Center Inc. — the volunteer fire department, the progressive club, allied arts, the community church and the Bolinas-Stinson Parent-Teacher Club.

In Bolinas, the traditional Fourth of July costume parade will form at 9:30 a.m. in front of the marine biology station on Wharf Road, then follow a Bolinas fire truck to the beach at 10 a.m. for games and prizes to be awarded children for costumes.

The parade annually attracts "everyone and his billygoat," one resident said. The parade is completely free-form, with no bands or organized marching, but plenty of adults, children, dogs and other family components, all wearing and doing pretty much what they please.

Factors that influence the strength of wood are moisture content, size, number and location of knots, crossgrain and checks.

Teen Driver Only Bruised In Accident

John H. Davis Jr., 19, of 150 Madrona Avenue, Belvedere, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for leg bruises after a car-truck collision at 7:40 p.m. at Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue, the California Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said a car driven by James L. Ralph, 44, of 784 St. Francis Avenue, Novato, made a left turn in the path of Davis' truck.

Employee Is Crushed To Death By Machine

A giant generator housing plunged to the floor of the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. plant in Sausalito yesterday, crushing to death John Carson Smith, 58, of Stinson Beach.

Smith, of 224 Calle Del Arroyo, died at 2:08 p.m. in the emergency room at Marin General Hospital.

Police said Smith was standing on a large generator unit, guiding the metal housing as it was lowered into place, when a cable snapped and the housing landed on him.

The coroner's office said the housing crushed Smith's chest and legs.

Smith is survived by his wife, Marie, of Stinson Beach; two daughters, Diane McCollum of Stinson Beach and Barbara Neighbors of Novato, and a son, Douglas C. Smith of Stinson Beach.

A Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel; Mill Valley. Friends may call after 6 p.m. The body will be shipped to St. Paul, Minn., where funeral services will be held Monday.

Woman Treated For Gas Fumes

A 45-year-old San Rafael woman was taken to Marin General Hospital's community mental health unit yesterday after she was found unconscious from gas in her home, police said.

Hospital authorities would not release the condition of Hazel Mae Oliver of 77 Woodland Avenue today.

Police said Mrs. Oliver called them and said she was going to turn on the gas in her stove. When they arrived, she was unconscious on a couch, they said.

MUSICAL REVIEW

The Doolittles Shine; Higgins Has Trouble

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — "My Fair Lady," the musical version of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," which has played somewhere constantly since its Broadway success in the mid-1950s, returned here last night as a lavishly mounted production of the San Francisco Civic Light Opera.

For the Doolittles — Eliza, the cockney sweetheart and her red-nosed father Alfred P. — it was a smashing success. But for the key principal, Henry Higgins, it was somewhat a blundering evening.

The lovely Margot Moser with her lyric-coloratura and good looks won the audience with her delightful flower-girl-turned-lady role and Douglas Campbell made one forget of the other long string of Alfred's with his superb baritone and light-footed dancing.

However, the evening's bitter disappointment was Douglas Fairbanks Jr. as Professor Higgins, the master of phonetics. While he attempted to make the role of Higgins more sympatheic than the original Higgins created by Rex Harrison, he lacked vocal strength to convince the audience of his rock-hard constitution which finally breaks into humaneness.

From the start Fairbanks was in trouble. He was hardly audible in the opening scenes and badly placed microphones made even it worse. This was corrected somewhat in the second act, but it was really too late to care.

The urbane Reginald Gardiner as Colonel Pickering did help to counterbalance some of Fairbanks' shortcomings, and the distinguished actress Cathleen Nesbitt, who created the original Mrs. Higgins, was elegant and convincing.

The surprise casting of the evening was good-looking Terence Monk as Freddy who seeks in vain to woo Eliza. His powerfully controled tenor voice was perfect for the lovely "On the Street Where You Live." Also George Gaynes in the small role of Karpathy, the phonetics fraud, added the comic relief in the glittering embassy waltz.

The big production numbers — "Ascot Gavotte," which shows the British upperclass in a bit of satirical nonsense, Doolittle's "With a Little Bit of Luck" and "Get Me To the Church on Time" — prove once again the opera association's strength in the lavish world of the theater. The choreography of the latter two was rollicking and expertly executed under the eye of Carndall Diehl.

The lavish settings by Oliver Smith which moved into place swiftly were a delight to the eye and were a perfect background for the expensively gowned company.

A good pit orchestra under the baton of Ross Reimuller tied the whole package together nicely.

No doubt the musical will keep the Curran Theater packed for its seven-week run. It's proven crowd pleasure and has nothing distasteful to the palate.

As on matron remarked as she was leaving the theater: "This is worth all the lousy ones we've seen." So mark another one up for Mr. Shaw and the musical team of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe.

Hayakawa Gets Chamber Backing

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley has been endorsed by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce for the permanent presidency of San Francisco State College.

In a letter to Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, the chamber urged the trustees to offer the job to Hayakawa and to insist that he take it. Hayakawa is currently acting president.

The chamber letter maintained the turmoil on the campus prior to Hayakawa taking over reflected badly on San Francisco's national image. Letters were received by the chamber from concerned parents of students asking what could be done, the letter said.

MUSICAL REVIEW

A Fiddler On The Roof, Happy Critic Out Front

By KARL BARRON

BERKELEY — An ingratiating actor named Harry Goz fought the West's most dreadful auditorium Monday night and won — making the Civic Light Opera presentation of "Fiddler on the Roof" a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

As Tevye, the understated hero of Sholom Aleichem's stories which form the basis for the musical, Goz managed to make himself usually intelligible over the tinny microphones of the cavernous Berkeley Community Theater, and demonstrated that he is a performer of warmth and tremendous understanding.

PLEASURE TO HEAR

"Fiddler," now in its fifth year on Broadway (Goz is on loan from the New York production) is one of the few musicials of the 60s which has depth as well as lovely music. Its hit songs — "If I Was A Rich Man," "Sunrise, Sunset," and the title tune, are only part of the story, for Jerry Bock's music throughout is hauntingly beautiful.

The book by Joseph Stein "Enter Laughing") and lyrics by Sheldon Harnick all combine to make this a musical to treasure and see more than once.

It is timely, also, though its setting is Russia in 1906. It is a story of revolt by the young against tradition, and takes place just before the beginning of the revolutionary period.

EXCITING STAGING

Jerome Robbins' staging is exciting and imaginative, with some dream-like sequences set behind scrims, while in others Tevye projects his thoughts to us — spotlighted and with supersonic violins backgrounding him. The emotional impact of "Sunrise, Sunset" has to be experienced to be believed, and the reason for its success is Robbins' faultless choreography of the entire scene.

But it's Tevye's show, and if others have been any better than Goz, I would have to see them to be convinced. He sings well, his timing is great, he uses his body like a precision machine.

DIFFICULT FOR CAST

It's difficult for a supporting cast to shine out from under Tevye's sun, but still I could wish for more strength in minor roles, some of which in this production are not even adequate.

However, Goz is backed by an excellent performance by Stuart Howard, and good ones from Laura Stuart, Susan Geoppinger, Richard Balin, Bob Carroll and Leon Spellman.

The Bottle Dancers, Vito Durante, Glen McClaskey, Ronn Steinman, and Neal Thompson deserve special mention. Boris Aronson's sets are delightful, as are Patricia Zipprodt's costumes.

"Fiddler" will play nightly except Sundays at 8:30 through July 12.

College Band Sets Concert For Sunday

The College of Marin Community Band, conducted by John H. Myers, will present a concert Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross on the Northgate stage.

The program will include marches, light classics and "pop" music and will feature members of the band in a solo and trio.

Outdoor Painting Class Scheduled

A six-week course in outdoor painting for beginners and intermediates will be taught by Dorothy Williams of Kentfield beginning July 15 from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays in the Barn at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Registration for the course, which offers instruction in all media, is underway at the Center office.

EMPLOYEES AND NON-DISCRIMINATION

Contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, religion, color or national origin. This shall include employment, demotion and transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertisement, layoff or termination, rates of pay or other compensation, and selection for training and apprenticeship. Contractors shall post, in conspicuous places during period of contract and available to applicants for employment, notices setting forth the provision of this clause. Contractor shall insert the foregoing provision in all subcontracts hereunder, except subcontracts for standard commercial supplies and raw materials. The hiring of all labor for work shall be in accordance with applicable directives of the Fair Employment Practices Commission of the State of California. The contractor shall forfeit, as a penalty, in addition to any other penalty provided by law, to the Town of Ross, the sum of $25.00 for each calendar day, or portion thereof, during which the contractor knowingly allows any conditions of discrimination to exist in connection with the work, provided, however, that such penalty shall not be imposed without a full investigation and determination by the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Contractor shall cooperate fully with Marin County and affected Unions to promote and insure the maximum employment of Negroes and Spanish-speaking minorities, with particular emphasis on residents of Marin County, in all phases and at all levels of the work. Contractor shall encourage maximum utilization of apprenticeship and other on-the-job training programs, to achieve this goal.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

DDT Ban Now Off At Least To 1972

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Agriculture Committee today gave DDT a maximum life expectancy of three years in California.

The committee, at its second closed-door session in less than a week, agreed yesterday on weakened compromise legislation calling for abolition of the farm poison by 1972 but giving the state power to extend the cutoff one year.

The committee will meet publicly tomorrow to vote on the rewritten bill by freshman Republican Sen. John A. Nejedly of Walnut Creek. He had proposed a Jan. 1 ban.

Sen. Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, chairman of the Committee, said the compromise will propose a Dec. 31, 1971, cutoff deadline for DDT and stress strong legislative intent that "as soon as practicable, the persistant pesticides stall be eliminated in California."

The committee specified a deadline, although Marler said the bill also will empower the State Director of Agriculture to grant a one-year extension if a "reasonable alternative" to DDT is not developed and available in time.

He said the extension would give the pesticide manufacturers and University of California scientists a maximum of three years to produce adequate substitutes. Marler has been an opponent of mandating any cutoff.

The compromise also creates a new class of "environmentally harmful" pesticides and adds four new technical standards under which poisons could be banned by the department of agriculture.

CLAIM REJECTED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Board of Control yesterday turned down a $100,000 wrongful death claim against the state involving the wounding of James Rector by a police buckshot blast during the "People's Park" disturbance in Berkeley.

Rector's mother, Mrs. Dolores Clifford of San Jose, sought the damages from the board, the last administrative remedy for claims against the state. The board's decision allows Mrs. Clifford to take her case to court.

IMMUNITY BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly-passed bill granting immunity from prosecution to Mafia or other underworld informants has moved a step closer to passage in the Senate.

The upper house Judiciary Committee yesterday approved the measure by Assemblyman Pete Wilson, R-San Diego, and sent it to the Finance Committee.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch strongly backs the bill as a means of gaining key information from criminals.

It permits Lynch's investigators to ask courts to force persons with knowledge of organized crime to testify in exchange for immunity from prosecution.

BOARD UNTOUCHED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly-passed bill to reapportion the four districts of the state Board of Equalization was killed yesterday by the Senate Elections Committee.

The measure by Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, was assigned to a between-sessions study, thus preventing its passage this session.

Priolo said his proposal was prompted by the Supreme Court's "one-man one-vote" decree for equal population distribution in elective districts. He said the districts are virtually the same as they were in 1897.

GUN CURB GAINS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill prohibiting drug addicts, former mental patients, ex-felons or aliens from owing any firearms was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday.

The measure by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, was sent to the Finance Committee on a split voice vote. Present law prohibits the same persons from owning concealable firearms.

Two gun control bills strongly backed by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch were killed earlier in the day by the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee.

One would have required the private transfer of a concealable weapon to be reported to the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation. The other would have required the licensing by the state of all gun dealers. Only concealable weapon dealers must register now under the law.

Violence At Quentin Prompts A Probe Call

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A legislative investigation of last month's violence at San Quentin Prison has been called for by Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles.

"Life is unpleasant enough in penal institutions without having to contend with defending your life every second due to laxity and neglect on the part of the authorities," Greene declared as he introduced his resolution. Greene said he was familiar with prison life because of his experiences as a "freedom rider" in the South.

He urged that the investigation "ascertain any conditions which might have led to such violence, and to develop such recommendations which would correct such conditions." The committee assigned to make the investigation should report its findings next January, he said.

The June 9 killing of one white prisoner and the wounding of six others was the fourth racial flareup at the prison since late April, and the slaying was the fourth fatal stabbing. The other three victims were Negroes.

Crash Hurts Ex-Policeman From Novato

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISO — California Highway Patrolman Alfred Schroeder, former Novato police officer, was seriously injured in an accident last night on Bayshore Freeway near Candlestick Park.

Schroeder, 31, was taken to St. Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City with possible skull fracture, broken ankle and possible internal injuries.

Another Patrolman Fred Graves, 23, was in the same hospital with facial cuts.

The highway patrol said that the two officers had made a routine traffic stop of a southbound car and were standing on the freeway shoulder talking to the driver when their patrol car was hit from the rear by another car, knocking it into the stopped car. Schroeder was thrown 60 feet by the impact, according to the CHP.

The driver of the car that hit the patrol car, Carl G. Soldati, 50, of Burlingame, was cited on suspicion of felony drunk driving, according to the CHP.

The driver of the first car stopped, Bobby Vasquez, 27, of San Francisco was not cited because of his quick work in using the patrol car radio to summon help, the patrol said.

Schroeder worked for the Novato police force from January 1964 to January of this year. He lives at 77 Stasia Drive, Novato.

Heroin Linked With Jail Death

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — A San Francisco police captain's son died in the San Mateo County Jail yesterday. Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore said a preliminary investigation indicated heroin was the cause.

Coroner Paul Jensen said an autopsy initially pointed to "toxicological involvement" in the death of Harry L. Nelson Jr., 28, whose father commands the Potrero Station.

Whitmore said an eight-story annex is being built to the Hall of Justice and Records and that drugs and paraphernalia apparently had been smuggled to the fourth floor jail through the construction area.

Nelson has been in jail since May 2, facing trial on charges of burglary, car theft and receiving stolen property.

Night Hangout In Fairfax Irks Neighbors

How to close a market that has become a hangout in the middle of the night presented an usual dilemma for the Fairfax City Council last night. The council had received a petition from 11 residents of the area around the Short Stop Market at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Kent Avenue, complaining about the noise generated by nocturnal visitors.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson reported the city couldn't revoke the firm's business license because, somehow, it doesn't have one.

Mrs. Wilson said she had understood the store was going to be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily and it was, for the first several months of operation. A few months ago, however, it switched to 24-hour operation.

Police Chief James R. Orr reported he had informed John F. Briscoe, the firm's Bay Area representative, that the store is a public nuisance. "I don't think we need a drive-in or store as a hangout for people," he said.

The council agreed to try and solve the problem by issuing a business license permitting operating from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. — if the city attorney says the action is legal.

Pickup Truck Drives Off Road, One Hurt

Shirley Welbourn, 26, of 24 Main Street, San Quentin, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a bruised scalp when a pickup truck she rode in hit a utility pole at 2:30 a.m. on South San Pedro Road, the California Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said the accident occurred near China Camp. Driver William M. Spearman, 21, of 710 B Street, San Rafael, said an oncoming car forced him off the road.

Knox Will Revamp Shoreline Clause

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The author of one of the two principal bills to continue the life of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will amend his bill to reduce the commission's proposed shoreline jurisdiction from 1,000 to 500 feet inboard from the bay.

An aide to the author, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, said the bill originally proposed 1,000 feet in order to include the salt ponds at both ends of the bay. But this no longer was necessary because the Senate Local Government Committee amended the bill to include all of the salt ponds in the BCDC's jurisdiction, the aide said.

(The BCDC's master plan for the bay proposed controls over a shoreline band up to 1,000 feet inboard from the bay, as well as over the salt ponds.)

The other principal BCDC bill, by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-Menlo Park, would limit the commission's shoreline control to a 100-foot-wide band around the bay.

The bills are to be heard by the Senate Finance Committee at 9 a.m. on July 10 in the Capitol. The hearing is the last major hurdle for legislation to keep the BCDC from expiring this year.

Fairfax Settles Part Of Problem Budget

Fairfax toiled through another section of its proposed budget last night and settled one of its major hassles by approving more part-time help for the city administrator.

In the third night of discussion on the problem, Mayor Francis J. O'Connell made a motion to pay a secretary $50 a month for taking minutes of city council meetings, to hire an outside secretarial service to take minutes of commission meetings, and to increase the hours of a part-time person to handle all other commission business.

He accepted an amendment from Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson, reducing the pay for council meeting minutes to $40 a month and the proposal, requested by the city administrator, was approved 3-2.

Councilmen Robert R. Souza and Frank J. Egger voted against the proposal, but for widely varying reasons.

"I'm opposed to contracting out the office work," said Souza. "If we need more clerical help I would be in favor of another person in the office so we could have continuity."

Egger, on the other hand, continued his opposition to the form of government. (The city clerk also serves as city administrator.)

"I think what we are seeing here on paper is that the jobs are really not compatible," said Egger, pointing out "It's just too much for her (Mrs. Frances R. Lestanguet) to try to do."

"If we add all these costs . . . we're really not saving that much from a full-time professional administrator," he maintained.

Mrs. Lestanguet noted that in 1967-68 (before the administrator resigned) there were three full-time persons in the office plus $3,300 worth of part-time help. Now there are two full-time persons and a request for $3,100 worth of part-time help, she said.

Mrs. Wilson, who normally sides with Egger on the form of government, said she voted for the motion because "I don't feel the office staff should be penalized for the actions of the council."

However, she emphaszed she still favors a full-time professional administrator.

In other budget business, the council cut $400 earmarked for printing the revised zoning ordinance after the council reluctantly agreed that it probably wouldn't get to the printers in the 1968-69 fiscal year. Another $900, for a map book, was cut when Building Inspector Dale Hostrup said he didn't really need it.

The council also gave tentative approval to $1,100 for replacing the city hall floor; $350 each for a clean-up campaign and the Fairfax Festival, and $100 for a fan for the Women's Club.

At 10:45 p.m., when it looked as if the council had reached the police department budget, the item actually scheduled for last night, Chief James R. Orr said:

"I came here at 8 o'clock to present the police department budget. You wore me down. Just accept it," he said with an air of defeat.

The council refused, maintaining police should have their chance, and set a meeting on it at 8 p.m. Monday.

Tricia Nixon Skips An Outing

LONDON (AP) — Tricia Nixon's busy list of social engagements for her British visit caught up with her today when she reluctantly abandoned the idea of visiting the regatta at Henley, a three-hour round trip from London.

Tricia made the 180-mile train journey to Caernarvon in Wales yesterday to watch the investiture of Britain's heir to the throne, Prince Charles, as Prince of Wales.

Tricia, 23, went shopping today for a birthday present for her sister Julie, the 20-year-old wife of David Eisenhower.

Recorder's Office Gets $324,611

Property transfer tax and recording fees collected by Marin County amounted to $324,611 for the fiscal year which ended Monday, County Recorder Noel T. Giacomini said yesterday.

Giacomini said that the transfer tax which is collected at the rate of $1.10 per $1,000 property sale is apportioned among the cities and the county, with the county's share $152,686.

The county receives all of the recording fees, which amounted to $95,324. These funds go into the county's general income, Giacomini said.

The transfer tax represents a fairly new source of income for the county. The tax was formerly collected by the federal government, which found it more expensive to collect than the funds received, Giacomini said.

In 1967-68 the county began collecting it, with $86,000 taken in that year. Marin's high property costs make the county the 13th highest among California counties in revenue received from this source, according to Giacomini.

He also noted that his office had the highest number of property recordings ever on Friday and Monday as persons rushed to complete transactions before interest rates rose.

How To Tell When A Person Is In Need Of Psychiatric Help

VAN DELLEN

When should a person consult a psychiatrist? Many of the primary symptoms are significant only when they persist for a month or more.

All of us get the "blues," but prolonged depression causes loss of appetite and weight. The individual realizes that something is wrong, but he does not know what. His ideas do not make sense to himself or to others. These danger signals are early indications of flightiness and irresponsibility.

A PERSON SHOULD be taken to a psychiatrist when he has lost contact with reality and does not know where he was for a day or two.

Candidates for a nervous breakdown usually cannot sleep. Their work suffers and they become increasingly irritable. Such persons have trouble adjusting and cannot solve their problems because they are caught in a vicious cycle. The less sleep, the worse the performance; the worse the performance, the less sleep.

Occasional drinking sprees do not warrant psychiatric treatment. When, however, these bouts become more frequent, interfere with work, school, and social relationships, the person needs help. He is using liquor to escape reality.

Psychiatric care should be considered when noticeable personality changes occur. The docile, quiet man who suddenly becomes hostile and aggressive desperately needs expert care.

EVERY PHYSICIAN has heard the statement: "I can't get him to see a psychiatrist." This situation is understandable if we remember that persons who are not themselves do not use good judgment.

Others show early signs of paranoia. Unfounded suspicions include those whom they love and trust.

Disabling mental illness requires attention. Business tycoons have made fools of themselves and jeopardized the financial status of corporations during mental upheavals.

Women have wrecked their homes and the lives of their children.

DISASTERS SUCH AS these could have been avoided if the "storm" signals had not been ignored.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

WINE, PEANUTS, AND EPILEPSY

B. J. writes: I have epilepsy and would like to know if it is possible to get a seizure after drinking a small glass of wine. Also, would peanuts trigger an attack?

REPLY

Drinking is out for anyone with epilepsy. Conversely, there is no relationship between peanuts and convulsions and blackouts.

STAGHORN KIDNEY STONE

C. C. writes: My doctor says the kidney stone he removed was a staghorn type. Can you tell me something about such stones?

REPLY

Staghorn calculi have a rough granular surface and may be oval or branching. When large, they may fill the entire pelvis. They are composed of calcium phosphate, calcium carbonate, or cystine.

MEASLES AND CROSS-EYE

A reader writes: Can measles cause cross-eye?

REPLY

Yes, if the causative virus invades the brain. Cross-eye may be aggravated or start after any infection or period of fatigue, but these are precipitant, rather than causative, factors.

SOFT DRINKS FOR BABY

S.M. writes: Mother gives soda pop to my 10-month-old sister. Isn't she too young for this beverage?

REPLY

Soft drinks are not harmful and are objectionable only when substituted for more basic foods such as milk.

Today's Health Hint — A boat never should be overloaded.

5 Per Cent Living Cost Hike For Hub Employees

Five per cent cost-of-living increases were approved across the board last night for San Anselmo city employees with the promise that there may be further adjustments for some.

Action taken by the San Anselmo City Council was in two parts. The council voted 4-1, Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro voting "no" on the first motion which excluded department heads, saying 5 per cent is too low and that he favored 7 per cent.

Following a five-minute recess the council voted unanimously for the 5 per cent increase for department heads, Capurro saying he voted "aye" because "this will be adjusted and department heads will be included in their readjustment. It's not a closed issue."

Councilman Robert M. Scott felt, too, that the subject was not closed. He said, "I'm going to vote for some more (increase)."

Councilman James F. Reed cautioned employees, who with employees wives and other citizens made up the audience of about 30, that he didn't thing it fair to leave employees with the idea they have more coming. "You may be able to talk us out of it," he said.

Councilmen Duane C. Ragan and Kenneth L. Anderson both spoke for the 5 per cent increase during the salary session.

The council agreed to meet at 8 p.m. next Wednesday to consider salary adjustments proposed by City Administrator-Controller A. C. Kaeppel. Capurro said the council will than start going over the full budget for the second time approving item by item.

The council had before it a letter from Fire Capt. Robert Beedle asking that San Anselmo salaries be kept on a level with the cities of San Rafael and Mill Valley. Beedle, San Anselmor Fire and Police Association president, said that currently San Anselmo police and firemen are 5 per cent below the other two cities.

Beedle and other employees argued that higher salaries are needed to keep men. Police Chief Raymond R. Buchagnani, who said 5 per cent will put San Anselmo seventh place in Marin, added that three policemen left this year for better paying jobs and it was reported that one fireman is about to leave. Both chiefs were given loud applause.

Councilmen noted that the sales tax for San Rafael and Mill Valley were both higher than that of San Anselmo's.

The 5 per cent wage increase represents $34,500 in the 1969-70 budget.

Councilmen also voted unanimously to participate in the Public Employees Retirement System health plan. It excluded the seven library employees who are not a part of the system pending a fact-finding trip to Sacramento by Kaeppel and Scott. The plan will mean a reduction of about $2,600 to the city within its present participation in the retirement system.

Several persons in the audience urged the council to value people over other things in the budget, Mrs. Sarah Nome arguing to this point. Don R. Deane of 31 Cedar Street, urged the council to maintain salary parity with other Marin cities and said San Anselmo is becoming a "training grounds" for many other cities in the county.

Variance Granted

Marin County zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill granted a variance yesterday to L. W. Pedersen of 136 Harbor Drive, Black Point, for construction of a garage within two feet fo the rear property line at his home.

Census bureau projections indicate that U.S. population may increase from 200 million to 260 million by the end of this century. That means 75 million new homes — 15 million more than the present U.S. total — will be needed to house the American population, according to Charles E. Peck, vice president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation's construction group.

Lemon Grove Teacher New CTA President

I-J Special Report

BURLINGAME — Margaret L. Lemmer, English teacher at Lemon Grove Junior High School, Lemon Grove, San Diego County, took over yesterday as new president of the 170,000-member 106-year-old California Teachers Association (CTA).

Robert Neal, a Coalinga Fresno County, high school teacher, is the new CTA vice president.

Mrs. Lemmer said that there is a new breed of teachers who are demanding a voice in controlling their profession, as do those in medicine, law and other professions.

HER PLEDGE

"New teachers and many of us older ones have come to realize we are well-educated and well-informed persons. No longer will we take the subservient roles of yesteryear's 'schoolmarms' and 'schoolmasters.' We intend to say more and more about what is needed in the classroom, and be more and more active in public life. We will not be satisfied any longer with the status quo."

Mrs. Lemmer praised California's Winton Act — negotiations law—for helping teachers and the CTA work through approved channels for the improvements they see needed in education.

"California has avoided major teacher strikes because the CTA seeks improvements through negotiation, avoiding confrontation if at all possible. These CTA policies are made by elected representatives. It is a very democratic process and one which gives educators in this state's classrooms a chance to unify their voices in fulfilling their roles in determining who shall teach, what shall be taught and how it shall be taught," Mrs. Lemmer said.

ACTIVE ROLE

Mrs. Lemmer, a teacher for 31 years and active in teacher association work for 16 years, has served as president of CTA, Southern Section and the San Diego County Teachers Association, plus other CTA offices.

She is a graduate of Washington High School, Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and received her BS degree from California State College, California, Pa.

She has also done graduate work at University of Pittsburgh, San Diego State College, University of California, La Jolla, and California Western University, San Diego.

Her husband, Jack A. Lemmer, is an English teacher at Palm Junior High School in Lemon Grove.

Rookie Bill Lee Still In Awe Of Big Leagues

By GARY TISCHLER

Five years ago, Bill Lee was a crew-cut lefty doing his stuff for Terra Linda High School, and doing it amazingly well.

Yesterday afternoon, he sat in a room of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit, watching television. He had been a major leaguer for almost seven days now.

Most of the rest of his Boston Red Sox teammates, in Motor City for a series with the defending World Champion Detroit Tigers, were out on the town, seeing whatever you can in Detroit in the early afternoon, but Lee was still getting oriented.

The jump from a starting pitcher with Pittsfield's Class AA club in Massachusetts had been sudden and unsettling. One moment he was enjoying a day off and some three hours later he was in the bullpen at Fenway Park.

"The Pittsfield general manager called me and told me I had been sold to Boston," Lee said via long distance telephone. "I was completely shocked. My wife and I drove from Williamston to Boston, starting out at two o'clock. At 5:30 I was dressing on the field."

Lee, a personable 22-year-old who went on from Terra Linda High School to USC and from there to a Boston draft pick last year, is still a little dazed, as if somewhere along the line, a step has been skipped, things have been left out. The big leap has left him dizzy, elated, queasy and a little scared.

"I'm still trying to get oriented," he said. "I'm sitting here trying to get settled. It's not easy to get used to all this."

The Red Sox, who are aching for pitchers in their bid to stay alive in the Eastern Division of the American League, brought Lee up after Jim Lonbourg suffered a toe injury. They put him to work in a hurry.

Last Thursday, the Red Sox were in Cleveland and Lee got the call in the fourth inning of the second game of a doubleheader, with the Red Sox trailing 6-3.

"I was really scared," he said. "I walked the first two batters. But then I struck out Ken Harrelson and got the next batter to hit into a double play."

Lee went on to pitch four innings, gave up one run, two hits and struck out five for a notable beginning.

The next time Lee stepped on the mound turned out to be part of a general Boston disaster in Washington where the Red Sox dropped a doubleheader on Sunday.

He struck out five batters again, but he also had to face imposing Frank Howard, the Senators' booming homerun man.

"He hit a screwball for a homer off me with a 1-2 count on him," he said. "In a way, it's good that it went out of the park. If it had been lower, it would have torn my head off."

In two times out, Lee has struck out ten batters in seven innings, a feat which amazes him.

"I haven't struck out that many batters in seven innings in my life," he said. "I'm not a strikeout pticher."

It turned out that he discovered something.

"You can't make any mistakes," he said. "One mistake, and its out of the park. They can really tear into a ball. In AA ball, you make a mistake and they get a single. Here, it's gone. But they can't seem to hit the good pitches if you have control. It's easier to get a strikeout."

The first days haven't been easy for Lee. It's as if he's riding a high-powered balloon.

"For a while there, I was too scared to enjoy it all," Lee said. "We haven't had a chance to move into a place in Boston. And, in this sort of thing, I

Frazier Reminds Rocky Of Ex-Champ—Himself

Well, it's nice to have a heavyweight champion named "Joe" again.

It'll be nice to have a fight you don't have to go to Divinity School to cover.

But, because champion Frazier is a regular Joe, how does that rate him in the hierarchy of past and present champions, including the Flower of Islam, the Aga of Louisville, the Emperor of Saudi Chicago, Cassius Marcellus Abdullah Skivinsky Skavar?

There are three living retired heavyweight champions who never lost while they held the title to whom to go for a line. But I figured Gene Tunney wouldn't have seen the Jerry Quarry-Frazier fight if "Tannhauser" were playing in town that night. Or even if it weren't. I can never remember what to address Cassius Clay as—"Sahib" or, simply, "Excellency," or "Effendi," or what.

To The Telephone I Go

So I rang up Rocky Marciano.

"Frazier remind you of anyone, Rock?" I asked him.

"It was like I was in the ring," the Rock said, delightedly. "I made every move with him."

"Like to see that other fellow come out winging the way Quarry did, would you?" I asked.

"Yes," said Rock. "Usually, I had to chase them. They were playing to my strength when they made a phone booth out of the ring."

"Quarry made a mistake then? He should have engineered the fight?"

"Well," said Rock, "you have to remember, Jim, that you can hurt a guy very quickly when you can punch as hard as Jerry can. I don't think he made a mistake. I think he went out there and bet the whole pot on one roll, one card. When Frazier didn't fold and then came up with the stronger hand, Quarry's gamble had failed. I think THAT'S when he should have changed styles. You know, Archie Moore could change styles in the MIDDLE of a round. When he saw one thing wasn't going to work, he would shuffle the cards again. Jerry stuck to his plan even though it showed he was playing to Frazier's strength. Quarry should have gone back to his old style of fighting in flurries and stalling. But he stuck to the ground game."

"Would it have changed the outcome?"

Would Tell, Sooner Or Later

"Only to the extent Jerry would have lost the decision, not the knockout, I think. Frazier's style had to tell on Jerry sooner or later. This way, it was sooner."

"You say, 'Jerry's style,' Rocky? Isn't his 'style' the same as yours? You just fight the other guy as if you were trying to get out of a burning building and he was in your way?"

"It looks that way, Jim. But my style—OUR style—takes so much away from the other fellow, takes away so much of his ability. It is more effective than it looks. You see, when I started to fight, Al Weill would never have bothered with me if the ring weren't only 16-to-20 feet square. Of course, Frazier has to stay in absolutely first-class condition. Chasing somebody is hard work—harder than fighting him."

"So you think Jimmy Ellis will have gone to school on this fight? Frazier-Ellis will be part pugilism, part track meet?"

Could Make Him Look Bad

"Ellis can make Frazier look very bad, very amateurish at some stages of the fight. But you can't worry about clumsiness. You slow the fellow down any way you can, awkward, missing a lot, getting tied up. Ellis has to be slowed down. When he does, he's beat."

"What about Cassius Clay-Muhammad Ali?"

"Cassius had the greatest depth perception I've ever seen to go with his speed. He could gauge to a quarter of an inch where he would make you miss the punch. However, I don't think he will ever fight again. Also, the kind of skills he had cannot be helped by a 2-year layoff. When your strength is dodging punches you need lots of practice at it."

Restani Scores 22 In Victory

All-Northern California prep center Kevin Restani scored 22 points to lead the Crusaders to a 65-58 win over the Indians in the high school division of the Drake Summer Basketball League at Drake High School yesterday.

Ken Gommeringer had 15 points for the losers.

In other games, the Pirates dumped the Lions, 44-30, behind Kevin Peak's 12 points and Red and Blue whipped the Trojans, 78-33, as Gary Wall scored 15 points for the losers.

Welterweight Fight

SAN JOSE (AP) — Welterweights Roberto Amaya of Argentina and Richard Medano of Austin, Tex., will square off in a 10-round fight in the San Jose Civic Auditorium tonight.

Bolin Finally Wins A Permanent Job

And It's High Time, Says Bob

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bob Bolin has finally won himself a place in the San Francisco Giants' starting rotation and he figures it's high time.

The 30-year old righthander has won 71 games and lost only 53 since he joined the Giants in 1961 but it's been difficult for him to convince San Francisco management that he should start every fourth or fifth day.

However, he joined the starting rotation late last season and won six of his last eight decisions and stretched his current winning streak to three here last night when he went the route to beat San Diego, 5-4.

GO FOR SWEEP

The Giants, now 8-1 against San Diego this year, shoot for a three-game series sweep tonight, sending ace Juan Marichal, 9-3, against Joe Niekro, 3-5.

"We would be in real trouble if it hadn't been for the way Bolin has pitched lately," Giants vice president Charles "Chub" Feeney said after the Giants gained only their sixth victory in the 14 games of a road trip that ends here tonight.

He referred to two big games Bolin won earlier in the trip.

"I've always wanted to start, but Herman never had much faith in me," Bolin said last night in reference to Herman Franks, who quit as manager of the Giants last fall.

"I think this is the first time I've ever had five wins this early in the season. Herman would let me start, once in a while, but I'd have to pitch real well or he'd send me back to the bullpen.

KEPT IN

"One of our starters wasn't going good late last season and he put me in the rotation and left me there. And Clyde has kept me there," he said, referring to current Giant manager Clyde King.

The big righthander allowed 10 hits last night, including run-scoring singles by Clarence Gaston, Larry Stahl, Ed Spiezio and Roberto Pena.

However, San Francisco scored three unearned runs — one on a passed ball and two on a throwing error by third baseman Spiezio — to hand the Padres their fourth straight loss their 23rd defeat in their last 26 starts and their 20th setback in their last 23 home games.

COSTLY

It was a particularly costly loss for the new National League team because rookie catcher-infielder Walt Hriniak was spiked on the right forefinger sliding into second base in the sixth inning. It took five stitches to close the wound and Hriniak, who has been on the disabled list twice this season, will be sidelined for an estimated two weeks.

Bobby Bonds had tthree hits and Ron Hunt had two to set up the runs the Giants scored off lefthanders Dick Kelley and Billy McCool, 2-3. Willie McCovey, who has been murder against San Diego this year, drove in two San Francisco runs and Jack Hiatt collected an RBI with a bases-loaded walk.

Mistakes Against Seattle Prove Very Costly For A's

OAKLAND (AP) — "We should have won the game 1-0," manager Hank Bauer of the Oakland A's declared.

That would seem logical if he were talking about a game his A's lost 2-1 or 3-1. But that was not the case.

The Seattle Pilots clobbered the A's 7-1 last night.

John Odom, 10-3, hurls for Oakland and Marty Pattin, 7-5, pitches for the Pilots tonight in the second of a three-game series.

WILD FIFTH

All seven Seattle runs came in a wild fifth inning on only three hits.

"They shouldn't have scored a run in that inning," Bauer said.

Center fielder Rick Monday dropped a fly ball to open the gates.

Losing pitcher chuck Dobson struck out Seattle hurler Gene Brabender for what would have been the second out but Brabender reached first when the third strike was wild and got by catcher Larry Haney.

"And Monday was playing in too close on John Donaldson," Bauer added. Donaldson, an ex-Oakland players, lashed a triple over Monday's head to drive in two runs.

INSURANCE

That was all Brabender needed, although Don Mincher assured the victory with a three run homer later in the inning.

Donaldson also hit a double against his former teammates.

"I wasn't bitter toward Oakland for trading me," Donaldson said. "I didn't think I was given a chance in spring training but Dick Green had won the second base job from me the year before."

The only run off Brabender was Reggie Jackson's 30th homer of the year—a towering 420-foot blast over the center field fence in the first inning.

"I was trying to pitch him outside and he hit the ball out of the park," Brabender said of Jackson. "After that, I kept the ball inside and got him out."

WILLING

Manager Joe Schultz of the Pilots said he was willing to give Jackson a homer in each game of the series if the Pilots could score seven runs in each.

"Jackson is a good hitter and he's hot," Schultz said. "After Jackson got the homer, Brabender settled down and pitched a good game."

The defeat sliced the A's lead over the second-place Minnesota Twins in the American League West to three percentage points.

Auto Racing Groups Get Closer Together

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club announced an agreement today with the Sports Car Club of America for an interchange of drivers in certain races during the rest of this season.

USAC drivers will be able to compete in SCCA's Canadian-American Challenge Cup and Trans-American events without special permission. SCCA drivers will be eligible for USAC championship and stock car events.

Drivers of both organizations already had been eligible for all USAC and SCCA events listed as international races on the calendar of the world sanctioning body, Federational Internationale de L'Automobile.

The two United States sanctioning groups, which have been talking a possible merger, have agreed to an effort to minimize conflicts between dates of their major races next year.

Billie Jean To Finals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King, seeking a record-tying fourth straight Wimbledon title, and Mrs. Ann Jones of England advanced to the women's singles finals today.

Mrs. King of Long Beach, crushed fellow pro Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-0, in the first semifinal before the tall, English blonde upset Mrs. Margaret Smith Court, a two-time winner from Australia, 10-12, 6-3, 6-2.

MEET FRIDAY

They will meet for the title Friday.

The all American match was so one-sided the crowd of 15,000 on the center court watched it almost in silence. There was only a polite half-hearted round of applause for Mrs. King as she reeled off game after game.

Miss Casals was in the match only occasionally. She won one game, on her service, at 1-3 in the first set, and went to deuce and an advantage point on her next service gang before losing it.

Apart from that she scored three points in the first set and six in the whole of the second. Mrs. King dropped only two points on her service in the entire match.

Mrs. Jones won a two-hour classic.

The long match—the best women's duel of the tournament thus far—had the crowd in a rising state of excitement. Mrs. Court was the No. 1 seed and had previously won the Australian and French titles this year. Her defeat today shattered her dream of the grand slam.

The match swayed back and forth dramatically, with both girls playing smartly and displaying a wide range of strikes.

TOMORROW

The men's semifinals will be played tomorrow. Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., the lone American left with three Australians, will meet Rod Laver, the defending champion and top seed. The other semi matches Tony Roche and John Newcombe.

The men's final will be played Saturday

In men's quarter-finals yesterday, Laver defeated Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3; Tshe beat Bob Lutz of Los Angeles 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5; Roche defeated Clark Graebner of New York City 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 11-9, and Newcombe downed Tom Okker of The Netherlands 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

It's Not Easy Going 190 MPH, Says Yarborough

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Big, blonde Cale Yarborough, the fastest man in the world on a closed circuit race course, tried to explain what it's like to go better than 190 miles an hour.

"It's almost unexplainable," he began. "When you get to 185 the G-forces start working on you and every mile an hour better than that is that much harder."

Going into the 31-degree banks of Daytona International Speedway at 210 to 215 m.p.h. puts a driver under twice the force of gravity, he estimated.

NECK, ARMS

"Just try carrying twice your weight," he said. "It affects your neck and arms more than anywhere. And you're driving all the time in the turns.

The stocky Timmonsville, S.C., veteran of NASCAR's superspeedways once said anyone who could hold his foot to the floor could drive Daytona's 2.5-mile circuit.

"That's not true anymore," he said. "When you come to that first turn at 215 miles an hour it looks like you're coming into a wall."

He and the Wood brothers, mechanics who own and service his 1969 Mercury, were overjoyed at the record 190.706 m.p.h. lap Yarborough used to earn the pole position for Friday's Medal of Honor Firecracker 400.

Leonard Wood credited the new 429-cubic inch engine with the speed to wipe out the record 190.029 m.p.h. David Pearson set in a Ford last February.

Usually summer speeds are a little lower because the asphalt track is sticky. But Cale and his chief rival with the sound-alike name but no kinship, Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C., turned practice laps right at 191 shortly before qualifying began.

SEVEN CYLINDERS

Yarbrough's engine broke a rocker arm as he tried to qualify and he made one lap at 182.090 m.p.h. on seven cylinders—good for ninth starting position.

"I know I could have gone at the record," said a disappointed Lee Roy, "but now we'll have to just go for race day."

Donnie Allison of Hueytown, Ala., took the front row starting spot beside Cale in a Ford off a 187.703 speed.

Ford's also qualified third and fourth—Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., at 186.989 and Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., at 186.636.

Russian To Get Surprise

LOS ANGELES (AP)—American hammer-thrower George Frenn will have an interesting souvenir to show to Russian Romauld Klim when they compete in the USA-USSR-British Commonwealth meet here July 18-19.

It is the hammer Klim, the world record holder, used in winning the event in the USA-USSR meet in Russia in 1965 over America's Ed Burke and Frenn.

Somehow the hammer, apparently discarded at the moment, fell into Burke's hands. But he wanted no part of it and Frenn took it.

"We discovered later it was illegal—too light and the chain about two inches too long," Frenn recalled today.

Frenn said he smuggled the hammer out of Russia to Poland for a meet there, and then eventually to his home in North Hollywood, where he teaches school.

He said he anticipates extreme astonishment when he shows it to Klim during the coming meet.

The American team was virtually set today. The British Commonwealth squad was to be announced during the day and the Soviets' July 4 or 5.

There are two major defections for the U.S., both world record holders. Distance runner Jim Ryun has announced he is through for the season, and yesterday in Houston shot putter Randy Matson disclosed he would skip the triangular affair.

Matson is in the stock brokerage business. He said he plans to attend a 10-week training program for security sales in New York.

"It's tough going to school, studying at night and also trying to train," Matson explained.

500 POUNDS OF POWER

Howard, Powell Lead The Way

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Put Frank Howard and Boog Powell together, and you have something that resembles the Washington Monument or the Creature from the Black Lagoon. Together they stand 12 feet, 11 inches and weigh 500 pounds.

Individually, they're pretty awesome, too.

They certainly were last night, but only Howard came out a winner.

The giant Senator collected a homer and two other hits in each game as Washington swept Cleveland 4-1 and 7-5. One of his other hits in the second game was a ninth-inning single that drove in the decisive run.

Powell, meanwhile, lashed a pair of homers and a pair of singles, knocking in seven runs, but his Baltimore Orioles couldn't hold the lead he gave them, losing instead to the New York Yankees 10-9.

In other American League games, Seattle crushed Oakland 7-1, Minnesota whipped chicago 10-5, Detroit clobbered Boston 12-4 and California trounced Kansas City 9-3.

With his prodigious performance, Howard raised his average to .306 and his homer total to 26.

The 6-foot-7, 260-pound slugger singled in the first inning of the first game, homered in the third and singled in the eighth. In the nightcap he walked in the first, homered in the fifth, doubled in the seventh and singled in the three-run ninth.

Ed Brinkman and Mike Epstein also homered for the Senators in the opener. Tony Horton connected with one on for the Indians in the second contest.

Powell's runs batted in total soared to 70, his homer total to 19 and his average to .303. The 6-4, 240-pounder cracked a two-run homer in the first, a two-run single in the fifth and a three-run homer in the seventh that put the Orioles ahead 9-7.

But Frank Fernandez clouted a three-run Yankee homer in the last of the seventh, leaving Powell a ninth-inning chance to tie the game with another homer. But all he did was single, and the Orioles couldn't bring him around.

Tom Tresh did some bursting of his own for Detroit, lashing two homers, a double and a single and driving in four runs. Jim Northrup also knocked in four runs against Boston.

The White Sox grabbed a 5-0 lead against Minnesota, but the Twins bounced back behind homers by Rich Reese, a pair, and Ted Uhlaender and Leo Cardenas, one each.

California rolled past Kansas City with a five-run rally in the seventh inning. Jim Spencer drove in three Angel runs, two with a double in the seventh.

New Boxing League Gets Under Way

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The International Boxing League wants to pattern the fight game after professional basketball, baseball, football and hockey.

"A boxer who qualifies for a professional team will be put under a contract basis," David Buhler said yesterday. "He will enjoy an insurance program and a pension fund, as in any major league sport."

The IBL formally started operations yesterday with eight cities represented, including Milwaukee, New York, Washington, D.C., Miami, Fla., Chicago, Denver, Colo., Philadelphia and Louisville, Ky.

OTHERS

Plans are being made to include teams from Boston, Minneapolis, Minn., St. Louis, Mo., Detroit, Toronto, Montreal and Mexico City.

Buhler, president of the Milwaukee group, told a news conference the IBL will begin operations this fall on an amateur level. By the fall of 1970, he said, the league will start a professional program to go along with the amateurs.

Boxers in each participating city will compete in elimination matches in order to earn a spot on that city's team. Milwaukee's first set of elimination bouts is tentatively set for Sept. 8 at the arena.

10-YEAR PACT

The league signed a 10-year contract Monday with the Amateur Athletic Union, which grants the IBL the exclusive right to sponsor inter-city league competition.

The AAU also is providing office space in its headquarters for a league representative, Buhler said, so that the two groups can work closely together.

The IBL will sponsor bouts between the Russian and American amateur champions on Oct. 25 at a site still to be chosen. The bouts will be televised by ABC-TV's Wide World of Sports in the United States and via Telstar to Russia.

"We are not out to control amateur boxing," Buhler said. "There will still be a Golden Gloves program and a PAL program. We are willing to help these programs, but we are not out to control them."

TELEVISION

Buhler, a Racine, Wis., businessman, said one of the keys to the success of the professional league will be network television.

The league will run from fall to spring, paralleling the basketball and hockey seasons.

Among other innovations, Buhler said, would be a league draft and possibly minor league affiliations "to insure that a supply of good boxers is always coming up."

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Braves Edge Reds And Clay Carroll

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Luman Harris blew his wad an inning too early, but it didn't prevent the Braves from adding to Clay Carroll's list of disenchantments with Atlanta.

Carroll was the victim of Sonny Jackson's bases-loaded single in the 10th inning last night that gave the Braves a 5-4 victory over Cincinnati.

It was just a little over a year ago that Carroll, who wasn't overly happy as a Brave, was traded by Atlanta to the Reds in a six-man deal.

The 6-foot-1 right-hander has developed into a brilliant reliever this season, winning 11 games, but he's been strictly a dud against his old mates. Three of his four defeats have been to the Braves this season.

Meanwhile, Los Angeles used a three-run inside the park homer by Manny Mota to turn back Houston 4-1 and protect its half-game lead over Atlanta in the National League's tight west Division.

In other N.L. games, upstart Montreal stopped Chicago's East Division leaders for the second straight day, 11-4; St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets, 4-1 and 8-5; Philadelphia extended its winning streak to eight with a 7-4 conquest of Pittsburgh, and San Francisco edged San Diego 5-4.

Carroll came on in the ninth inning and cut off Atlanta's rally after the Braves had tied the game 4-4 on Tito Francona's RBI single.

But, in the 10th, the Braves quickly loaded the bases with none out on a walk to Orlando Cepeda, Clete Boyer's single and an intentional pass to Tony Gonzalez before Jackson's winning blow.

"I was letting everybody hit in the tenth," said Harris, Atlanta's manager, "because I had shot my wad to tie it up in the ninth. We didn't have any pinch hitters."

Starter Jim Merritt blanked the Braves on four hits until they rallied with three runs in the eighth, including two on Hank Aaron's double.

Tony Perez slammed a three-run homer for the Reds in the first inning—his fourth blast in four games.

Mota's inside the park homer snapped a tight pitching duel between the Dodger's Bill Singer, who picked up his tenth victory, and Houston's Denny Lemaster.

With two out and two on in the seventh, Mota sliced a liner to right field that curved away from Norm Miller, who crashed into the box seat railing while making a desperate lunge at the ball.

Miller wasn't hurt, but by the time the ball was relayed to the infield, Mota had circled the bases.

The Astros had taken a 1-0 lead in the fourth on Joe Morgan's ninth homer, but Los Angeles came right back in the bottom of the inning on Wes Parker's RBI double.

Montreal, loser of four in a row until the high-flying Cubs went to Canada, battered ace Ken Holtzman for five runs in the third inning, then chased him during another five-run spree in the next inning.

Colts' Alex Hawkins Ends Grid Career

BALTIMORE (AP) — Alex Hawkins, Captain Who of the Baltimore Colts, ended his 10-year National Football League career yesterday the same way he had spent it on and off the field—with a flourish.

The Colt handyman, a fixture on kickoff and punt-return squads and a defender and backup receiver and runner, announced his retirement from proball at a press conference that turned into a party.

The Hawk, who received a back injury in a game against the Rams last season, gave 10 reasons for quitting football. They included:

—"If Joe Namath doesn't play, neither will I."

—"The Colts can join the American League, but I won't."

—"Peter Rozelle (football commissioner) frowns on unsavory characters, and I don't have a friend who's not one."

—"John Unitas Colt quarterback had to bar me from his restaurant."

Hawkins, who turns 32 today, also said his "bar bills, lawyer's fees, fines and gambling losses" have outstripped his salary.

JACK HANLEY

Gomez Calls Haller 'Very Smart Catcher'

SAN DIEGO—Tom Haller, the ex-Giant who now catches for the Dodgers, has another admirer. He is Preston Gomez, manager of the Padres, San Diego's expansion team.

"Haller," said Gomez, "is a very smart catcher. He knows how to handle a pitching staff. He knows the game. He knows how to get along with men. One day he is going to become as good a manager as he now is a catcher."

WHEN HALLER was still with the Giants, Carl Hubbell used to say he was an "intellectual" behind the plate. Hubbell, a Hall of Fame pitcher who now directs the farm organization of the Giants, never was one to bestow a compliment lightly. He pays tributes only when deserved.

Last year was Haller's first with the Dodgers after a decade with the Giants who signed him in 1958 out of the University of Illinois. The Giants traded Haller Feb. 13, 1968, to the Dodgers for Ron Hunt and Nate Oliver.

Haller's first year with the Dodgers turned out to be his best as a major leaguer. He hit .285 and knocked in 53 runs. His high for the Giants came in their pennant year of 1962 when he hit .261 and drove in 55 runs.

THIS YEAR Haller is hitting .279. That was his average when the Dodgers and Padres concluded a weekend series just before the Giants came into San Diego.

Wayne Lockwood, sports writer of the San Diego Union, interviewed Haller at length and Haller predicted the Dodgers are going all the way this year.

"OUR PITCHING staff is more than sufficient to win the National League championship," Haller told Lockwood. "We have four guys (Bill Singer, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Don Drysdale) who have the potential to throw a shutout every time they go out there.

"That means everything. It means you can play for one or two runs because you know there's a good chance that will be enough to win. It means you can do the little things that win ball games instead of swinging for the fences.

"Sutton, Singer and Osteen all are in position to strike for 20-game seasons. Sutton leads the staff with 11 wins at this early date and Singer and Osteen have nine each.

"THE BIG THING about Sutton and Singer these days is experience. This year they're experienced major league pitchers, not just kids with good promise.

"And now we have Drysdale back. I was awfully pleased when Don was able to go nine innings (last Saturday night against the Padres). This is just like spring training all over again for him. He's not throwing real hard yet but he's making good pitches, putting the ball where he wants it. Big D has come back from his shoulder injury to win three of four starts."

Littler Tops Golf Money Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce Crampton's $12,500 second place check for the Cleveland Open has moved the steady Australian into sixth place among the leading money winners in golf this year.

The 33-year-old Aussie has collected $75,744 for 20 tournaments, the PGA Tournament Players Division announced yesterday. Crampton has not won a tourney this year but has placed in the top five in five tourneys.

Gene Littler, the top earner since early April, picked up $1,045 at Cleveland to boost his pace-setting total to $103,183.

Other leaders include: 2, Gary Player, $89,006; 3, Lee Trevino, $85,521; 4, Billy Casper, $79,521; 5, Dale Douglass, $78,637; 7, Miller Barber, $75,611; 8 George Archer, $74,942; 9, Dave Hill, $73,725, and 10, Bruce Devlin, $69,841.

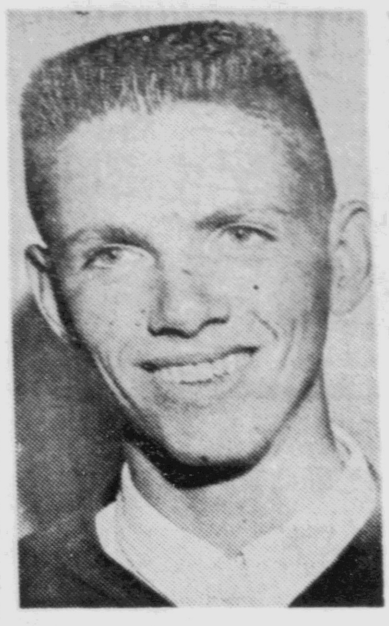
could get sent down just as fast as I came up."

Somewhere along the line, the pace has changed. Lee, used to worry about who's taking care of the bats, is amazed at the jet-pace of travel in the big leagues.

"They fly first-class everywhere," he said. "You get into a bus, and the baggage goes ahead of you. You get on the plane and there's everything you could want to eat or drink and then you're in Cleveland, Washington or Detroit and you get on the bus again and you never even see your bags. It leaves you dizzy. I'm used to a simpler life. At Pittsfield, everybody took care of everything.

Lee is glad to be where he is. If anything is frustrating, it is that feeling that he's not doing enough to help the team.



BILL LEE
As crew-cut prep

"You just pitch up here," he said. "You don't shag fly balls, you don't hit, you just pitch. That's more pressure.

Lee has met most of the Red Sox, including all of the pitchers. Slugger Reggie Smith has taken him "under his wing." He met Carl Yastrzemski who opened jokingly with "You know, I don't like left-handed pitchers too much."

"I told him, 'that's strange. I kind of like them myself!'," Lee said. "We just joked around, but you don't really spend that much time with the rest of the team."

Lee is a rookie now, and he's got that rookie feeling. But he thinks he'll get over it.

"Right now, I'm anxious," he said. "Before, I was scared, but you get over that. You're awed by everything you see, I'm still awed, but I think I can help, too. I want to be a pitcher, not just a thrower. I think I can be."

Crampton Due For Victory

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Bruce Crampton, who hasn't won in this country since 1965, is one of the leading favorites for the rich first-prize in the $120,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament.

It may sound like a paradox—a longtime nonwinner as the favorite—but Crampton's remarkable record and the rather unusual circumstances surrounding this tournament support the argument.

First there's the recent record established by the transplanted Australian. He won over $100,000 last year and has better than $75,000 this year.

He's been second six times since last September and right now appears to be at the top of his game.

Crampton was second to Charles Coody in last week's Cleveland Open, third in the Kemper the week before that, sixth in the U.S. Open the previous week. In fact, he's been in the top 10 nine times this year.

"I've been playing pretty well recently," he admitted after a practice round at the 7,001-yard par 72 Warwick Hills Country Club course, site of the 72-hole event that begins tomorrow.

"It should be just a matter of time before I'm able to break through."

And, too, there's the tournament field. Most of the top names in the game are bypassing the event. Many are in England practicing for next week's British Open.

These include Masters champion George Archer, U.S. Open champ Orville Moody, South African Gary Player, who will be defending his title; Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, Bob Charles of New Zealand and others.

Jack Nicklaus is giving some exhibitions in Scanavia, before comleting in England. Arnold Palmer simply is taking time off. So is Coody.

Harding Gophers Win In Softball

The Harding Gophers nicked Wright's Richfield, 1-0, in a slow pitch division game of the San Rafael Recreation Department's adult softball league at Albert Park last night.

In a C-1 game, Home Market and Cain's Tires fought to a 4-4 tie while Timmer Realty bombed the Patio Club, 17-6, in a C-II game.

JULY-2

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 2, the 183rd day of 1969 with 182 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1776 the Continental Congress formally approved a resolution which became the Declaration of Independence from Britain. The document was signed two days later.

In 1881 President James Garfield was shot by Charles Guiteau in Washington, D.C. Garfield died Sept. 19.

In 1937 American aviatrix Amelia Earhart and co-pilot Frederick Noonan were reported lost over the Pacific. They were never found.

In 1964 President Lyndon B. Johnson signed a new civil rights bill.

A thought for the day: Pierre Corneille once said: "Who is all powerful should fear everything."

A Good Time Was Had By . . .

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Norman Weiler volunteered to take care of the 4-year-old boy next door while his mother was on a shopping trip.

"Let's sit on the front porch and have a good time," she urged.

The boy agreed but soon the inactivity was too much.

"Mrs. Weiler," he asked, "are you having a good time or am I?"

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

Bad Break In Clubs Stumps Most Players, Even Experts

The bad break in clubs stumped most of the experts who encountered it during a national tournament. The situation looks fairly easy when you see it in print because all four hands are visible, but most players find such hands more difficult in actual play.

ONE OF FEW

New York expert Leonard B. Harmon was one of the few experts who had what it takes to make a slam on the hand shown today — namely, an ambitious partner and real skill of his own. Harmon won the first trick with the ace of diamonds, drew three rounds of trumps, and lost a finesse to the king of clubs. East shrewdly retruned a diamond, forcing dummy to ruff.

This was where most players went wrong. They led a club to the jack, discovering the bad break too late. Now only the king of spades remained as an entry to dummy. The long clubs could be established, but they couldn't be cashed.

GUARDS SELF

Harmon saw a way to guard himself against four clubs in the East hand. Instead of leading a club to the jack, he led out dummy's ace of clubs, overtaking his own jack.

West's discard revealed the club break. Harmon therefore led the nine of clubs from dummy, ruffing out East's ten. He could then get back to dummy with the king of spades to lead the eight of clubs and then the rest of the good clubs.

CLUB BREAK

Harmon's plan was likewise sure to work if the clubs broke 3-2. Both opponents would follow suit, and he would ruff the next club. Then he would return to dummy with the king of spades to run the rest of the clubs.

There was no way to guard against four clubs in the West hand, but you can't always have perfect security.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ 7 3
♥ 10 9 3
♦ Q 9 7 4
♣ K 10 6 5

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds.

You have five points in high cards, one point for the doubleton, and one extra point for the queen of partner's bid suit. The total is just barely enough for a raise.

Contract Value

CHICAGO (UPI)—Savings deposits in May made their smallest gain for the month in 10 years, about $560 million, the U.S. Savings & Loan League reports. A year ago the May gain was $757 million, making a drop of 26 per cent. So far this year, however, savings are up at an annual rate of between $6 Billion and $7 billion.

Air Force Contract

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Radiation Inc. a Harris-Intertype Co. subsidiary, has announced receipt of a $2.5 million Air Force contract. The one-year contract extends Radiation's operational and maintenance system services and evaluation of test data in support of missile development and test activities.

HEADS NEW DEPARTMENT— W. Ross Wright, district manager in Novato for Western California Telephone Co. since 1999, will be in charge of governmental affairs, serving as liaison representative between the company and city and county government agencies. His office will be in Novato. He began his telephone career with Western California in 1946.

TWA Sustains Losses In May

NEW YORK (BW) — Trans World Airlines has reported a net loss for the month of May of $1,915,000, equivalent to a loss of 21 cents per share.

Total airline operating revenues fro May were $86,779,000, an increase of $11,075,000, or 14.6 per cent over May 1968, but operating expenses, at $88,584,000, were up 18 per cent over May 1968 expenses of $75,047,000.

Net airline loss for the month was $2,636,000, compared to a loss in May 1968 of $1,322,000. Hilton International Co., a wholly owned subsidiary, reported net earnings for May of $721,000, reducing corporate loss for the month ot $1,915,000. This compared to a net loss in May 1968 of $670,000 equivalent to a loss of 8 cents per share.

Stocks Take Upward Turn, Halting Skid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Traders applied the brakes today to the market's long skid.

The action was long overdue. The market had been declining since around mid-May, with only infrequent pauses since that time. Some strength was attributed to cheerier news on the Vietnam situation exemplified by Secretary of State William Rogers' statement that a continued lull in the fighting could be followed by increased troop withdrawals.

Some issues showed noteworthy gains—IBM, Lionel, Sedco.

Oils generally were firm with Natomas, Phillips, Atlantic Richfield and Texaco good gainers for most of the session.

Chemicals also were firm. Union Carbide, a fractional loser yesterday, was a fractional gainer for most of the session.

Several other electronics issues joined IBM on the uptrack. They included Honeywell, Motorola, Burroughs, Admiral.

Airlines generally were on the plus side, led by KLM and National. Aircrafts were mixed.

Steels also turned mixed, with several issues moving in and out of the plus column. Motors showed no particular trend.

W. R. Grace moved narrowly. The company announced agreement in principle for its acquisition of Marlene Industries. A Monsanto Co. official said the company's second quarter net should jump 10 per cent from a year ago. The stock improved fractionally.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were firm in brisk trading.

Underground Shelters For Businesses Tested

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The Bekins Co. has announced plans for construction of an underground survival shelter to serve major corporations in the event of disaster, according to Daniel P. Bryant, chairman.

Bekins recently signed an option to purchase a 200-acre site for the project near Coalinga, Fresno County, and has let an engineering contract for development of a master plan, which will include preliminary design and cost studies.

Bryant said, "Bekins has received several inquiries concerning security facilities that could provide protection against catastrophes such as a nuclear attack, earthquakes, fires, floods and riots."

He said four years of research has gone into the project and that preliminary consideration is being given to building a large underground structure to provide major corporations with:

A vital information center for storage and retrieval of vital company records and information stored on tape, film or paper.

A computer center capable of duplicating and storing computer data from throughout the United States.

An emergency operating center which would permit a limited number of major corporations to maintain alternate headquarters at the complex. Facilities will include offices and living quarters for up to 1,000 persons to live and work on a fully self-contained basis for as long as 30 days.

Bryant said that the project is under the direction of Joseph C. Raymond, director of Bekins archival services.

In addition to a three-acre underground building the complex would include an airstrip, heliport, large parking areas and recreational facilities. Raymond said that because of its remote location, elaborate communications network and outdoor recreation facilities, the complex could also be used for seminars and top-level management conferences.

The 200-acre site under option to Bekins is the Bull Pine Ranch, 22 miles northwest of Coalinga, approximately half way between Los Angeles and San Francisco in the Diablo mountains. The land is owned by Grant Squire, Hanford cattleman and cotton grower.

Bekins has retained Harold Schlintz and Associates of Fresno to handle the master engineering phase of the proposed project.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Select Right Fund To Fit Your Needs

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a 37-year-old widow with one child. For the last five years, a mutual fund in which I have a systematic withdrawal plan has paid me $100 a month. At present, I am working and can manage without this check which is depleting my capital. Should I sell my shares outright or continue the plan and reinvest my checks? — W. W.

A. Prompt action designed to protect your capital is important.

One of the values of systematic withdrawal plans is their flexibility. Use of these programs has mushroomed — from about 52,000 in 1962 to over 223,000 plans in 1968 — an indication of their value as a supplement to income. In your case, however, your agent should be notified to discontinue the payments until the need for them again arises.

Your fund, until last year, was an outstanding performer in its class. But performance or go-go funds are usually not considered as suitable as income or balanced funds for use under a withdrawal program. While in a rising market this group tends to make up monthly withdrawals by rapid capital growth, in a declining market problems such as you have encountered are not unusual.

Until you once again need extra income I would allow the fund to rebuild through reinvestment of all distributions. When the time arises for a withdrawal plan, exchange of these shares for the growth-income fund offered by the same management can be arranged for a minimal fee.

Q. Would you advise selling Western Union, in view of its recent price move? — J. D.

A. Not only have shares scored a three-month 45 per cent rise, but in the face of a sharp market sell-off and the sale of 1.3 million additional shares they have retained all but 10 per cent of that gain. This strong technical action reflects investor confidence in the future of private data transmission. Acquisition of AT&T's TWX system, which is being studied, would add $72 million to annual revenues. First-quarter earnings per share were 71 cents up from 38 cents in 1968. Hold.

Clampdown Needed On Boo-Boos In Building

Waste and overspending is a perennial disease that afflicts all government levels from federal to local.

Even before an Air Force efficiency expert sounded a warning on overspending and touched off Congressional demands for tighter control over defense spending, the Marin County Board of Supervisors asked for a detailed summary of various boo-boos made thus far on the buildings at the Marin County Civic Center.

The scale of the alleged waste and overspending is different, but the principle is the same.

Compared with the Pentagon's huge projects strung the world over, the job of overseeing the county's building programs should be relatively simple since they are concentrated in three main buildings — the existing Administration Building, the new Hall of Justice, and the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

The now famous leaks from the plastic covering over the roof of the Administration Building have been a source of irritation and embarrassment for six or seven years.

A new type of plastic dome plus special expandable concrete used in the new Hall of Justice will, hopefully, correct the flaw.

BUT A SERIES of other irksome defects that keep cropping up prompted the new board of supervisors to demand a listing of what Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. described as architectural "mistakes."

Diffused lighting in the library proved so diffused that patrons would go blind trying to read among the stacks.

The entrances to the new Hall of Justice are designed with huge glass panes that appear to be more decorative than practical. Replacement value for one large pane runs something close to a thousand dollars, and the supervisors reluctantly took out a $3,000 insurance on about 10 of these panes.

Cost of replacing broken glass is not the only concern. The supervisors contemplated in horror the possibility that heavy sheets of glass, if broken, could slice down on persons who might be walking below.

Cell bunks in the new, television-equipped county jail turned out to be smaller than standard size so that special mattresses had to be ordered from the Department of Corrections.

Change-orders, accompanied by requests for more funds, come parading in for supervisors' approval almost weekly.

AND IN ALMOST every instance, blame for the "mistakes" or poor judgment cannot be pinned down. The designer blames the contractor, and vice versa. Invariably, the county and its taxpayers wind up holding the bag.

The library lighting was so obviously inadequate that the supervisors will charge the remodeling cost to the architect.

Along with an accounting of errors committed thus far, we hope the county can begin pinpointing some of the responsibility so that the cost of correction can be assessed to those responsible.

Vote To Prohibit Cigarette Ads May Be Aimed At Press Media

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The vote of the state senate to ban all cigarette advertising in California through approval of SB 341, by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, by a vote of 28-7, was surprising, to say the least.

The measure had nothing to do with the smoking of cigarettes, but put an over-all ban on advertising cigarettes in public media, including newspapers, television, radio, and bill-boards as well as in any other form of advertising.

The vote was surprising in that many senators who normally are against writing restrictions on the business methods of the free enterprise system cast an aye vote for the measure, and this caused a lot of speculation that the move was a retaliatory measure against the news media which derives revenue from cigarette advertising.

SOME SENATORS are irked at the press, radio and television media because of stories which have appeared recently presenting certain solons in an unfavorable light in matters of conflict of interest, and conceivably, this attitude could have resulted in the favorable vote the Beilenson measure received.

But of course, none of this appeared in the more than an hour debate on the senate floor. However, representatives of the tobacco industry felt this resentment was a major factor in passage of the bill.

Originally, SB 341 applied to all tobacco advertising, including cigars, pipe tobacco, snuff, etc. Everything was amended out of the measure on the grounds other tobacco products were not as harmful as cigarettes.

BEILENSON'S argument was to the effect that the cigarette advertising was primarily harmful to the youth of the state, for the reason it enticed some 4,000 young people a day to take up smoking, and that heavy smoking would take as much as eight years off a person's life if he or she pursued the habit.

The Beverly Hills senator, however, admitted it is each individual's prerogative to smoke if he wishes to, and that his bill contained no anti-smoking ban.

THE HOUR-LONG debate was ludicrous in part, proponents arguing that many countries, including England, prohibited such advertising, while opponents said so do Russia and Red china. Sen. John Schmitz, R-Tustin, pointed out that George Washington, whose portrait hangs in the senate chamber and is revered by the members, was the largest tobacco planter in Virginia.

Schmitz, however, in a serious vein, argued that if advertising is prohibited by law in any specific field, it can be applied to another as well on health grounds, such as coffee.

"It all adds up," he declared, "to a totalitarian state."

CIGARETTES ARE a legal product, it was pointed out, and until they are made illegal, the legislature has no business in interfering with advertising them for sale.

The question of constitutionality was not brought up, but it is a fact that such a measure might be unconstituional, in that the ban applies only to cigarettes, and not to other tobacco. Therefore, treating one portion of an industry different from another could be illegal.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A suspicious lady accosted a drug store clerk to demand, "Is it true that the new hair restorer you're pushing is guaranteed to work in 24 hours?" "Positively, ma'am," nodded the clerk, "and we can prove it. See that fat female over at the soda fountain? Yesterday afternoon she pulled the cork out of one of our bottles with her teeth, and when she woke up this morning she had a mustache!"

You probably have heard of the bank clerk in an austere New England institution who answered the telephone one morning and bellowed, "No, no, no. NO. No. Yes. No. No, no," — and hung up. When his boss rasped, "What do you mean saying yes to that upstart?" the clerk explained, "I had to. He asked if I could hear him."

An on-the-job publicity man for one of the major film studios set up a curious exhibition in Paris of a series of fake paintings that had been used for a multi-million-dollar "epic." Unfortunately, only twenty-four hours before the widely advertised exhibit was scheduled to open, not one of the fake paintings had turned up.

"What shall I do?" the Paris man long-distanced to the studio.

"There's been a tie-up on the docks," he was told. "Use your head, man! Dig up the originals. Nobody'll know the difference!"

More Credit Due Ambulance Crews

As regards a "news article?" entitled "Firemen Revive a 4-Year-Old" which appeared on June 23. Said article stating that firemen had not only revived the boy but that they had administered oxygen to him while enroute to the hospital.

This is not only untrue; it is so far from the truth that it is almost laughable . . . Firemen are not allowed to administer oxygen in any of our ambulances and are allowed to ride in the patient compartment only on rare occasions. The resuscitator presently used by the fire department in question is of little or no benefit to anyone; providing presently accepted methods of cardio-pulmonary-resuscitation are used, which they rarely are in cases of this type.

Often we see an article . . . reporting that an ambulance took nearly 20 minutes to reach the scene of a relatively minor occurence . . . Rarely mentioned is that the ambulance crews normally manage to do an excellent job despite the efforts of over-zealous bystanders, patient's relatives, firemen and other well-meaning but relatively untrained persons.

Enclosed you will find a copy of a request for a formal commendation to be issued to the ambulance crew mentioned in the above incident . . .

Halt 'Monstrosity' At Tam Creek

. . . Mental laziness is a drag to progress; and it breeds the mediocrity of improper hearings and concrete solution to flood control. . . .

What degree of accomplishment is a trip to the moon, if at the same time on the local scene the military is pouring concrete into meandering streams, and wistful citizens murmur about why didn't somebody do something sooner?

Many other communities have worked long and hard to investigate other solutions. They have not seen fit to swallow the Army line — hook, line and sinker. They will have bike trails and mini-parks, open streams and flood control, flood plains or drainage sewers, and they'll have people and trees. . . .

Marin County will have flood control: Army style, durable, stark, eternal, slippery and so dangerous to children it must be fenced.

Mr. Peter Arrigoni, thanks for your sincere efforts and honest searching! Yours has been a tough job. You have dared to investigate the bundle tied so tightly by the Corps of Army Engineers. Your associates have out-numbered you and have put the County in a very tenuous position (I think). Even worse, on Tam Creek they have voted to have my tax money in Zone 9 put towards a monstrosity, which I don't want and which is a useless extravagance (ask any doctor of hydraulic engineering at U.C.).

Flood control, of course it's needed; but bad design and expensive overkill is just plain dumb. We have been trying to help the County avoid a catastrophe. Today (June 24) the Board of Supervisors postponed until July 8 at 1:45 p.m. the hearing on Corte Madera Creek. Will you be there? Will Marinites show by the head count at that meeting that beauty is important to life in Marin?

Additional Facts On Cascade Dam

Readers of your recent comments about events involving Cascade Dam might be interested in some additional facts.

The meeting of June 19, with the mayor and chief of police, was requested a couple of weeks earlier by the residents of the Cascade Dam area, well before the tragic drowning on June 18. It had nothing whatever to do with the school district and I was present only because I happen to live in the area, not because I am a member-elect of the school board.

Apart from the fire hazard, the Cascade Dam problems (principally traffic congestion and noise) directly affect perhaps 25 households. The purpose of the meeting was to exchange views informally with our mayor and whatever other city officials he invited about those problems and ways in which they might be alleviated.

Our concensus, expressed at the meeting, was that we should try first to find solutions that would not reqire the enactment of additional ordinances. Primarily, our concern here was in preserving the natural state of the reservoir and in not hindering acess by Mill Valley residents any more than absolutely necessary.

Secondarily, we hoped there would be a minimum of publicity because there was evidence that publicity last summer had added to our difficulties by attracting people to the area, most of whom, apparently, were from outside Mill Valley. . . .

Since the residents were concerned about the possible adverse effects if our meeting should be widely publicized, I voiced that concern to the mayor and the news reporters present. I asked them, as a personal courtesy (meaning to the Cascade residents, as I am sure most everyone understood), that our meeting be given no more publicity than necessary. Considering the tenor and circumstances of the meeting, I thought this a reasonable request, and I still do.

Obviously, however, it would have been better judgment not to have made it. While I fully appreciated that the right to decide what coverage to give the meeting was solely that of the papers (I would have it no other way), and I admitted my lack of any such right, it did not occur to me that by expressing this sincere and well-founded concern of the residents I might be responsible for moving a news item of limited interest to the front pages and precipitating the very publicity we hoped to avoid.

As a newcomer to public office and the ways of the press, I clearly have a lot to learn. As a strong believer in the principles of the Brown Act and the concept that action by public bodies should be taken only in open meeting after public discussion, the repercussions of our attempt to have an informal talk with our mayor are embarrassing. More importantly, however, some members of the school district community may have received the impression from your editorials that I run around trying to "suppress" news. To them I apologize. I do not, and would not do any such thing. The idea is completely abhorrent to me. . . .

If only I were affected, I would have taken my lumps and perhaps not written you at all. As it is, while I can stand the consequences, I am not sure my lovely neighborhood can. My neighbors asked me to join with them in trying to find just workable solutions to our common problems with the idea that I might be able to contribute something constructive. In my naivete, I let them down. Thanks to the publicity, the number of people visiting the area may well increase. If that should happen, my friends and neighbors will suffer for something for which I, alone, am responsible. I hope they will forgive me.

Russ Seek American Support In Stabilizing Southeast Asia

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There's a fascinating new development stirring in U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations.

Moscow is taking a major diplomatic initiative which could result in an American-Soviet arrangement to keep the peace in Southeast Asia.

The Soviet government is not yet formally approaching the United States. That would not be the way it would do it. At this point it is simply floating an idea to all the Asian non-Communist nations at a very high diplomatic level.

The first public disclosure that the Soviets were moving along these lines came at the opening of the recent summit conference of Communist parties in Moscow when Soviet Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev dropped this seemingly irrelevant sentence into the middle of a party pep talk:

"The course of events is putting on the agenda the task of creating a system of collective security in Asia."

At the time, this attracted little attention, and at first looked to be a device to turn attention away from embarrassing matters like the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

It is proving to be far more than that, and U.S. officials are watching its evolution with great interest.

TO ILLUSTRATE the importance the Kremlin attaches to promoting this idea:

It called to Moscow its ambassadors in Asia for explanation.

It sent a career deputy foreign minister to meet with officials throughout Asia.

It dispatched trade-and-aid missions to expand its economic and diplomatic contacts from Iran to Japan.

It should be understood that this Soviet project is now only tenuous and exploratory. The Soviets don't mention the United States in discussing it with the Indians or the Japanese or other Asians. But it is evident that the Soviet concept of "Asian collective security" is not directed against the United States, and the Soviet diplomats are being made aware that few, if any, of the non-Communist Asian nations would accept such an arrangment without American participation.

ONE THING is clear. The overriding Soviet interest in "creating a system of collective security in Asia" is the escalating Sino-Soviet conflict.

As seen from Moscow, Red China could not be more offensive. The Chinese are now describing the Soviet leaders not just as deserters and destroyers of Communists but as "today's czars and imperialists."

It is unlikely that either side wants war, but there is a continual escalation of mutual suspicion, and it is clear that in no time in Russian history has Moscow felt such acute concern over its sprawling, populous, nuclear-armed Eastern neighbor. And on top of all the other lacerations, there is the historical racial animosity between the two softened by nothing.

THE SOVIETS would not be talking about collective security in Asia if it were not in their national interest. It is. They need Asian economic stability; they lost $3 billion in aid to Indonesia because of Sukarno's instability. They need Asian political stability to prevent Communist Chinese expansion by force or subversion, which would endanger Russia.

The United States would not be open to this Soviet initiative if it weren't in our national interest. It is. Every trip we have made to the Western Pacific has convinced us that there can be no secure peace in Asia unless it is guaranteed jointly, either by tacit agreement or by treaty, by both the United States and the Soviet Union.

If such an arrangement can be reached in the visible future —it will not come rapidly —there would be little danger of serious war in Asia.

In this area, on this issue and at this time our interests are parallel.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

British Sell To Arabs But No Tanks To Israel

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The British Labor government has quietly joined France in imposing a drum-tight arms embargo against Israel.

While saying nothing about this publicly, the Wilson regime is following the "De Gaulle policy" in every respect. Like the French, although barring weapons to Israel, the British are selling them to Arabs.

A considerable number of Britain's new main battle tank, the Chieftain, have been sold to Kuwait and Libya.

London's secret adoption of a discriminatory arms ban against Israel came to light during the recent visit of Premier Golda Meir.

A principal purpose of her trip was to place an order for a large number of Chieftain tanks.

But when Mrs. Meir broached the subject with British officials, they turned her down.

ALTHOUGH BRITAIN is sorely in need of increased exports and is openly selling tanks and other military hardware to the Arabs, Mrs. Meir's offer of a big Chieftain order was declined.

This rejection was doubly jarring because it not only was wholly unexpected but a complete about-face.

Early this ear, the Wilson government gave every indication of being eager to sell Chieftain tanks to Israel. Several were readily sold to Israel for testing in the desert preliminary to placing a sizable order if they proved satisfactory. They did, and Mrs. Meir was set to give that order.

The Labor regime's explanation for its backstage flip-flop was patently spurious and hypocritical.

Mrs. Meir was told she was being rebuffed because Britain did not want to do anything that might impair the Four Power deliberations in working out a peace formula for the Middle East. Yet while professing this lofty aim, the British made no attempt to deny they were selling Chieftain tanks to the Arabs.

Also, it was intimated to Mrs. Meir that the Labor government might again reverse itself and make its late-model tanks available to Israel if the latter made certain concessions to the Big Four.

These hints were indignantly spurned by the Israeli premier.

THE NEW Pompidou regime has made no change in France's pro-Arab Middle East stance.

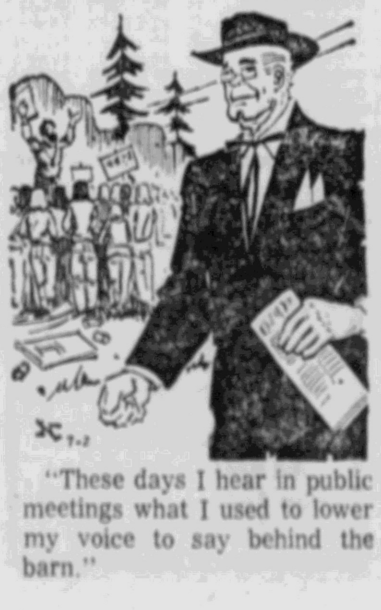
Still adhering to the De Gaulle policy, France is covertly selling arms and munitions to Egypt, Lebanon and Iraq. With Britain now quietly following the same course, Israel in effect has been shut out of the major European weapons market.

The only important arms it is acquiring are the 50 F-4 Phantom supersonic fighter-bombers it has bought from the U.S. Their delivery will start late this year.

Sweden, which talks a lot about peace and is an open-armed sanctuary for U.S. military deserters and Vietnam defectors, has developed a highly lucrative armaments industry.

Its latest "big ticket" item is a double-delta wing jet fighter called the Viggen (Thunderbolt). A completely Swedish product, the plane has twice the speed of sound and compares favorably with the U.S. Phantom, the Soviet MIG-21 and the French Mirage.

COUNTRY PARSON



"These days I hear in public meetings what I used to lower my voice to say behind the barn."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

Alice Parsons, The Sea Lion, Is Looking For A Boy Friend

This item more properly belongs on the society page or in the want ads but since this is the space reserved for this column, you'll just have to read it here.

Alice Parsons needs help.

Alice Parsons needs a male.

Alice Parsons' spirit, if those of you who know Alice's past will excuse that choice of words, is sagging.

For those of you who don't know about her past, well, that's something else you'll just have to read here.

Alice is probably about the most famous sea lion in all of the world. At least she is the most famous sea lion in all of Marin which professional Marinites consider to be almost all of the world.

ALICE LIVES at the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

She came there three years ago from Santa Cruz which is where the original Alice Parsons, a human, lived and died. Somehow the bill of lading that should have been with the Mississippi-bound remains of the human Alice Parsons wound up on the shipping crate of the then-unnamed sea lion.

So the museum named the sea lion Alice Parsons. Then, a Reno casino dealer who was the niece of the human Alice Parsons appeared on the scene and announced that she was convinced that her aunt's soul had trans-migrated to the body of the sea lion. (That explains that spirit remark.)

And, although she hasn't been there lately, the niece used to visit the museum to chat with "Aunt Alice."

BUT ANYWAY, that's not the point of this item. That all happened when Alice was a mere pup.

She is now a healthy, mature female sea lion and healthy, mature sea lions need the companionship of healthy mature sea lions of the opposite sex. Boy sea lions, to put it in the terms that Alice's soulful barkings these days seem to express.

"It's perfectly natural," says museum director Paul Maxwell. "Alice wants sex," says his bubbly wife Gay.

"It takes money," say both. Since the museum is not exactly overburdened with money, the Maxwells have notices out all over the place alerting fish companies and the like of Alice's plight. They're hoping someone maybe will pick up a healthy, young male sea lion somewhere and bring him to Alice.

THERE'S EVEN a sign up at the museum saying, rather plaintively, we think, that a purse is needed "for Alice, poor Alice."

Gay Maxwell said Alice's yearning for companionship explains her penchant for trying to escape into the San Rafael Canal.

The sign says: "Did you know that she wears the fur off her tummy because the edge of her pool is too rough? That her pool needs re-doing? That a slide would do wonders for her seal appeal? That she's lonely and needs a mate — someone young and sleek?"

This is getting entirely too sad so if anyone out there has a young male sea lion he wants to get rid of, call the Maxwells and they will be delighted to introduce him to a very nice, and very lonely, lady.

INCIDENTALLY, the museum also needs mates for its peacock, bobcat, mountain lion and Teddy the bear. Gay Maxwell says, however, that if Teddy gets a mate, he'll have to get a new cage too because "a lady Teddy wouldn't fit" in his present one. "One good domestic quarrel would ruin it," Paul Maxwell said.

Oh yes, they need a girl gibbon too. They thought they had one the other day from a nice lady named Mrs. Margaret Gibbon (no kidding) of Corte Madera but it turned out to be a boy too.

Now that all that social news is out of the way, we have a question for whichever bureaucrat is in charge of parking meters in San Rafael: How come if there's a sign on your meters in front of Bank of Marin saying there's a one-hour limit, the bandit has both a meter and coin slot for two hours? We just wondered.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Never-Ending Demands For State Subventions

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The matter of state aid to California public schools for the new fiscal year is tied up in legislative debates over rival tax reform plans, but two things about it are predictable.

First: The amount will be greater than ever before.

Second: It will not be enough to satisfy the districts.

State subventions to the school districts have increased every year for a long time. But despite the steady increase, the districts insist more loudly each year that the state is not paying its proper share.

Just how much the state puts into the public schools, and where it goes, is shown by statistical tables in "Educational Finance in California," published by the California Taxpayers Association.

It shows that state expenditures for public education (kindergarten through junior college) in the fiscal year just closed were 208 per cent of those in 1959-60.

BY WAY OF comparison, health and welfare — often cited as the most rapidly escalating cost of government — in this fiscal year totaled 324 per cent of the 1959-60 figure. And corrections — the penal system for those whom neither education nor welfare has kept on the straight and narrow path — cost 257 per cent of the 1959-60 figure. Most categories of state expenditure showed much lesser increases.

The California Taxpayers Association estimated state expenditure for the public schools in the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled $1,527,318,732, compared to $726,415,308 in fiscal 1959-60.

During the same period, federal funds distributed to California public schools leaped from $19,070,670 to $144,686,349 — or nearly eight times the earlier figure.

And during the same period, taxes collected by California school districts more than doubled, rising from $948,461,632 to $1,936,196,180.

Yet the enrollment increase in the public schools was only 41 per cent.

WHAT HAPPENED?

Part of what happened is indicated by the outlays for new educational programs that did not exist in 1960: Instructional television, elementary reading specialists, mathematics improvement program, training teachers for physically handicapped, subventions to public and school libraries. Biggest outlay for any new program was $104,387,106 for compensatory education, of which nine-tenths came from the federal government.

Nearly all of these programs require local funds to supplement the state and/or federal money. A school district adopts a program because "the state will pay most of the cost" — but the cost to the district keeps rising.

MANY SCHOOL administrators and trustees contend that the state should bear half the financial burden of the public schools. The California Taxpayers Association's figures show that in 1966-67 the state's share was 38 per cent.

State funds, however, are based on enrollment. In a district that spends $2,000 per pupil to run its schools, the state's percentage will be only half as great as in a district that holds per-pupil cost to $1,000 (give or take a little because of the complicated "equalization" formulas). For the state to guarantee a certain percentage, rather than so many dollars per pupil, would thus be an open invitation for more lavish spending.

Meanwhile, elections to increase school district tax rate ceilings fail in ever-increasing numbers. And that is just another reason why, no matter how much the state winds up granting the schools in this year's version of "tax reform," it won't be enough to satisfy the school districts.

Hearing Set On Zoning Problem

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will hold a public hearing at its 8 p.m. meeting Monday to discuss possible changes in uses permitted in a C-1, or commercial, district.

Since this is an age where neighborhood stores are dying out, the commission believes there may be a need for other uses for such buildings, public works secretary Thelma Foster reported. C-1 zoning now allows for such uses as groceries, beauty parlors and barber shops.

Use permit applications will be sought by Michael Considine and F. M. Gelardi to serve alcoholic beverages at their proposed Lion's Share restaurant at 60 Red Hill Avenue and by Subud California for a church at 1405 San Anselmo Avenue.

24 Strep Cases During Last Week

Twenty-four cases of streptococcus infections were reported last week in Marin County by Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. Also reported were three salmonella cases, three infectious hepatitis cases and one case of mumps.

Youth To Attend National Key Club Convention

Lee Harris, lieutenant governor of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Key Club International, will attend the 26th annual convention of Key Club International Sunday through next Wednesday in Miami Beach.

Harris, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson S. Harris Jr. of 153 Robinhood Drive, San Rafael, will serve as president of the San Rafael High School student body during the fall semester and is also active in the county Youth Commission formation efforts.

Harris is a counselor at the Jewish Community Center and an honor student at San Rafael High. A debater, he is a member of the National Forensic League and has appeared before the state Assembly on lowering the voting age.

His trip to the convention is sponsored by the San Rafael Kiwanis Club, which also sponsors Key Club.

Session Tonight

Officers will be elected at the organizational meeting of the Dixie School District board today at 8:30 p.m. at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda, a group spokesman has announced.

ENTERPRISE HOME FROM THE WAR

The 90,000-ton, nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise rivaled the Golden Gate Bridge in sheer enormity as it eased into San Francisco Bay this morning following a 31-day combat tour off Vietnam. Most of the ship's 5,800 crew members who were not on duty manned the edge of the flattop's huge flight deck to wave at well-wishers lining the span railing. A 150-foot banner reading "Welcome Home, Big E" was unfurled as the carrier drew close and passed under the bridge, with only yards to spare. The ship's relatively short combat tour, its fourth off Vietnam, was caused by a delay in reaching the Far East when an explosion and fire which killed 28 men occurred Jan. 14. The Enterprise will remain at Alameda Naval Air Station until July 14. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Bagley Set To Abandon Withholding

Hopes Compromise Tax Bill Will Speed Budget

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill to withhold state income taxes from all payroll checks, one of the hottest potatoes before the Legislature, is about to be dropped by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, in a try to get a new state budget.

Dropping the measure would cut $135 million a year out of the $308 million in increased school aid proposed by a bipartisan group of six Assemblymen, "but if it will help put together a meaningful tax package, so be it," said Bagley.

COSTLY MOVE

Dropping it also would lose $590 million in the first year of withholding, when the state could collect for the prior year and for part of the current year.

The $1 billion tax reform program proposed last month by the six-man subcommittee, chaired by Bagley, has been in "suspended animation" since the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee voted instead to endorse Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax package, Bagley said. The governor's package, which does not provide for mandatory withholding — adamantly opposed by Ragan — now is to be heard by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Asked why he joined Democrats and conservative Republicans in the revenue and taxation committee's vote to endorse the governor's package, which he later said had serious defects, Bagley said he did so with disdain, because, "there was no way I could hold the bills for refinement," he said.

VETO THREAT

Noting that Assembly Democrats had argued the bipartisan package was doomed because its withholding provision would draw a veto from the governor, Bagley said that dropping the withholding provision would remove this objection to the bipartisan package.

Bagley added that he hoped this might break the impasse over the budget. Democrats have demanded that the Assembly vote on a tax reform package before passing the budget, and withholding has been a major stumbling block.

GOP Flays Unruh Stall On Budget

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO — Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan accused lower house Democratic leader Jesse M. Unruh today of "trying to obtain cheap personal publicity for his campaign for governor" by blockading the state budget.

Monagan joined Republican Senate President pro tem Howard Way in sharply attacking Unruh, expected to challenge Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan next year. Monagan and Way appeared at a news conference held amid a deepening state fiscal crisis.

With California in its second day without legal authorization to spend money, Republicans and Democrats showed no signs of budging in the fight that forced the state to begin a new fiscal year yesterday without an appropriations bill.

"We have seen the putting of personal ambitions and personal views ahead of the people," Way said when asked if he agreed with Monagan's assessment of Unruh.

Monagan said "I can't help but feel that it has hurt" Unruh's chances for winning the governorship next year. "I think it is useless to speculate on that," Unruh said.

"It has given him a great amount of cheap publicity," Monagan said. "But I have faith in the people and they realize he is just seeking notoriety."

As Monagan spoke, state agencies were feeling the pinch of an unprecedented situation where some of them lacked even the ready cash to buy postage stamps. Prisons and mental hospitals arranged to buy their eggs, milk and meat on credit. "This is just exactly

The Great Fire In Mill Valley Recalled

By ANNE BARDWELL

Forty years ago today the great Mill Valley fire swept through town leaving 130 charred homes and the ashy remains of uncounted acres of mountain scenery in its wake.

Even today, oldtimers talk of The Fire with an awe similar to that expressed by San Franciscans who experienced the 1906 earthquake and fire.

The fire's 40th anniversary is getting more attention than normally would be expected because of recent discussions by residents of a possible repeat of the disaster which swept the city on July 2, 1929.

Increased use of the Cascade Reservoir area by young people as a swimming and camping area has heightened residents' fears of fire in the heavily wooded canyon areas at the base of Mount Tamalpais.

If a fire started in the back of Cascade Canyon, there would be no stopping it until it reached downtown, residents say. Outside of the reservoir, there is no water for firefighting in the canyon and roads are narrow and easily blocked to fire trucks.

Ironically, much of Cascade Canyon, the area of greatest fire fear today, was comparatively untouched by the great fire which broke out, it's believed, when a passenger on the old Mount Tamalpais narrow gauge railroad tossed a lighted cigarette out of a train window into the dry underbrush on the slopes of Mount Tamalpais.

The fire began as a small wisp of smoke up behind the Garden of Allah in the back reaches of Blithedale Canyon, remembers Jean Barnard of 1 El Capitan, whose family owned the famous estate before it was converted into the Ralston White retreat some years back.

Mrs. Barnard, just a young girl at the time recalls the fire vividly, particularly since it reduced her grandmother's home at 309 Tamalpais Avenue to a pile of charred timbers in a matter of minutes.

"The fire came roaring up the middle ridge (between Blithedale and Cascade Canyons) and in 15 minutes the only thing left of the house was the stone fireplace," Mrs. Barnard remembers.

The fireplace still stands today, part of the home of Laurence M. Symmes Jr., Mrs. Barnard's brother, who built a new home on his grandmother's property.

"No one really could believe their house would burn," Mrs. Barnard says. An uncle, she remembers, spilled ink while rescuing furniture. "He stopped, with the fire coming up the hill, took off his shirt and wiped up the ink. Imagine! It didn't make any difference, of course, because the ink and everything else was ashes within a few minutes."

The fire burned for three days

McGovern In Secret Paris Hanoi Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern disclosed today he met in secret for 10 hours in May with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong negotiators in Paris.

He said he came away convinced that progress in the peace talks is impossible until the United States starts "the systematic withdrawal of all our forces," and stops unqualified support of the Thieu government.

He said the other side would respond quickly to ease off their military pressure if the United States changed strategy and withdrew troops.

The South Dakota Democrat, a long-time critic of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, disclosed his meeting and its details in a prepared Senate speech and in a briefing for newsmen.

He said he discussed the plan in advance with chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge, who he said agreed "it might be helpful." He added he reported at length on his return to the State Department and to Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Richard M. Nixon's national security adviser. He said he has seen no change in the administration's attitude.

He emphasized that he told the North Vietnamese he had no authority to speak for the United States but was interested, as a senator and private citizen, in asking questions. Most of the sessions, he said, were devoted to his interrogation of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

"I am certain," he went on, "that we should now notify Saigon, Hanoi, the NLF and other interested parties that we are definitely moving out all of our forces and that the only consideration on the speed of the withdrawal will be the safety of our men.

Rogers Is Optimistic About Viet War Lull

WASHINGTON (AP) —Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today that battle activity in Vietnam in the last week may have dropped to the lowest level of the war and he indicated this could increase U.S. troop withdrawals if the lull continues.

Rogers also told a news conference that "we know pretty conclusively" that the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam has declined in the last two or three months but the reason for this is not clear.

Rogers cautioned that the reason for the battlefield lull is not yet quiet clear either, saying more time would be required to decide whether it was politically significant.

He said, however, that "we hope this is a response to the announcement by President Richard M. Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam at Midway." The Midway announcement June 8 disclosed Nixon's decision to withdraw 25,000 American troops by the end of August.

One question asked Rogers was whether the United States would react to the lower level of combat now apparent, assuming that it proved to be significant.

He recalled that one of President Nixon's stated criteria for withdrawing forces from Vietnam was the level of enemy military activity in the field.

Rogers was questioned about whether the Nixon administration was studying proposals for a cease-fire in Vietnam. He said a cease-fire did not appear to be practical in the absence of an agreement on troop withdrawal on both sides which, he argued, would automatically lower the level of combat.

$8.15 Million Loss Faces Marin, S. Sonoma Schools

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — Governor Ronald Reagan's tax reform proposal would slash $8,146,504 from school district budgets in Marin and Southern Sonoma, and a 60 per cent approval by the voters would be needed in special tax elections to replace the lost funds.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who released the figures yesterday, said that 501 of some 1,200 school districts in the state also would have deep cuts made in their funds.

The cuts would be forced because the governor's tax proposal limits each taxpayer's total property tax for education to a maximum of $1.10 per $100 assessed valuation. Tax revenue from this levy then would be shared among all the school districts in which the taxpayer resides.

Fifty cents would be allowed on the tax rate for kindergarten through sixth grade, 7 cents for each grade from seventh to 12th, 4 cents for high school districts maintaining classes for adults, and 14 cents for junior college districts.

Thus, for example, a Sausalito homeowner would pay a rate of 64 cents to the Sausalito Elementary School District, 32 cents to the Tamalpais Union

Nightlong Efforts Get Fair Ready

Orchids and begonias, some of the most fragile of flowers in the Marin Art and Garden Fair which opens at 6 p.m. today in Ross, were put into place during last night. (See art review, page 10, and photos, page 21).

Many exhibitors worked all night to put everything into place by 8 a.m. when the judges began their judging.

From 8 a.m. to noon today the judges reigned supreme at the quiet fairgrounds. Exhibitors were verboten, and, if found, their gardens would be disqualified.

Cut flowers and vegetables, which arrived yesterday, were also judged today. Judging results will be announced tomorrow.

The art show on display in the Frances Young Gallery has already been judged as well as the photography show located in the barn.

The arrival of the Fun Fair tied up traffic yesterday on Laurel Grove Avenue during the unloading of the ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other children's rides.

The fair is open from 6 to 10

The other victim of the pool accident, Nika Carter, 2, died Monday at Marin General.

Enemy Attacks In South Vietnam Drop; Attitude Of Wait And See

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy attacks in South Vietnam "are almost down to nothing," an American source reported today.

Military officials said attacks have dropped to one of the lowest levels of the year, but added that infiltration from North Vietnam is keeping enemy forces up to strength.

"For reasons unknown," one source said, "the enemy has decreased his actions. They are almost down to nothing. They are not launching any sizable attacks."

The source noted that "attacks have gone down in the past. Whether we're in a valley between a couple of peaks, I don't know yet. We'll have to wait and see. There is a sprinkling of reports indicating possibly another surge of enemy attacks rather soon, but this is not firm,."

Ranking officers said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are waging the war almost solely for political goals now and are correlating their military objectives with their goals at the peace talks in Paris.

Military analysts cited a Communist Command policy directive, captured last month, warning subordinate commands not to assume that the summer campaign will be decisive. It admitted that it would be impossible to annihilate the entire American and South Vietnamese force, the analysts said.

The U.S. Command said ground fighting was light and scattered today, and there were only seven enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night —the lowest number in a month. None of the attacks was directed against U.S. bases, and only three caused casualties or damage.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 13 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 16 were wounded yesterday when Viet Cong terrorists threw hand grenades into two movie theaters in the provincial capital of Na Xuyen, 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

In a note to the International Control Commission, the Saigon government complained that enemy terrorists killed 471 civilians and wounded 1,521 during May. The note said the terrorist activities "showed that North Vietnamese aggressors have remained stubborn and bellicose (and) have no goodwill in searching for a solution to end the Vietnam war."

The commission, composed of Canada, Poland and India, was set up to police the 1954 Geneva Accords ending the French Indochina war.

Admen Criticize Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed federal requirement that all cigarette advertising carry a death hazard warning was condemned by the American Advertising Federation today as "piecemeal and simplistic."

The federation also questioned whether the stiff warning proposed by the Federal Trade Commission would be effective in getting cigarette smokers to quit.

"However much the commission's proposal may salve its conscience," the federation said in written testimony, "it does not solve the problems."

Czech Party Purge

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's hardline Communist bosses purged officials in two major party organizations and announced editorial shakeups on three daily newspapers today.

At the same time, pro-Soviet journalists and party propaganda officials launched a campaign to isolate newsmen unwilling to support the government's policy of appeasing Moscow.

The moves were part of the continuing drive to dismantle the liberal Communist apparatus and press freedoms that existed in Czechoslovakia before the Soviet-led invasion in August 1968.

Air Battle Over Suez Follows Raids

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claimed its jets shot down four Egyptian MIGs in a dogfight over the Gulf of Suez today. Egypt did not confirm the losses but claimed two Israeli Mirages were shot down.

Cairo radio quoted a military communique as saying two Israeli plane formations entered Egyptian air space in the Ain el Suk Neh area, were intercepted by MIGs and two Israeli jets were shot down in the ensuing fight.

The Israeli army said its planes encountered the MIGs while on patrol, pursued them, and four of the Soviet-built planes were seen falling in Egyptian territory.

The Israelis now claim to have shot down 25 Egyptian warplanes since the June 1967 war.

The Israelis also confirmed that some of their jets flew over Cairo last June 17, an audacious move that led to the firing of Egypt's air force chief, Gen. Mustapha el Hennaw; and Gen. Hassan Kamel, responsible for Egypt's air defense.

Their dismissal was announced in Cairo June 23. Egypt's new air chief, Gen. Ali Baghdadi, lost three MIGs by Israeli count within days of assuming his new office.

The air clash follows Israeli commando raids on three Egyptian positions in the Gulf of Suez Tuesday night and an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli army position in Jordan's occupied West Bank.

A spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Arab raiders were driven off by Israeli fire and there were no casualties.

In a brief communique on the Suez raid, the Israeli army said its commandos killed 13 Egyptian soldiers, took one prisoner and returned safely to base. A map released by the army showed the target area near Ras Issaran, about 100 miles south of Port Suez.

Charles Begins Tours Of Welch Provinces

CAERNARVON, Wales (AP) —Cheering yachtsmen and spectators ashore greeted Prince Charles today at the vacation resort of Llandudno as the new Prince of Wales began a four-day "meet the people" tour of his restive principality.

The 20-year-old heir to the British throne had a cozy dinner party with friends, including some much talked about girls, before leaving Holyhead aboard the royal yacht Britannia. He was reported in a relaxed mood with the personal ordeal of his investiture, its bomb scares, deaths and royal pageantry behind him.

"It's as if a huge weight had been lifted from his shoulders," said an aide.

Small sailboats and yachts clustered around the Britannia when it arrived at Llandudno, on Wales' north coast, after the overnight trip from Holyhead, on the Isle of Anglesey. But security was heavy, and Navy frogmen searched the Llandudno pier for bombs throughout the night.

Charles landed just after 9 a.m. wearing a dark brown suit. As the royal barge moved toward the pier, he waved in acknowledgment of the cheers.

The prince had said he wanted to meet as many Welsh people as possible during his tour. At Llandudno town hall, he signed the visitors book and talked with local officials.

While he was ashore, his sister, Princess Anne, and other guests on the Britannia disembarked and left for London by special train.

Charles was to visit Denbigh, Caernarvon, Merioneth, Montgomery and Cardigan Shires today before returning to spend the night aboard the Britannia off Newquay on the west coast of Wales.

Charles invited his closest friends to an informal celebration dinner last night aboard the royal yacht. The guest list, particularly girls, was headline news in Britain and aroused fresh speculation about the nation's most eligible bachelor.

The girls included Lucia Santa-Cruz, 25-year-old daughter of Chile's ambassador to London and a classic blonde beauty Charles has known for years; Sybilla Dorman, 19-year-old daughter of the governor general of Malta who was Charles' guest at a Cambridge ball last May, and Lady Cecil Kerr, 21, a pretty brunette daughter of the Marquess of Lothian.

Only nine hours after his investiture—Britain's most spectacular royal ceremony since the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II—a military policeman was killed by a firebomb beneath the floodlight walls of Caernarvon Castle. The area swarmed with investigators who warned post-midnight celebrators away.

"This is a murder scene so keep away," said one officer. "This is obiously connected with the ceremony in some way."

Earlier yesterday, before the investiture, a bomb went off in a vacant lot outside Caernarvon at the very moment Prince Charles mounted his state carriage for a two-mile drive through cheering crowds to the ceremony.

A bomb hoax also had delayed the Royal Family's train ride to Wales, and two men believed to be Welsh extremists were killed by a bomb blast 200 yards from the railroad tracks before the train arrived.

Police also reported today a bomb was found in a suitcase by the side of the road over which Prince Charles traveled from Caernarvon to Holyhead to board the Britannia.

The Question: Who'll Lead Black Studies?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The firing of Dr. Nathan Hare by Dr. S. I. Hayakawa brought a new focus today to the simmering dissent at San Francisco State College.

Hare, a controversial 34-year-old black scholar, reached the end of his contract June 30 and it was not renewed. He said he is staying anyway to head the college's black studies program.

Hayakawa, a controversial 62-year-old Oriental semanticist from Mill Valley now acting president of the college, said Hare is out. There is "not a chance" he will be rehired, Hayakawa told UPI.

Both Hare and Hayakawa said the strife-torn 17,000-student college will have a black studies program next fall — one of the key issues in last winter's violent student-faculty strike.

The question is who will run it and who will staff it?

"Hayakawa has the authority, and I have the power," said Hare. "The people who are in black studies relate to me, not to him. We will have the black studies program — one of the best in the country."

Said Hayakawa: "We can put together a program without him. He is not the only man who knows about black studies. We have already hired other people."

Hare's salary ended June 30.

He said he can do without it. In fact, he scorned the $12,300 a year he was paid as being much less than he was offered at other colleges. He is staying he said, because "the black students and the black community urged me to stay and I promised I would."

Hayakawa observed that Hare "helped himself to his pay" while not working during the strike. It was on the basis of his refusal to work during the strike that he was fired, Hayakawa said.

Hare said all Negro scholars have been "warned not to take my place." He said if he is evicted from his office at the college he will still be running any black studies program that the college has.

He leaves July 15 for the Pan-African Cultural Festival in Africa and says he will recruit Africans to teach in his department.

Hayakawa yesterday requested the state department to spread the word in Africa that Hare has no authority to hire faculty for the college.

S.F. State Minority Leader Quits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Another minority administrator at San Francisco State College resigned yesterday, claiming he was in a "lackey type position."

"I can no longer serve in this administration with its callous attitudes," said Anthony J. Salamanca, 27, associate director of the Educational Opportunity program (EOP).

Four of the college's black administrators quit last Friday.

"We are strictly in a lackey type position here," Salamanca told newsmen.

Salamanca announced his resignation following a meeting with acting President S. I. Hayakawa and 15 Mexican-American student and community leaders.

They tried to persuade Hayakawa to use his prestige in Sacramento to raise the number of minority students admitted in the fall under the EOP program from 150 to 400.

Hayakawa said the cut was necessary because of budget pressures but after the meeting he said he doesn't regard the 150 figure "as permanently fixed."

Nurses Return After Ratifying New Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With a stronger voice in patient care and salary increases of $90 a month over two years, California Nurses Association members returned to work today at eight Bay Area hospitals.

Nearly 1,000 CNA members, including those at Merritt Hospital in Oakland, ratified an agreement last night ending a 19-day strike.

Nurses at Merritt remained on their jobs but participated in the voting since the hospital was a member of the nine-member Associated Hospitals of San Francisco and the East Bay.

A CNA official said no vote results would be announced, but said the nurses were "ecstatic" that the strike had ended.

The walkout began at five hospitals and gradually escalated to include eight: St. Francis and French in San Francisco; Children's, Peralta and Providence in Oakland; Herrick and Alta Bates in Berkeley, and Alameda Hospital in Alameda.

Agreement on 14 issues came after two days of meetings negotiated by Sam Kagel, the professional mediator who helped settle a nine-week newspaper strike here early in 1968.

The nurses achieved their main objective, a patient care committee at each hospital comprised of from five to eight members depending on the size of the hospital.

The $90 increase — $50 retroactive to last Jan. 1 and $40 more next Feb. 1 — was $10 less than the nurses asked for.

The agreement puts the new salary range at $650 a month for beginners, $800 for nurses with five years' experience and a top of $860 a month for head nurses.

Next Feb. 1 the range increases to $690, $840 and $907.

All staff nurses will be required to join the CNA after 31 days of employment.

Year's 79th Homicide Discovered In Tunnel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— San Francisco today listed its 79th homicide victim of the year. At the current rate, police said the city may pass its all-time annual record of 97 slain, set last year, by late August.

The victim was an unidentified man found shot through the face on the steps of the Stockton Street tunnel. He was about 30 and was clutching a newspaper with some scriblings in the margin.

Trustees Will Look Into Election At Sonoma State

California State College Trustees will open their meeting Tuesday in Los Angeles with a review of the disputed Sonoma State College student government elections.

John T. Kehoe, educational consultant to Gov. Ronald Reagan, said he has continued to gather information about the election for the trustees and especially Reagan, a trustee.

Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. Sonoma State president, spent Monday in Sacramento giving information to the governor's office, but would not comment on what was discussed.

In question will be the election of James G. Gillette, 35, of Cotati, who defeated Jon Owen of Novato after a disputed series of two general elections and two run-off elections. Owen had received the most votes in the three previous election which were invalidated by the Student Elections Commission.

Owen and other students who were defeated in the final voting, had petitioned Dr. Nichols to invalidate the balloting because of questionable voting procedures and rumors of an election conspiracy.

After a five-hour hearing, which included legal counsel from the chancellor's office, Dr. Nichols said he found no legal grounds on which to invalidate the Gillette election.

Trustee William O. Weissich of San Rafael said he had asked the trustees to schedule an investigation into the election and possibly to take action at the July meeting.

"I have no preconceived ideas about the election, but it appears to me that there is enough dissatisfaction on campus for the trustees to study it," Weissich said today. He noted that he had visited the campus several times recently and had seen delegations of unhappy students in his San Rafael office.

While the trustees will not have a great amount of time to study the problem, Weissich said he hoped the transcript of the five-hour investigation by Dr. Nichols would be made available to the trustees to speed deliberation.

Gillette, who considers himself the duly elected student body president, plans to be in Los Angeles next week for a meeting of the state college student body presidents and said he would "drop in" at the trustee session.

"I see no reason to expect fanfare," Gillette said, noting that charges of corruption in the former student government and in the election are completely unfounded.

Gillette called the trustees' investigation an interference in student government. "We're subject to the rules of the state and can't do much about it, but we still consider it meddling" he said yesterday.

He said the final say in student government elections should be left up to the students and that any trustee action on the election "would be setting an alarming precedent."

Gillette said the other student body presidents will also be watching the trustees actions closely and may make a statement as a group if necessary.

Owen, who is coordinating the efforts of the dissatisfied students, said he knows of no plans for his group to attend the trustees' meeting.

"The matter is not being dropped," he said. "It's being pursued, but I can't say in what manner." Owen called the situation "very serious and delicate" and said he would not want to endanger the plans of his group by making them public before the Tuesday meeting.

Although Sonoma State does not appear on the official trustees agenda, it is expected to be discussed at the educational policy committee meeting at 9 a.m. and perhaps later go to the full board.

FIRE

before it finally was extinguished, but the crisis was passed late in the evening of July 2.

Fanned by 25 to 30-mile-per-hour winds, the flames swept down Blithedale Canyon, over both the Warner and Middle ridges and into portions of Warner and Cascade canyons.

Mill Valley's small fire department — one truck and two men plus several volunteers — was unable to cope and a call went out to neighboring communities for help.

The San Francisco Fire Department dispatched eight trucks and 60 men by ferry to the beleaguered community. From the Presidio came 155 soldiers and from the Coast Guard and San Francisco police Department 50 more men were dispatched.

In "These Hills Afire: the Story of the Mill Valley Conflagration," an anonymous manuscript written shortly after the fire from eyewitness accounts, an observer noted: "While the red ruin ran flaming toward the imperiled town, while volunteers ran from homes and offices, from play and work; while brave women herded wide-eyed frightened children to places of safety — the rescuers were coming to sav Mill Valley and its inhabitants."

One of the railroad trains, caught at the top of the mountain with 65 passengers, barely beat the fire back to downtown Mill Valley.

Engineered by T. J. (Jake) Johnson, the train came down a "winding, blazing trail, smoke filled and bordering an inferno as thousands of rattlesnakes driven from cover by the flames to the haven of the railway right-of-way made the rails slippery, necessitating a liberal use of sand to keep the train under control," according to "These Hills Afire."

Another engine, full of volunteer firemen and the police chief, was suddenly trapped by flames behind the Garden of Allah and all aboard had to run for their lives to escape.

Close to midnight the fire came to the edge of downtown and the town seemed lost when suddenly, just as in the movies, the wind shifted and blew the fire back up upon itself, saving the central business and residential areas.

Damage to homes alone was estimated at $1,045,500. Many of the destroyed homes were valued from $10,000 to $35,000, a lot of money by pre-Depression Day standards. One, owned by John Forbes, then vice president of Crocker's First National Bank in San Francisco, burned to the ground, an estimated loss of $100,000.

Word of the fire spread as far away as Maine where one Marin resident on vacation remembers reading headlines which said "Mill Valley Wiped Off Map."

The city wasn't quite wiped off the map, but the mountain railroad was. The fire had destroyed so much of the track and ties that the railroad's operators decided not to rebuild. few years later the road to the top of the mountain was completed, ending once, and perhaps for all time, the tourist attraction known as "The crookedest railroad in the world."

Marijuana Charges Dismissed In Court

Marijuana possession charges against Rene G. Reclus, 21, of Novato were dismissed yesterday by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court on the grounds that the search and seizure of the drug were illegal.

Reclus was arrested by Novato police March 8 on a traffic warrant and allegedly had the marijuana with him.

BUDGET

the same as if the banks closed." State Finance Director Casper Weinberger.

Monagan said the California Youth Authority has only five days of food left in its 18 institutions for juvenile offenders, and California Medical Facility 15 days' supply. All the computers that help the Franchise Tax Board collect taxes have been shut down because officials have no way of paying the private firms from which they are leased.

Monagan said he will hold Assembly sessions daily until the budget passes.

"We may be able to resolve it today," he said. "But I do not intend to carry on any other business in the Assembly until it is resolved — that includes working on July Fourth."

Monagan expressed willingness to negotiate the key issue behind the fight — Democratic demands for more school aid than Reagan wants to give.

The governor has offered to add $105 million a year to current state aid to local schools of $1.3 billion. Democrats want more but they haven't specified precisely how much; $198 million is in the stalled budget.

Unruh has held out for a guarantee that Reagan wouldn't trim a higher appropriation, if the legislature gives him more than $105 million. The governor has the right to trim a budget, but not add to it.

In another development in the fight over the record $6.37 billion budget, two assemblymen proposed a constitutional amendment that they said would prevent recurrence of such a crisis.

Assemblymen Craig Biddle of Riverside and John Stull of Leucadia proposed that if a future legislature failed to pass a budget before May 30, the previous year's budget would be automatically adopted for the new fiscal year—with a 10 per cent cut in every state agency's appropriation.

And Unruh sought to introduce a resolution declaring the Legislature intends to honor any unpaid claims against the state made before a budget is passed.

Reagan pleaded with the state's 186,000 employees to work "voluntarily" possibly without pay. The Governor promised to do "everything in my power" to make sure employees are "justly compensated."

Employes had mixed emotions.

"It's more of a joke than anything else among the employees," said Eldon Petersen, a Capitol window washer. "These guys (legislators) take off on Thursday every week and then they can't even pass a budget."

"We've got a job to do and we're going to do it regardless of pay," declared Andrew Lolli, a former Army general from Marin County, who now is State General Services Director.

Jerry D. Harrell, a Fish and Game Department information officer, asked "What's the use of staying home a couple of days while they straighten this out? You just come back and find your 'in' basket piled higher. They're going to have to pay us sooner or later. Aren't they?"

Reagan said a survey of agencies showed employees reporting to work as usual.

Program Stimulates Children Reading

The Larkspur Library, in its first summer reading program for children, last month reached the highest circulation in juvenile books in five years, librarian Richard A. Kilbourne reported last night to the library board.

Circulation for June of last year was 1,618 which compares with 2,110 of this June, Kilbourne said. Eighty-two children are currently in the program.

Regents' Antisecrecy Bill Amended, Gains

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to force the University of California regents to open their meetings to the public yesterday narrowly won endorsement by the Senate Judiciary Committee. It was the first time in years that such a measure managed to clear a Senate committee.

But to get his measure out of the committee, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, had to accept university amendments allowing the regents to close meetings to discuss compensation, independent contracting and land purchases. Hiring, firing and hearing charges are the only exceptions allowed under the state's anti-secret meeting law, which applies to all public bodies in the state except the regents and the Legislature.

Nixon's Leave For Holiday In Florida

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon flew today to their Key Biscayne, Fla., vacation home to spend the July 4 holiday and celebrate the 21st birthday Saturday of their younger daughter, Julie Eisenhower.

Julie accompanied her parents. Her sister Tricia, now in London, is to join the family later in the week. The Nixons are expected to return Sunday.

SONOMA

High School District, and 14 cents to the Marin Junior College District.

The figures were prepared for Babley by the Department of Finance, and based on last fiscal year's school budgets. No figure was given for the total statewide impact of the cuts.

"This is not an effort to badmouth a proposal," Bagley told the Independent-Journal, "but to analyze it."

But he stressed that without extensive reworking, the governor's tax proposal "will be disruptive to education from kindergarten up. School districts would have the property tax rug pulled out from under them."

The governor's tax proposal, embodied in 13 bills, is the only tax package alive and kicking in Sacramento. Another set of tax proposals, drawn up by a six-member Assembly subcommittee headed by Bagley, still is bottled up in committee.

The district that would be hit hardest under the governor's proposal would be the Tamalpais High School District, which would lose $2,139,547. Its budget last year totaled $9.1 million.

However, four districts would gain under the proposal. Dixie School District would pick up an additional $102,000, Fairfax School District wguld pick up $76,000, Novato Unified School District would gain $68,000, and Lagunitas school District would gain $12,000.

Bagley's staff said there was no logical explanation of why these four gained more money under the proposal.

The special tax elections to replace the lost funds would range from $1.69 in the Sausalito School District to 2 cents in the San Anselmo School District.

These extra taxes, as well as bonded indebtedness taxes, would be in addition to the $1.10 local property tax rate set in the governor's proposal as the maximum for all local education, including junior college. Also, business would pay a statewide tax of $3.50 per $100 assessed valuation toward education, Bagley's staff noted.

The governor's proposal would juggle about $2 billion in new taxes and cuts in existing taxes, and raise state aide to schools from $1.6 billion to almost $3 billion. But this increase in state aid would not offset the revenue loss by cutting back the property tax rate to $1.10, Bagley said.

The impact of the governor's proposal on three Marin districts was reported in May by the Independent-Journal, but yesterday was the first time complete figures were released.

The amount that would be cut from each Marin school district's budget, with the amount of the raise in the tax rate needed to replace the cut indicated in parenthesis, would be: Bolinas-Stinson, $125,715 ($1.18); Kentfield, $217,794 ($.60); Laguna Joint, $7,398 ($.47); Larkspur, $146,451 ($.42); Lincoln, $7,284 ($.49); Mill Valley, $250,080 ($.37); Nicasio, $22,788 ($.87); Reed Union, $353,892 ($.75); Ross, $19,849 ($.17); San Anselmo, $7,907 ($.02); San Rafael, $828,796 ($.70); Sausalito, $546,966 ($1.69); Union Joint, $8,203 ($1.18); West Marin Union, $7,850 ($.06); San Rafael High School, $729,724 ($.44); Tamalpais Union High School, $2,139,547 ($.71); Tomales Joint Union High School, $159,065 ($0.69); and Marin Junior College, $1,670,776 ($.30).

In Southern Sonoma, the figures are $657,191 ($.76) for Petaluma Joint Union High School, and $239,728 ($.37); for Analy Union High School.

Proposed Hippie Curb Draws New Criticism

The Mill Valley Human Rights Commission last night unanimously disapproved Carmel's "antihippie" ordinance or anything resembling it.

The commission urged the city council to refrain from adopting any such ordinance. The Carmel measure is designed to regulate the activities of "undesireable and unsanitary persons."

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also has opposed the controversial measure under consideration by the city council.

Roger Fleischmann, chairman of the human rights commission, said members decided such a measure would unreasonably limit use of city parks, impose a prohibitive policing cost on taxpayers, violate the Constitution and polarize the community.

The commission also voted to urge the city council to reconsider its list of priorities for use of city recreation facilities. The commission said rules now in effect are vague and could be considered discriminatory against nonresidents. Commissioners William J. Walker and Richard N. Jessup abstained.

Deputies Break Up Wild Park Party, Arrest 10

Two sheriff's deputies who attempted last night to break up a wild and noisy gathering at Paradise Park in Tiburon were greeted with a barrage of flying rock and bottles and shouted obscenties.

After calling for help from seven additional deputies and about a dozen California Highway patrolmen, the law officers within about an hour cleared the parking lot where the fracas took place and arrested 10 young men.

Deputies said today that two homemade "fire bombs" subsequently thrown at the wall outside the sheriff's department in the Court House in San Rafael were probably the work of friends of those jailed.

The bombs, which were two soft drink bottles filled with an incendiary liquid and wicks, fizzled, however, and were not even heard by those inside the building. Two burned spots over the entrance to the jail and sheriff's department and broken glass as well as the wicks were found by deputies early this morning.

Deputies said they were called to the park by neighbors about 9:50 p.m. and found about 100 persons in the lower parking lot. They were drinking wine and beer, setting off firecrackers and playing car radios at full volume, according to the deputies.

When told to leave over a loud speaker, the revelers shouted obscenities and said "we are ready for you." They also hurled rocks and bottles at the patrol car. One man took his pants off and made obscene gestures, deputies said.

While waiting for re-inforcements the deputies said they were constantly under siege from flying objects.

When additional law officers arrived, the rioters were again asked to leave and many did. The officers then marched into the parking lot and dispersed all but the 10 young men who refused to leave.

One 16-year-old boy was taken to Juvenile Hall and nine other youths were booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace and refusal to disperse.

Arrested were Rick Dalhover, 18, of 10 Walnut Street, Larkspur; Scott Francis Lang, 19, of 33 Poplar Avenue, Ross; James Edward McKenna, 19, of 216 South Ridgewood Road, Kent Woodlands; Randolph Hugh Holt, 20, of Tahoe City; Robert Lee Davis, 20, of 1595 Redwood Highway, Corte Madera; Robert David Freid, 18, of 110 Sycamore Avenue, Larkspur; James William Vandall, 21, of 81 Elm Avenue, Kentfield.

Bail for each was set at $625.

Vandall and Zimmerman posted bail to appear in Municipal Court Monday and McKenna to appear today. The othars remained in jail to appear in court today.

Body Of Man Found Floating

The body of a 40 to 50-year-old man was found floating off Fort Baker at 8:10 a.m. today, the Coast Guard reported.

Taken to the San Francisco coroner's office, the body was described by Deputy Coroner Mark R. Alleeson as Caucasian, five feet, 10 inches, 180 pounds, brown eyes and hair, wearing a light tan sport shirt, dark pants and black elevated shoes. The clothing contained no identification.

Alleeson said the body had cuts and scratches around the face which could have been caused by bumping against rocks. He estimated it was in the water from one to six hours.

Mail Carrier Hurt When Van Rolls

A Sausalito mail carrier was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with internal injuries and chest bruises suffered when he was crushed between his mail van and a utility pole Monday afternoon, according to Sausalito police.

Robert A. Schmidt, 31, of Box 681, Tiburon, was found semiconscious after the accident at 3:30 p.m. at 66 Cloudview Road. Police said his mail van apparently started to roll backward as Schmidt was away from the vehicle; Schmidt tried to stop it and was caught between vehicle and pole.

Police said the van may have a defective brake, since they found it with emergency brake set and an electrical brake lock also set.

Mill Valley Picks Acting Fire Chief

Joseph E. Regalia, a 26-year veteran of the force, was named acting fire chief of Mill Valley today by City Mgr. William Cunningham.

Regalia succeeds Leslie (Nook) Armager, who had been chief for 27 years and with the force since 1933. Armager, who has been in failing health for several months, officially retired from the force last month. He was listed in poor condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Regalia, who joined the force in 1943, lives at 23 Walnut Avenue in Mill Valley. He has been assistant fire chief for several years.

The fire chief will be paid $14,692 per year.

Two Burglaries In Corte Madera

Two burglaries were reported in Corte Madera yesterday, according to police.

Crescent Venuto told officers that someone stole $15 from a cash box in his bedroom at 457 Redwood Avenue after having removed two screens and entered through a sliding window. The burglary took place at about 4:30 p.m., police said.

Joan Bourgeault reported that between 11:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. someone entered her home at 150 Stetson Avenue through an open window and stole a stereophonic FM receiver and a pink blanket, police said. No value was given.

Seminary Student Heads World Group

A student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo has been elected president of the Student World Federalists.

Norman E. Leach, who has served as national secretary for the organization, was elected president at the group's recent 23rd National Assembly in Washington, D. C. He has also been West Coast coordinator.

Leach spent a week in Washington before the convention opened, participating in activities related to the federalists' goals. He worked with the National Coalition to Repeal the Draft, National Franchise Coalition to Lower Voting Age and the Coalition on National Priorities and Military Policy.

Leach is coordinator of the Third Rail Coffeehouse in San Anselmo and speaks frequently at local youth gatherings.

The Student World Federalists is an affiliate of World Federalists, U.S.A., and the World Association of World Federalists.

Fairfax Hits Ross Valley Sewage Leak

A leaky sanitary sewer and the inaction of the Ross Valley Sanitary District last night prompted the Fairfax City Council to complain to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board

Councilman Frank J. Egger reported the leaky sewer is at 4 Meadow Way, property of Everett Jensen, and it's been leaking periodically for many months.

Repairs were made last winter, but raw sewage began leaking out again and flowing into Cascade Creek, Egger said. (Cascade flows into San Anselmo Creek which flows into Corte Madera Creek.)

He called the reapir job "very slipshod" and produced pictures of the area.

He noted the council had written another letter to the sanitary district at the beginning of June and there had been no reply.

In other business last night, the council approved hiring two experienced policemen to assist during July because of manpower shortages and vacations.

Police Chief James R. Orr reported he is recruiting and expects to fill two vacancies by August.

The two men are a San Anselmo police officer who lives in Fairfax and who would be working a double shift. The officer, Bernard Del Santo, will work eight hours in Fairfax unless it interferes with his work, in which case his time will be cut to six hours, Orr said.

The other man is John Orr, a brother of the chief. The council waived for 30 days an ordinance which prohibits hiring a relative.

Pay for the two men will probably be on an hourly basis, but has not been set, City Administrator Frances R. Lestanguet reported.

Sarcophagus means "flesh-eater," a name deriving from the corrosive effect of early limestone coffins on bodies interred in them.

Trustees To Study KQED Film Series

The Mill Valley School District board has decided to take a look at the controversial KQED "Time of Your Life" sex education film series before approving it for use in Mill Valley schools.

The board's action came after hearing that a parents committee studying the series barely approved use of the films by district teachers, Supt. James A. Collins reported yesterday. The committee vote was 12-11 in favor of the films in schools, chairman Dirk West told the board.

If use of the films is approved. the committee recommended that adequate notice be given of individual filmings to allow objecting parents to withdraw children from classes, that use of the films as part of the family life education program be left to the discretion of individual teachers and that inservice training be available for teachers who do use the films, Collins said.

The committee, Collins noted, was unable to agree which grades could see the films and recommended that that decision be left to the board.

Because of the close vote and the controversy over the films, trustees agreed to personally view the film series, either this summer or in early fall, before authorizing use, Collins said.

Iran Frees, Warns Its Dope Peddlers

TEHRAN (AP) — Ten thousand Iranian dope peddlers were released by government order circulated last night. But they were warned they would be shot by firing squads if they resumed their trade.

Iran banned the cultivation, sale and use of opium in 1955, but resumed cultivation of poppies this year in restricted quantities and under government control. During the 14-year ban, the government estimated it lost a billion dollars in revenue while neighboring Turkey and Afghanistan benefited with increased exports.

Marin Dogs, Cats Curbed By New Licensing Control

Most of Marin County was placed under more stringent animal control yesterday.

The board of supervisors, with some reservation, approved an ordinance requiring the licensing of dogs and imposing fines against owners who let their dogs run loose.

The ordinance, effective Aug. 1, would cover the unincorporated area plus all municipalities but Ross, San Anselmo and Tiburon. These communities said they did not want to participate in the program.

Timothy M. Jackson, county administrative analyst, said the hiring and training of additional Marin Humane Society officers and the purchase of trucks that will be needed for patrol purposes would begin immediately.

Dog licenses, except for spayed bitches, will cost $5. If a wandering dog is impounded, it will cost the owner $7 to retrieve the animal the first time and $10 for each time after that, plus a $1.50 daily fee.

The ordinance also covers stray cats and other animals found loose.

Supervisor Michael Wornum expressed concern over possible exuberance by impounding officers. Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella said he felt sufficient discretion would be shown in seizure of loose animals.

San Francisco Worth $9 Billion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The cash value of San Francisco's land, buildings and personal property is $9.3 billion, City Assessor Joseph E. Tinney said yesterday.

He placed the taxable assessment at more than $2 billion, based on 25 per cent of the full cash value.

Appeal Is Denied In Union Killing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The State Court of Appeal yesterday affirmed the first degree murder conviction of Ben Rasnick in the slaying of Painters Union leader Lloyd Green of Hayward.

In a brief opinion, the court unanimously rejected arguments of Rasnick's attorneys that evidence concerning the slaying of union leader Dow Wilson of San Francisco should have been excluded from the Green trial.

Rasnick, former secretary-treasurer of the union's District Council 16, was convicted of fingering Green for the slaying, which was carried out by two other men. His trial in the Wilson killing ended in a hung jury.

Three Sausalito Police Promoted

Three Sausalito policemen were promoted and one new patrolman hired yesterday, Sausalito police chief James D. Wright has announced.

Detective Jack L. Heringer was promoted to sergeant and patrolmen Brian E. Newlon and Robert D. Glynn were promoted to detective.

Gary Reynolds, 22, of Oakland, began work yesterday as a patrolman.

Olompali Landlord Plans Action To Remove The Chosen Family

The landlord of Rancho Olompali — where the clouded waters of a swimming pool have claimed the lives of a two young girls — told the Marin County Board of Superivosr yesterday he would take steps to remove hippies from the property.

Sounding a note of compassion for the residents, most of whom belong to the so-called Chosen Family, but expressing deep regret over the death Monday of Nika Carter, 2, (the other child, Audrey Jean Keller, 4, died today), Novato investor Timothy W. O'Donoghue Jr. said:

"We don't want people living on the ranch. They'll be out shortly."

Despite O'Donoghue's assurances, the board authorized County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to file suit to prohibit living on the ranch if no voluntary action is taken.

Maloney and County Building Inspector Hans J. Berge inspected the ranch north of Novato Thursday after the children tumbled into the murky waters of the ranch swimming pool.

Maloney reported to the board that living conditions at the ranch were "extremely dangerous and unsanitary." Berge presented a long list of defects, particularly in a two-story dormitory used as the main living quarters by the hippies since fire wrecked the rancho mansion.

Rodric L. Robinson, attorney for O'Donoghue, blamed troubles at the ranch not on the 25-member Chosen Family, but on "undesirables coming on the property and living there." He said the tenants were repeatedly bothered by trespassers and that Nika Carter was the daughter of a nonresident.

"Sir, if you have trespassers, why don't you do something about it?" inquired board chairman John F. McInnis.

Robinson replied that the property was in escrow a year and that O'Donoghue did not take title (from a large partnership) until last week.

O'Donoghue pleaded for board understanding of the problems of the Chosen Family, founded by businessman-turned-hippie Donald C. McCoy Jr., now undergoing voluntary psychiatric treatment.

"In the fire, they lost everything. Then they fell four months behind in rent. They had no place to go. Where would you send 95 people?"

O'Donoghue said the group had been reduced to 25 since the fire.

"We still have requested that they leave, but you must understand that this is a very, very difficult problem. As far as the child falling in hhe pool, I feel very bad about that. We don't want people living on the ranch. They'll be out shortly."

Jo-Jo D'Amore, a member of the Chosen Family, told the board that it is "very hard to say to someone that you can't live on a beautiful piece of land."

He raised the problem of trespassers, but said there was "no way we can say to someone, 'You can't stay here, you have to leave.' We can't chase anyone off our land. We can't be violent."

"I don't see where you can say to people (the family) that they can't live here when it (the accident) is not their fault. But I can just see by the look on your faces that you feel you can just chase out a bunch of people and tell them to go somewhere else."

D'Amore accused the press of printing unqualified reports of conditions at Olompali and asked, "Has anyone come up to see what good has been done up there?"

"We don't want people to die," he said. "We don't want people getting sick."

"We are no more devotees of violence than you, sir," McInnis told D'Amore, "but I suggest it was a form of violence that took place when that child fell in the pool and drowned . . . it's a little late to come in and say we don't believe in violence and our hands and hearts are pure."

In addition to legal action, the board authorized the county probation department to investigate conditions under which children live on the ranch.

Maloney also urged construction of a fence around the swimming pool.

O'Donoghue told reporters outside the supervisors' chambers later that he would insist that the tenants move from the dormitory at once.

He said he ultimately planned to build housing of various income ranges on the 760-acre ranch. The gutted mansion — whose interior dates back to the 1840s — and swimming pool would be donated to the county as a historical site.

D'Amore said the Chosen Family had members throughout Marin and San Francisco with whom to stay if evicted.

Bolinas, Stinson Sewer Plan Backed

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday endorsed in principle, but not without a fistful of qualifications, a proposal to finance a $2,300,000 sewage system for Bolinas and Stinson Beach.

The proposal would finance all but $670,000 worth of the work by the issuance of bonds by the county under the Special Assessment District Act of 1915.

However, the board strongly urged Bolinas and Stinson Beach officials to make greater efforts to secure federal assistance in financing the project.

John F. McInnis, board chairman, said, after scanning a county administrator's report on the proposal, it seemed officials of the beach communities were not "finding the right door to open" in their efforts to finance the sewage disposal system.

McInnis said the officials were "missing the boat" by "messing around" with public financing without exhausting avenues for federal funding.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District has been under pressure for three years to stop dumping raw sewage in the mouth of Bolinas Lagoon.

A cease and desist order by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board against the district set July 15, 1970 as the deadline for completion of a new treatment plant.

Steps to build the sewage collection and treatment system have been held up in efforts to have Stinson Beach, which uses septic tanks, join in the program.

Alan Bruce, county administrator, told the board approval of the proposal would give Bolinas and Stinson Beach officials a "greater chance for success" in efforts to secure federal monies.

The proposal calls for construction of a treatment plant and major sewage lines. The Bolinas share that would be financed under bonds would total $230,000. The Stinson Beach local sewer lines would be financed at $1,400,000.

The other $670,000 for the Stinson Beach share of the plant and major trunk construction would be financed by general obligation bonds, which would have to be approved by voters of the district, and state assistance.

Suspect Denies Narcotics Count

Larry Monroe Moore, 20, who was arrested June 18 in a raid on a San Anselmo house where drug agents said there was a large amount of equipment for making LSD, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to two felony drug charges.

He is accused of possessing LSD for sale and possessing marijuana.

A preliminary hearing was set for July 28.

Highway 37 Work Will Cause Delays

Motorists are being urged to avoid State Route 37 between Mare Island and Sonoma Creek bridge from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays for the next four months while the road is being resurfaced and shoulders widened.

Traffic will be one-way and subject to 30-minute delays between those hours on weekdays, according to A. J. Zorbas, construction manager for Syar and Harms Industries, Inc. which is working on the project.

Annexation Of Civic Center Upsets Group

A group of Gallinas Valley residents expressed concern yesterday before the Marin County Board of Supervisors over plans to annex the Civic Center and about 1,000 acres on the east side of Highway 101 to the City of San Rafael.

Marie B. Sessi of the Los Ranchitos Improvement Association said residents had received no word of the annexation plans until they were approved last week by supervisors.

"Everybody thinks something is being put over on them." Mrs. Sessi said. "People feel they're being sold down the river."

John F. McInnis, board chairman, said any property owner had a right to apply for annexation of his contiguous land to a municipality. "We can't stop it," he said.

McInnis told Mrs. Sessi that the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission would hold a hearing on the annexation July 7 and urged residents to attend.

The annexation would include the Smith Brothers Ranch, the new El Marinero office building to be built across from the Civic Center and the new Crest Marin apartments above Franchini's Chateau. It would exclude the Gallinas Village and Los Ranchitos areas.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows explained to the board last week that original annexation plans included only the Civic Center in order to obtain better fire protection, but that other property owners expressed interest in joining the annexation.

The board took no action yesterday on a request by the owners of the Wiltshire Towers Motel on the west side of Highway 101 to join the other property owners. Michael Chrystal, administrative analyst, said the LAFC hearing already had been set.

Costa Rica is about the size of West Virginia.

Ailing Jordan Slightly Better

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Frank Jordan, 80, has improved "slightly" since he suffered a stroke May 1.

Assistant Secretary of State Bert Clinkston reported Jordan was moved yesterday from Mercy General Hospital to nearby Mercy Convalescent Hospital for continued treatment.

Clinkston said the veteran state official is still paralyzed on his right side and his speech is impaired.

ICBM Over Pacific In Air Force Test

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — A Minuteman I intercontinental ballistic missile was successfully test-launched down the Western Test Range over the Pacific Ocean by the Air Force early today.

The Air Force said the shot, part of the routine missile test program, was made at 2 a.m. PDT.

County Is Urged To Hire Machines To Clear Debris

Acting Public Works Director William Hess recommended yesterday that the County of Marin hire the equipment need to clear underwater streets of substandard houseboats and debris at Waldo Point.

Hess told the county board of supervisors that the equipment operators also would be hired but county employees would supervise the work.

The Cleveland Wrecking Co. startled the county last week when it bid $113,940 — more than twice the job estimate — to do the cleanup work. Threats against contractors were blamed for the high bid, ultimately rejected.

Hess said the alternate method would give the county more control over the work.

Reporting on conditions around Gate 5, Hess said many houseboat dwellers were striving to comply with new building code standards, but that he was "appalled anew at the total lack of sanitary facilities."

"It's a group of people living in a big garbage dump," he said.

Several houseboat dwellers expressed concern about the county's cleanup action, with one stomping out of the board chambers after charging that the board was wrongfully imposing Establishment standards on Waldo Point residents.

The board asked Hess for cost estimates of his alternate cleanup plan.

Now work could proceed until court battles between the county and houseboat owners are settled. A hearing into the county's right to clear underwater streets was to open today before Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Strawberry Cable TV Not Likely Before Christmas

Most homes in Strawberry will not have clearer television pictures until Christmas.

William Hess, acting county public works director, reported to the board of supervisors yesterday that Cable TV of Marin had finally gained access to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. poles to secure its lines but that he felt the work was not going as fast as it could be.

"We feel cable TV service will not be ready in the majority of the area any sooner than Christmas," he said.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Robert Lewis, owner of Cable TV, said extra men were not available to speed up work. He said cables would be secured to poles within 60 days, as previously announced, but did not indicate how long hookups to homes would take.

Supervisor Michael Wornum asked for work schedules, with copies to be sent to directors of the Strawberry Recreation District.

"There's a credibility gap," Wornum said. "People just don't believe anything is happening."

Marin City Awaits Developer Talks

Marin County Redevelopment Agency directors had to bide their time last night, two weeks away from a key meeting with representatives of Marin Development Co., which has development rights in Marin City.

There has been some sentiment from residents to have the developer declared in default of his contract, thereby opening up community development by others.

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, reported that representatives of the New York-based company are scheduled to meet with directors July 16.

Director Vera Schultz said it appeared that Mairn Development Co. was "in serious default," but the agency needed legal advice before it could take any action.

Director Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. said if the Marin Development Co. couldn't come up with a plan that met community approval, under procedures outlined by the agency, "there will be a new developer here."

The agency as "representatives of the people," should make the decision "the people want us to make," said Director Collie Gaines.

Ulysses J. Montgomery, San Francisco urban consultant, who last month proposed a $13 million, three-year development program for Marin City, said last night he needed assurance that land would be available.

Developable land in the community has been committed to the Marin Development Co., and the Tamalpais High School District holds 32 acres in the center of the community.

One resident protested Marin Development Company's Role, saying it seemed that development was left up to the company and not the community. "California Development (former name of Marin Development) hasn't done much," she said.

Because of the uncertainty of the status of development, directors postponed action on a request by Richard Bradley of Marin City to construct a restaurant off Donahue Street.

Directors also reviewed another factor in the community's future, the Marin City Council's program for a development plan.

The council recently received a planning grant from Marin County and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development and is proceeding toward recruiting a staff.

Because the council's program will include an extensive community survey, directors agreed not to undertake a survey of their own on housing needs of community residents.

Wallace K. Shepherd, administrative assistant, asked Montgomery if his plan would coincide with the council's planning program.

Montgomery replied that his proposal was flexible and would be coordinated with the council's program. He stressed the need for undertaking development as soon as possible in view of rising costs of construction and financing.

He emphasized that his proposed program would be controlled by local residents. There would be formation of a nonprofit organization, a Marin City Development Association, that could be advised by the Fillmore Development Association, which has undertaken similar projects, Montgomery explained.

Full Name Omitted In Sentencing Report

The full name, omitted in yesterday's Independent-Journal, of the 19-year-old Mill Valley youth who was sentenced Monday in Marin Superior Court for running a California Highway Patrolman off Lucas Road on March 27 is Terrence Scott Borrman.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered Borrman to spend a year

Five-year Goal

CHANDIGRARH, India (AP) — Punjab state's health department has set itself a goal for the fourth five year plan: No patient should be required to go more than five miles for medical aid.

Finch Faces Thurmond On School Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch, fresh from a losing battle with Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, has taken on another powerful Republican senator in a dispute over school desegregation policies.

Finch is on record opposing any relaxation of federal desegregation standards, such as lifting deadlines for complying with integration guidelines.

However, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., joined by some members of the White House staff and by officials from Finch's own health, education and welfare department, have been pushing hard to get the deadlines lifted.

Finch, however, appeared yesterday to be winning support, both inside the government and from other Republicans, in his effort to maintain the time limits.

And he gained additional time to argue his view when Justice Department officials postponed, for a second time, a desegregation policy statement.

Last week, when Thurmond and his allies were starting their push to lift the deadlines, Finch was concentrating on trying to gain presidential approval for Dr. John H. Knowles as his undersecretary for health and scientific affairs, despite Dirksen's objections.

The Illinois senator won. Knowles was rejected and it looked like a foregone conclusion that Finch would lose on the desegregation issue as well.

Then, sources said, intragovernmental bickering increased over how the statement of the administration's position would be worded.

Originally scheduled to be announced Friday, the statement was further postponed Tuesday when objections to some proposals were raised within the Justice Department's civil rights division.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, head of the division, said it appeared unlikely an announcement would be made this week.

Moreover, Leonard told a group of southern civil rights advocates, who came to Wash-

Housing Agency Sets Appearance In Novato

Marin County Housing Authority directors, contemplating an election next year for more low income housing in Marin, agreed last night to start its campaigning before the Novato City Council Tuesday.

Agency representatives were scheduled to appear before the Novato councilmen to seek expansion of the leased housing program.

Chairman Philip S. Ehrilich Jr. then suggested that the matter of having a vote on additional housing units in the city also be discussed.

"We have got to get the public aware," Ehrlich said.

Director Vera L. Schultz suggested that combination housing for both senior citizens and families be considered since it would be sociologically desirable.

Driectors also voted to ask Marin County supervisors to apply for federal funds for neighborhood development programs at Kentfield Corners and Lomita Park, south of San Rafael.

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, explained that this would defer if not eliminate a proposal by Balboa Enterprises Inc. and Western States Turnkey Corp. to construct a 56-unit, low cost senior citizen housing project at Kentfield Corners.

Directors also voted to increase the salary scale for white collar employees 5 per cent across the board, with the chance for another 2.5 per cent hike Jan. 1 if the cost of living warrants it.

Stutsman explained that the blue collar workers were granted a pay raise in April. Stutsman's salary was increased from $1,454 a month to $1,527.

Directors also approved 20-day vacations after 10 years and 12-day vacations for those three and four years on the job.

Mrs. Schultz asserted that government seemed to be "taking the lead" in providing pay raises, "generous" vacations and fringe benefits and should be more sensitive to taxpayers' complaints.

Stutsman replied that the pay increases were the same as those granted by Marin County and that the cost of living has gone up more than 5 per cent in the past year.

Marin County Housing Authority Also:

FIRE PROTECTION — Heard a report from Stutsman that the Marin City Community Services District and the Marin County Fire Department are considering formation of a volunteer fire fighting group in Marin City.

PROJECT REPORT — Heard a report from Melvin Randolph, Marin City housing manager, on progress during the past year toward improving the project for tenants.

HILARITA POWER — Authorized calling for bids for new electrical lines to the Hilarity Housing project in Tiburon, at a cost up to $5,000 to replace lines now crossing property, which has been bought by the Reed School District.

PUC Rejects Rate Hike Plan Asked By Edison

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission yesterday ruled against a temporary rate increase asked by Southern California Edison Co.

The company requested the hike because of the commission's delay in ruling on a petition for a $60 million annual rate hike.

The commission said no "emergency conditions exist to justify a temporary hike, adding the delay was due in part to Edison's request for a full briefing on the issues.

Mass Ordainer Ordered To Jail

SAN JOSE (UPI)—The Rev. Kirby J. Hensley, who ordained more than 85,000 persons into his Universal Life Church for the price of a postage stamp, was sentenced to a year in jail yesterday for peddling honorary doctor of divinity degrees.

The 57-year-old Hensley, whose church is headquartered in Modesto, was sentenced for violating the state education code by mailing a divinity degree to a San Jose policeman who sent Hensley a $20 "free will offering."

Hensley, a native of Pensacola, N.C., was also fined $625 and placed on a year's probation. Municipal Judge Edward J. Nelson granted a one-month stay of execution pending an appeal.

Bus Strike Bid By Mayor Alioto

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto says he is considering serving as a mediator in an attempt to settle a mechanics strike against Western Greyhound Lines, Inc.

He also said that might lead him to ask federal mediator Sam Kagel to attempt a settlement.

Shop workers represented by the International Association of Machinists, the Teamsters Union and the Automobile, Truck and Car Painters Union struck Greyhound three weeks ago in a contract dispute over wages and working conditions.

Drivers of the Amalgamated Transit Union have gone through picket lines during the walkout and both commuter and long distance buses still are operating.

Stark Reminder

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — This stark reminder is posted outside a drive-in restaurant: "Memory is what makes you wonder what it is you forgot."

'People's Pad' In Hostile Hands

BERKELEY (AP) — The fate of the "people's pad," a former Navy housing project that would be converted into a summer youth hostel, rested today in the hands of its enemies.

Trustees of the Berkeley Unified School District, which owns the project, voted last night to refer a progress report to the South Berkeley Neighborhood Council, a largely Negro organization which opposes the idea.

Richard Foster, superintendent of schools, told the board that if the council doesn't want the hostel, "I certainly will recommend against it."

ART REVIEW

Fair Exhibit Is Suitably Professional

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The Marin Art and Garden Fair's juried art exhibit, which opens tonight, has a look of purposeful professionalism about it. It's a look of technical control, of knowledgeability, that while sometimes cold, can also be very satisfying for its own sake.

Not that everything here is reserved. There are two gruesome ceramic TV dinners which are realistic enough to make you swear off them forever. There's a garish painting of a huge face reflecting an enormous hotdog in its sunglasses. And then there is "The Rodrigues Anti-Earthquake Shrine," a sundial-like wooden star with velvet, mirrors and candle cups on its points. It is centered with a rainbow-haloed doll, a dead butterfly and real grass that requires watering.

The artist is Richard Rodrigues who should be easily recognized as the show's most versatile and magnetic talent. Not only does he have a point of view but he can deliver it with craftsmanship in either seriousness or humor. By contrast to his sculpture, Rodrigues's cloud painting with its floating gray spheres, has pure etherial mood.

Another plus for the exhibit is that it isn't just a rehash of the usual local art. There are familiar names such as Barbara Briggs whose first award, lens-like painting telescopes from black through blue and focuses on vivid color. There is familiar work such as Fred Berensmeier's oft-viewed third award winner "Three Star Owl Set." But there is also interesting new local talent.

Sculpture John Hammond is one whose inverted pyramids look dangerously off balance from any direction. And the entire show is happily heavy with artists who neither live nor show here at all such as David Ogle who won second place for his plexiglass nude sculpture.

If there is a major weakness it lies in watercolors. Most of them are a drag. And Eric Oback's and Fred Herschleb's are such great exceptions they don't even seem to stem from the same group. Oback's beautifully rendered, cut apart and refitted sections of landscape for which he was awarded best-in-show, and Herschleb's double-sectioned overlays of rich, fluid shapes are such strong, personal usages of the medium they make the others seem dull by comparison.

Most of the show has like strength. And while it is seldom adventurous or really very new, its controlled flair is overall and it cuts consistently through a great many styles.

Hub Proposals On Radio Panel

Proposed reconstruction of the Hub in San Anselmo will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board by a panel including San Anselmo Councilmen James F. Reed, Kenneth L. Anderson and Robert M. Scott and Sara Nome, a San Anselmo resident.

Reed and Anderson favor the reconstruction while Scott and Mrs. Nome oppose it.

The live broadcast tomorrow, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be re-broadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Although Spain recently ceded the 579-square-mile territory of Ifni to Morroco, it retains two enclaves in the country — Melilla, an export center, and Ceuta, a fortified city facing Gibraltar.

West Marin Doctor Says He Won't Leave

A medical crisis that threatened to leave West Marin without a doctor of its own has been averted with the decision of one of the two doctors in the sprawling rural area to continue his practice there.

Dr. Richard D. Baldwin told the Independent-Journal yesterday that he has decided to try to contiiue practice. "I think it will work out," he said.

Baldwin and his partner, Dr. Robert L. Houk, announced earlier this year they would not renew their lease on the West Marin Medical Center at Point Reyes Station.

A concerned citizenry — faced with the second such crisis in a year — immediately began seeking replacements with the help of Baldwin and Houk, but, Baldwin said, "there were no serious replies."

Houk went ahead with his decision to quit and is seeking a position in the state of Washington, Baldwin said.

The relatively isolated area, which has less than 4 per cent of Marin's population — a little under 8,000 people — and about 45 per cent of its area, is up against a thorny medical problem: it has too many people for one doctor and not enough for two.

Baldwin said the lease on the medical center, which expired Monday, is under discussion and he is maintaining normal office hours. Additionally, other Marin doctors have offered to be on call for the area on occasion to take some of the work load off him.

"I don't think I could keep it up seven days a week all year," Baldwin said. If he had quit his practice in West Marin, the nearest medical care would have been as far away as Petaluma, Fairfax, Novato and Terra Linda.

Now, Baldwin's — and formerly Houk's — practice stretches from Stinson Beach to Invernss and Marshall and as far inland as Nicasio and Forest Knolls.

Baldwin yesterday stressed that there are no financial difficulties in the area. "It's the isolation and running all over more than anything," he said of the area's difficulty in keeping doctors.

A year ago, Dr. Leslie R. Webber quit to move to Oregon and Dr. Gordon J. Plattes, faced with the physically arduous task of serving the whole area alone, closed his practice.

Baldwin, a younger man than Plattes, is going to try to make a go of it, at least for the time being.

Is Tiburon In The Park Space Hole?

If existing city ordinance are strictly interpreted, downtown Tiburon is 695 parking spaces in the hole, the Tiburon Planning Commission has been told.

Wayne E. Moody, planning director, told the commission Monday that 1,733 parking spaces are required by the city's loading and parking ordinance for downtown shops, offices, restaurants, motels and residence while only 1,038 spaces have been provided.

"Simple subtraction indicates that either there is a 695 space parking shortage in downtown, or the ordinance requirements are excessive," Moody said in a written report.

He recommended that a use permit procedure be established to allow the assignment of parking requirements as uses are established or changed.

Moody also recommended that parking requirements be analyzed for daytime, nighttime, weekday and weekend needs. Daytime and nighttime uses could share the same parking spaces, he said, thereby cutting down on spaces required.

The commission took no action on Moody's recommendations but agreed to discuss the parking problem again at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall. Commissioners also asked Moody to report on commuter parking needs at the Monday meeting.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

ARK — Sitting as a board of adjustments, approved a use permit amendment for the Tiburon Peninsula Club to allow a teen recreation center in a park zone.

AMENDMENT — Heard recommendations by Moody to streamline procedures for the planned development zone ordinance.

RECOMMENDATION — Discussed but took no action on proposed amendments to the planned residential zone and design review ordinances.

The night Paul Revere made his famous ride to warn colonists that the British were coming, there was also another rider who went in another direction but did not gain the notoriety of Revere. He was William Dawes.

Hoffman Resigns Sausalito Council Post; Plans Move

Sausalito City Councilman George C. Hoffman resigned last night in a surprise move, a year after he was elected to the council.

Hoffman said he was moving from Sausalito to Alto for business reasons.

He said he regretted leaving, but was unable to arrange to stay.

"My resignation will make a lot of people happy," he said jokingly, "And I wish I could stay on and make them miserable."

Hoffman was elected to the council in April 1968. He served over three years on the planning commission before that, and has lived in Sausalito 19 years. He is a builder, and operates a home inspection and maintenance service.

The council must choose a successor within 30 days.

New Needy Service For Marin's Poor

A new service project called Helping Elevate Low-income Persons (HELP) was launched today by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, according to W. Robert Lomax Jr., executive director.

HELP will serve as a clearing house for household goods, clothing and nonperishable foods which can be distributed to needy persons.

Donations will be solicited from churches, individuals and fraternal organizations. Centers have been established in San Rafael and Marin City with trucks which will pick up any donations. Centers are also planned for Novato and Fairfax-San Anselmo.

The EOC will also request the Marin County Board of Supervisors to pass a resolution designating Aug. 3 as "Help Sunday" and encouraging county residents to donate goods by taking them to church that day.

A board of directors composed of five low-income persons in each area will govern the operation, set the standards for distribution of goods and manage the project. Ernest Kettenhofen of San Rafael will serve as interim chairman of HELP.

North Carolina ranks first in tobacco production.

Sierra Club Hits Disney Resort

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorneys for the Sierra Club argued yesterday for a preliminary injunction to prevent construction of a Walt Disney resort in the Mineral King Valley, adjacent to Sequoia National Park.

U.S. Dist. Judge William T. Sweigert delayed his decision on the matter until July 7.

Attorney Leland Selna claimed the recreational development, which would include skiing, is "inconsistent" with the natural beauties of the wildlife refuge and would permanently alter the ecology of the area.

Sausalito Again Votes Variance For Edgewater Restaurant Plans

Ignoring a withering blast from attorney Richard V. Bettini, the Sausalito City Council last night voted 3-2 for a resolution declaring Edgewater Yacht Co. had met legal requirements for a variance granted in February to pave the way for construction of a 109-seat restaurant in the Edgewater building on Turney Street.

Bettini charged the city was "covering up tracks" with the lengthy resoultion. He called it a "bizarre proceeding" which challenged the council's integrity.

The vote was identical to the vote in February, approving the variance to allow remodeling the building for the restaurant. Councilmen George C. Hoffman and Jan Paul Dyk voted against the resolution. Councilmen Alexander R. Imlay and Robin Sweeny and Mayor Earl N. Dunphy voted for it.

The resolution, prepared by City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, listed grounds on which the council found Edgewater met legal requirements for the variance — hardship, special circumstances, no special privilege.

Bettini said the council had to ask if it really had considered all the things listed when it acted in February, "or is this only an effort to cover up the track of something obviously illegal?"

Earlier, the council unanimously approved an encroachment permit by Edgewater to allow a boardwalk around the building, partly on the Humboldt Street right-of-way.

The actions clear the decks for a July 11 session in Marin Superior Court when Judge Joseph G. Wilson will consider suits by Bettini, representing restaurateur Sam Zakessian, to void city building permits issued for the project.

In a long opinion, Jordan told the council he believed its actions in the matter have been legal and proper so far, and rebutted Bettini's arguments point-by-point.

Jordan also said a limit on alterations to a nonconforming building to 50 per cent of its market value did not apply because in granting a variance the city made the building legally conforming.

The council approved the 1969-70 budget of $1,264,852, which is expected to keep the city tax rate at $1.315, and also passed a salary schedule for employees granting raises of 7.5 per cent almost across the board.

The Sausalito City Council also:

TOWAWAY — Passed an emergency ordinance banning parking or driving on the raised center strip on Bridgeway between Princess and Richardson streets, making the strip a towaway zone. The strip is reserved for emergency vehicles.

DANCE — Approved an application by the Sausalito Teen Center to hold a dance from 8 p.m. to midnight July 10 at Central School.

WIDENING — Authorized seeking bids for widening Bridgeway to four lanes with a landscaped center strip between Olive and Nevada streets, and approved proposed street lighting in the center strip.

MOBIL — Granted a variance sought by Mobil Oil Co. for a station at Second and Main streets, setting a nine-foot rear setback and allowing a sign more than five feet from the building.

HOUSING — Approved a use permit, variance and encroachment permit to allow rebuilding a fire-damaged house at 63 Central Avenue as a two-unit dwelling. The building had four units before the January fire, but is in a one-family zone.

HEARING — Set a July 15 hearing on a request by M. Bruce Drever to allow joint parking use on weekends at the Hurricane Gulch Shopping Center so a restaurant there can open at 11 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. Joint parking is now limited to after 5 p.m.

PARK — Approved final plans for Princess Park and authorized the planning firm, Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams, to advertise for bids.

TELEPHONES —Approved a request by Pacific Telephone Co. to install two telephone booths at the downtown gazebo.

ZONING — Passed a resolution eliminating the deposit required for most planning applications.

PARKING — Told staff to review a protest by Robert W. Shinn of 370 Sausalito Boulevard against a parking ban on the newly-paved part of the street.

Pen Pals Meet After 43 Years

KINNEAR, Wyo. (AP) — When Mrs. Bill Watson of Kennear was a pupil at a small rural school she started corresponding with a pen pal.

The two girls kept in touch with each other through their grade school and high school days, the early years of their marriage and finally corresponded about their children and grandchildren.

Recently Mrs. Paul Muhs of Council Bluffs, Iowa, stopped at Kinnear en route to Oregon for a vacation. The two pen pals who had written to each other for 43 years finally met face to face.

Mobile Home Park Ordinance Advanced

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved a mobile home park ordinance to provide for the orderly development of mobil home park zones.

In the report submitted by William C. McGivern, planning director, it was recommended that parks be a minimum of 10 acres and be located in areas where the general plan suggests high density housing.

Maximum density set for mobile home parks was seven units per acre with the park having a minimum frontage of 250 feet from a collector street.

Each mobile home must have a front yard setback of 20 feet and rear and side yard setbacks of 15 feet.

Included in the ordinance is the requirement of a six-foot solid masonry wall or decorative fencing to enclose the entire park and auxiliary buildings.

Access drives must be a minimum of 25 feet wide from shoulder-to-shoulder or 33 feet in width if parking is to be permitted to one side or 41 feet with parking on both sides.

Space between mobile homes was set at a minimum of 10 feet and 20 feet from a building or structure. Parking was set at two 9-by-19-feet spaces per unit.

The Petaluma Planning Commission Also:

SIGN — Approved the use permit application of Standard Oil Co. to relocate an existing sign at the northwest corner of its service station on Denman Road.

TOWER — Reviewed the request of Nelson Asbell to relocate an existing television tower from its present location to another site on a vacant lot at 2080 Harrison Street. The matter was continued for study of easements.

HOSPITAL — Denied the request of Sunco Development Corp. to renew its use permit for a convalescent hospital at 2001 East Washington Street for another year.

CONTINUED FOR THE Greenbriar Subdivision No. 2 on McGregor Avenue off The subdivision is planned by the antas Development Corp.

SUBDIVISION DEVELOPMENT — Continued for further study the tentative map for the Greenbriar Subdivision No. 2 on McGregor Avenue off South McDowell Boulevard. The subdivision is planned by the Qantas Development Corp.

Sausalito Teacher Aides Reject Pay Scale Offer

Teacher aides and an aide to the Central School principal last night turned down pay offers from the Sausalito School District board and asked for a greater increase.

The board went into closed session to give Assistant Supt. Joseph Amato new instructions for further pay talks today.

The teacher aides were offered a pay range of $2.58 to $3.30 an hour, but asked for a scale of $3.21 to $3.91.

Community worker Gabe Jackson, aide to the Central School principal, asked for a "salary commensurate with the position" instead of the board offer of $6,008 to $8,179 a year, but he did not name an amount.

The board elected trustee Nathaniel Johnson president for 1969-70; David E. Freedheim was named vice president; Martha Freebairn-Smith clerk; James E. Muldoon assistant clerk, and new trustee C. Gerald Clear trustee representative.

The Sausalito School District Board Also:

MATHEMATICS — Rehired Carole Alexander to teach a new mathematics class. She was paid last year with state funds in the SB28 special mathematics program which won notice throughout the Bay Area. The district is continuing a special mathematics program with its own funds next year. Her salary is $8,163.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of junior accountant Martha Butterfield for medical reasons and hired Diane Nelson to replace her at a salary of $518 a month.

Lambert New Cotati School Board Leader

Richard G. Lambert was elected president of the Cotati School District trustees at the board's reorganizational meeting last night.

Lester H. Petersen, past president was elected as board clerk. Supt. Duncan A. Coleman was named secretary.

Appointed as representatives to the Sonoma County Committee on School District Organization were trustees Maurice Fredericks and Andrew Camozzi. Appointed to the personnel and finance committee were Petersen and Fredericks; named to the building committee were Bart C. Mitchell and Lambert, and appointed to the curriculum committee were Camozzi and Fredericks.

The board reestablished its meeting schedule as the second and Fourth Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. at the district office.

Coleman said the district '69-70 budget would be reviewed in committee on July 11 at 7:30 p.m. and be presented to the board as a special meeting Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m. He said the regular meeting of Aug. 12 would not be held.

California produces more prunes than any other state.

Board's Gavel For Mrs. Busse

Trustee Cornelia B. Busse was elected president of the San Anselmo School District board at an organizational meeting last night.

Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr. was elected clerk and Basil Hugh Scalabrini, trustee representative, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The elections were held after the seating of trustees Franklin C. Latcham, Mary Helen Olive and Scalabrini, all elected in the April 15 election.

The board agreed to continue to have adjourned or curriculum meetings on the first Tuesday of the month and regular meetings on the third Tuesdays. Mrs. Busse was absent.

Antiwar Amnesty Asked By Clergy

BOSTON (AP) — A body of Protestants whose roots go back to the nation's beginnings wants President Richard M. Nixon to grant amnesty to young men who have been punished or driven into exile for refusing to serve in the Vietnam War.

The United Church of Christ, at its policy-making assembly last night, urged "in the name of Christian love" a pardon for those imprisoned, indicted or caused to flee the country in resistance to service in Vietnam.

Dillon Beach Queried On Sewage Plan

The North Marin County Water District board last night approved a sewage disposal agreement for Units 3 and 4 of 48 lots of Oceana Marin.

It also approved the formation of an assessment district for construction of a sewage disposal system for the lots, according to Manager Eugene Churchill.

The board then approved a letter to be sent out to all of the residents of Dillon Beach area proposing an area-wide sewage disposal plant.

"If there is enough interest shown through this, then the water district would form a larger assessment district and install larger sewage disposal system," Churchill said.

Water to the development and to Dillon Beach will continue to be supplied by the Coast Springs Water Co. owned by L. R. Vanoni, according to Churchill.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

BLACK POINT — Amended assessments in the Black Point improvement district after no one appeared to protest at the public hearing. This was done because eight of the properties have been divided since the original assessment, Churchill said.

Tired Driver Strikes Pole, Chips Tooth

Raymond G. Wilkerson, 39, of 123 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, was treated for a chipped tooth and injury to his mouth early today after his car struck a utility pole in San Rafael.

San Rafael police said Wilkerson apparently fell asleep while driving west on Third Street shortly after 3 a.m. The mishap occurred in front of 1536 Third Street.

Oakland Sites Trouble BART

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District chief engineer says he will recommend that directors reject a bid for construction of two downtown Oakland subway stations.

Christensen & Foster of Santa Rosa submitted the low bid of $5.5 million yesterday for the stations at 12th and 19th streets. That was $1.5 million more than the estimate of BART's engineers, Parson, Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel.

David G. Hammond, the chief engineer, said: "I can see no way out, except to redesign and put them out for bids again."

BART, a rapid transit system being constructed in San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa counties, is having financial troubles, brought on mainly by inflation.

Routine Stop Helps CHP Nab Suspect

Highway patrolmen stopped to help a stalled motorist Monday and bagged a robbery suspect, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Donald Edward Smith, 33, a former San Quentin Prison inmate with no known address, was charged in Marin Municipal Court yesterday with being a felon in possession of a gun and possessing other people's credit cards.

Smith pleaded innocent and a preliminary hearing was set for July 15.

Patrolmen said they stopped at 7:30 p.m. Monday to aid Smith, who was getting out of his stalled car on Highway 101 in Corte Madera. One officer noticed the license plate looked newly attached and asked who owned the car.

When Smith produced identification, officers saw a credit card in his wallet issued to James Daley. Asked whose it was, Smith reportedly answered, "They belong to the people whose name is on them."

A radio check indicated the license plates were stolen, although the car was not. Searching the car, patrolmen found a loaded .41 Magnum revolver and a .45 automatic pistol, and some 20 credit cards owned by three persons, which a check indicated were taken in an armed robbery in Reno.

Smith entered San Quentin in December, 1961, to serve time for two robberies in Los Angeles County. Me was paroled in January 1968.

Of the some 250 species of sharks, the only proven killers are the great white, mako, bull, lemon, tiger, dusky, blue, the largest hammerheads and the whitetip.

Dress Up A Pineapple Salad

In a pineapple rut? Yes, if you've been making Pineapple Delicious all your life and know the recipe by heart. If your kids love it that much, you probably won't have a bit of trouble foisting some new dishes upon them, and what a break for the adults. Pineapple Burgers to start with. The canned pineapple slices are centered with a fresh garden relish of tomato, celery, green pepper and green onion. From plain hamburgers to Pineapple Burgers with Garden Relish is a mere matter of time. Five minutes if you're slow.

Another dish to relish is Pineapple Seabreeze Salad. The contrasting flavors and textures of canned pineapple chunks with grapefruit sections, cucumber and shrimp are delightful together. You could use a simple oil and vinegar dressing if you're pressed for time. Otherwise, this spicy tomato dressing is the perfect one to meld all the flavors.

Once you get the hang of it, pineapple sorcery is the easiest form of magic. Some things can be brought around with the help of canned pineapple. Do a little experimenting in small batches to see for yourself how far you can go with a sense of adventure.

TROPICAL PINEAPPLE BURGERS

1 pound ground lean beef
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon oregano
Soy sauce
4 canned pineapple slices
Fresh garden relish

Combine beef, salt, monosodium glutamate, onion, Worcestershire and oregano. Mix lightly but well. Divide into 4 portions, shaping each into a round patty. Brush with soy sauce. Pan broil to crusty brown on one side. Turn, top each patty with pineapple slice. Brush lightly with soy sauce. Cover and continue cooking to desired degree of doneness. Serve with Fresh Garden Relish. Makes 4 servings.

FRESH GARDEN RELISH: Combine 1 cup chopped tomato, ¼ cup each chopped celery and green pepper and 2 tablespoons chopped green onion. Drain off excess liquid. Combine vegetables with ¼ teaspoon seasoned salt, 2 teaspooons prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Makes about 1½ cups.

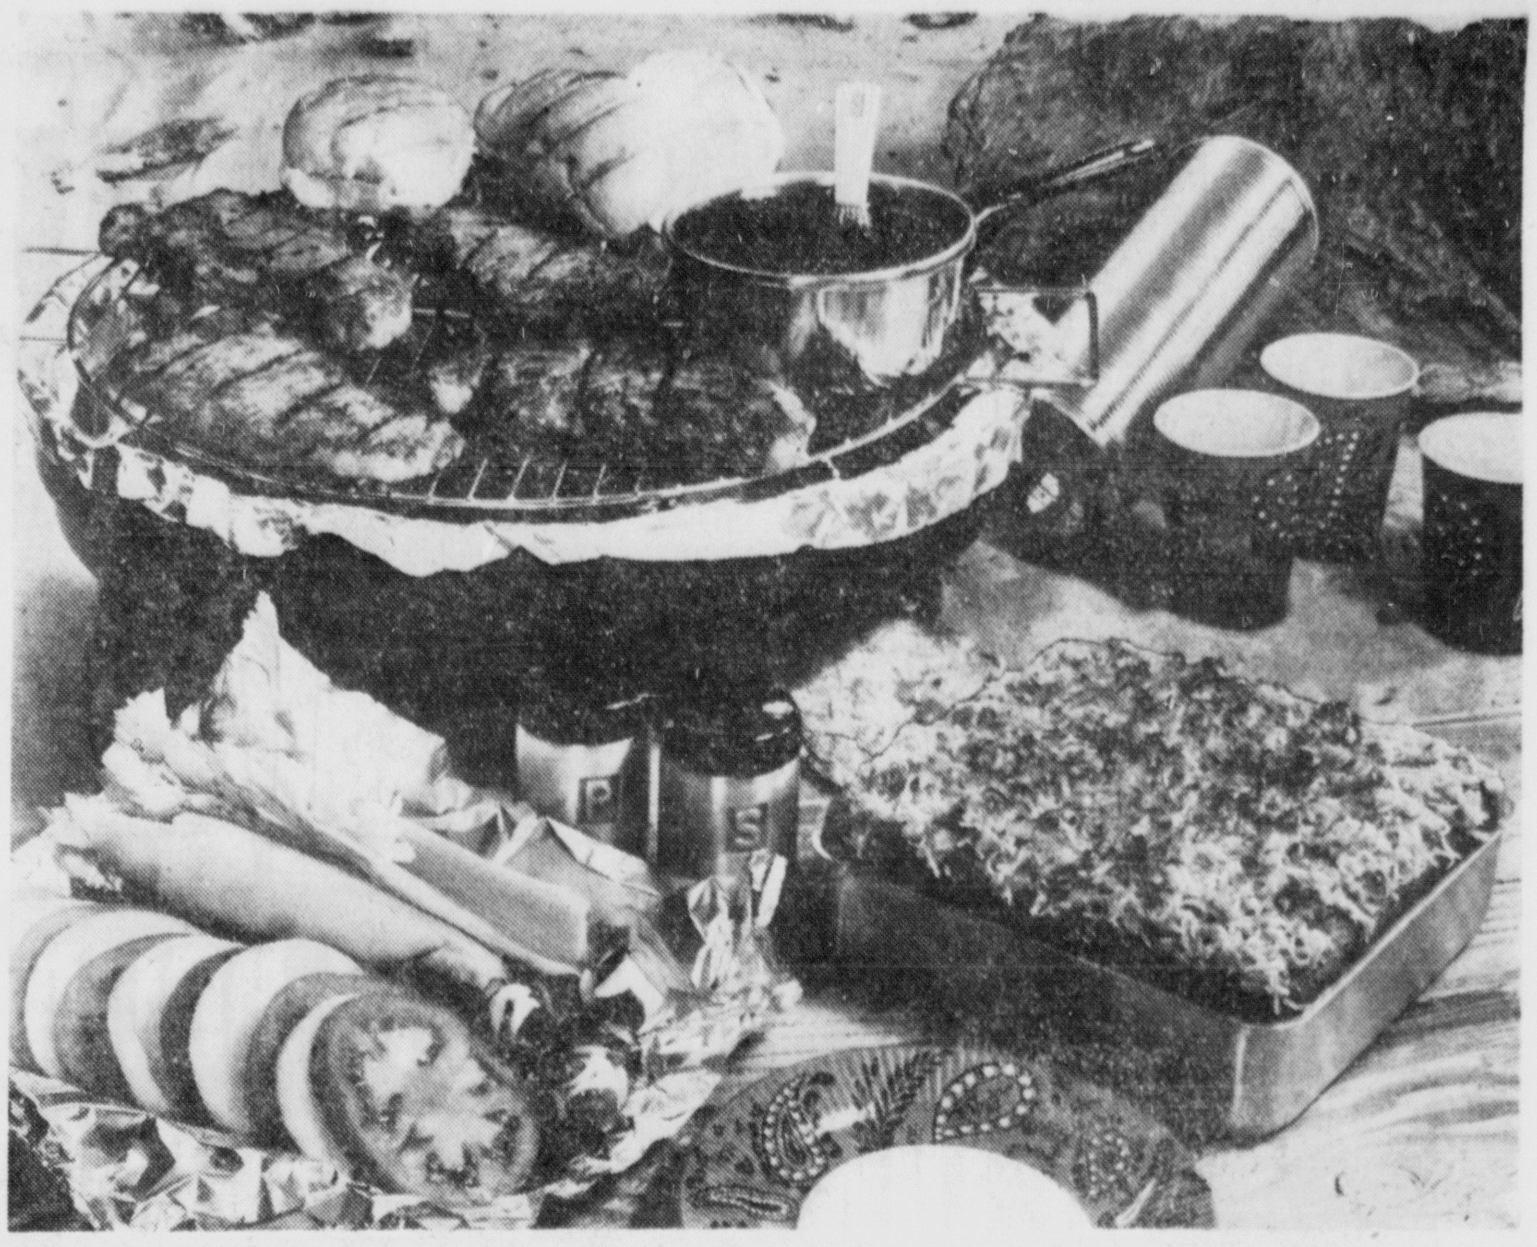
PINEAPPLE SEABREEZE SALAD

A salad bowl to set before luncheon guests. . . . It's one to dress and serve at the table.

1 (1-pound 14-ounce) can pineapple chunks
2 cups grapefruit segments
1 sliced cucumber
2 cups cooked or canned shrimp
2 cups shredded crisp salad greens
Crisp romaine
Spicy tomato dressing

Combine drained pineapple chunks with grapefruit, cucumber and shrimp. Line bottom of chilled salad bowl with shredded greens. Arrange romaine spears around sides. Pile pineapple mixture in bowl. Serve with spicy tomato dressing. Makes 6 servings.

SPICY TOMATO DRESSING: Combine ¼ cup each, syrup drained from canned pineapple, tomato catsup, salad oil and vinegar with ½ teaspoon each of seasoned salt, pepper, dry mustard and celery seed. Shake vigorously to blend. Let stand 1 hour to mellow flavors. Shake well before using. Makes about 1 cup dressing.

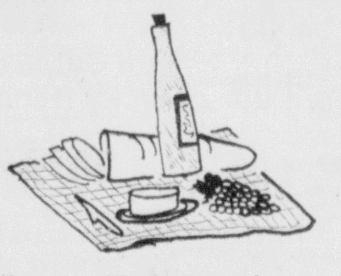


Ready The Grill For Fun On Fourth

Beef is great on the grill, especially if it is a steak sandwich. Broiled to order over charcoal briquets — rib eyes, sirloin club, and filet mignon — there is no better fodder!

Here are some suggestions, with a complete menu, for your next steak sandwich cookout:

Grilling: Place steaks over hottest part of barbecue briquet fire and grill quickly, allowing about 4 minutes on a side for ½-inch thick steaks. Brush with spicy barbecue sauce once or twice. Heat sauce and toast rolls on grill's outer edge.



Serving: Serve steaks on toasted rolls or French bread. Help yourself to celery, cucumber sticks, and Bermuda onion and tomato slices from a foil package. Cut the cake and serve it right from the pan at your cookout. Pour beverages into paper cups.

SPICY BARBECUE SAUCE

Prepare ahead of time. Saute one medium chopped onion in ⅓ cup corn oil. Add ½ cup each: white corn syrup, ketchup, water and wine vinegar. Add 2 tablespoons each of prepared mustard and Worcestershire sauce; 2 teaspoons salt, and a generous grating of pepper. Simmer for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 2½ cups.

COCONUT TOPPED PUDDING CAKE

1 2-layer package regular yellow cake mix
1 package vanilla or lemon instant pudding
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
⅓ cup salad oil
3 eggs

Place cake mix, pudding, and salt in large mixer bowl. Add water, oil, and eggs; blend at low speed, then beat at medium speed for 3 minutes, or until smooth and creamy. Pour batter into a greased, floured 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees F 50 to 55 minutes. Let cool 10 minutes. Fold a 40-inch sheet of 12" wide foil wrap to make a long band 3 inches wide. Wrap around pan, overlapping at ends and pressing to pan. It should extend up 2 inches. Spread with the following topping:

COCONUT TOPPING

½ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup light brown sugar
¼ cup milk
Few grains of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup shredded coconut
½ cup chopped walnuts

Blend all ingredients together. Spread over cake. Brown slowly and carefully under the broiler (Mother take note — Dad is busy outside with the barbecue grill) until topping is golden — about 5 minutes.

Barbecue Ham Slices With Kabobs For An Outdoor Meal

Keeping cool isn't difficult when you move your kitchen to the back yard and put your charcoal barbecue grill to work.

Here's a combination to delight the family: festive apricot-glazed ham slices grilled with dinner-vegetable kabobs. It's an easy meal to prepare and takes only about 40 minutes of cooking time on the grill.

Ham is a perfect meat for outdoor cookery. It's tender, of course, It's lean, so there's little smoke. Using either "fully cooked" or "cook-before-eating" ham, the cooking time is short. Two of the inch-thick ham slices will provide eight to 10 servings.

Also, try these other flavorful pork cuts on your grill: pork chops, pork blade steaks, smoked shoulder roll slices, Canadian-style bacon, thick slices of bacon, sausage links and patties.

FESTIVE HAM SLICES AND KABOBS

2 slices smoked ham, cut 1 to 1½ inches thick
1 cup apricot preserves
½ teaspoon powdered ginger
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons lime juice
24 small canned or cooked potatoes
24 1-inch squares green pepper
24 cooked 1-inch thick slices carrot
½ cup melted butter or margarine
Salt, Pepper

Combine apricot preserves, ginger, soy sauce and lime juice. Mix well. Thread 3 carrot pieces, 3 green pepper squares and 3 potatoes alternately on each of eight 10 to 12-inch skewers.

Place ham slices on grill over briquets. Broil, slowly, 10 minutes; brush with apricot mixture, turn; brush with apricot mixture, broil another 10 minutes. Repeat procedure. Place vegetable kabobs on grill, brush with melted butter or margarine. Turn occasionally and continue brushing and broiling kabobs until potatoes are lightly browned and other vegetables are heated through. 8 servings.

Sprouts And Burger Bake Pleases Men

Please the men on your list the next time you plan a stag party or make a dish-to-tote to an all male gathering. Brussels Sprouts 'n Burger Bake is a meal-in-one that is made to a man's liking. Hearty and satisfying, it captures the flavors of good old-fashioned cooking. It's easy on the chef, too, because it can be prepared in advance and refrigerated until it is time to heat for serving.

Convenience foods star in this dish. Both the tangy, cheese-flavored rice, called Rice Risotto, and tender baby Brussels sprouts in butter sauce come frozen in boilable cooking pouches. You can thaw them in the same cooking water while your hamburger is frying. The casserole bakes in layers, with a layer of rice first, then hamburger, Brussels sprouts and finally a rich creamy soup on top.

To complete your menu, serve a crisp tossed green salad, dark pumpernickel rolls and a rich chocolate cake.

SPROUTS 'N BURGER BAKE

1 12-oz. package rice risotto (rice with Cheddar cheese and pimiento) frozen in cooking pouch.
2 10-oz. packages baby Brussels sprouts frozen in butter sauce
1 pound hamburger
½ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can cream of celery soup
¼ cup milk or water
Shredded Cheddar cheese, if desired.

Slip pouches of rice risotto and Brussels sprouts in boiling water. Bring water to second boil; continue cooking just long enough to thaw rice and vegetables. Do not cover pan.

Meanwhile, fry hamburger with onion; drain off excess fat. Add salt and pepper. Place rice in 2-quart casserole; fluff with fork. Spoon hamburger over rice; top with Brussels sprouts. Dilute soup with milk or water, pour over casserole mixture. Garnish with sharp Cheddar cheese, if desired. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes.

Yield: 6 servings.

Parties Given For Africa Bound Donald Smith Family

By MOLLY MARIN

Feted at many farewell parties were the Donald Smiths of Mill Valley, who left Sunday with their son Brandon, 15, and daughters Devon, 14, and Tia, 9, for two years in Africa.

Mr. Smith, a professor of economics at City College of San Francisco, will be teaching economics at the Uganda College of Commerce in Kampala, Africa.

The entire family will first spend six weeks at Columbia University in New York City learning Swahili, and the teenagers will have a special indoctrination at the United Nations.

In Kampala, Brandon and Devon will attend the African high school, and Tia will attend the elementary school.

On June 18 Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byard Jr., were hosts at their home in Mill Valley at a large farewell party, which was also a celebration of their 48th wedding anniversary.

Others giving parties for the Smiths were the Grant Robbinses, Bart Grimeses, William Schwarzers and Frank Whiteheads of Mill Valley and Walter Morenos of Ignacio. A no-host party was also given at the home of the James Goldsmiths of Mill Valley. Devon was given a surprise party by her friend, Patty Theiss of Mill Valley.

MARTY MAZERES should have a few tales to tell his sixth grade classmates at San Ramon Elementary School when he returns from a European trip with his grandfather, J. A. Mazeres.

The eleven-year-old will visit both of his fraternal great-grandmothers in Southern France and then tour London, Paris, the Pyrennes, Lourdes, Marseille and Barcelona.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mazeres of Novato and has a fifteen-year-old brother, Greg.

MRS. LOUISE McPhee, formerly of Novato and now a resident of Long Beach, was in Novato on Thursday and was hostess at a luncheon for a number of her friends. Attending the luncheon and then going to Mrs. Sydney Smith's home to play bridge were Mmes. Robert Farrell, Herbert Sears, Erith Peterson, Wilfred Waldrop, Russell Zenk, R. M. Crane and Smith.

BACK FROM Grand Rapids, Mich., where they attended their son's wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Downer and son, Jeffrey, of Tiburon.

Hugh Downer Jr. took Lynn Chamberlain of Grand Rapids as his bride on June 21. She is the daughter of Mrs. John Battjes of Grand Rapids and the late Dr. Robert Chamberlain. Mr. and Mrs. Downer will live in Palo Alto while Hugh continues his studies at Stanford University School of Law.

Nancy Downer, who is studying at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, met her parents and brother in Grand Rapids.

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. Mark E. Cory of Novato have returned from a three-month trip to Germany, Italy and Greece.

Driving across the country to New York, they stopped in Washington, D.C., to see their son, Lt. Gregory Cory, who is with the Army courier service. While in Germany they visited their oldest son and wife, the Mark E. Corys III. Mark is working on a doctorate in German language at the University of Munich.

They went on to Italy and in Athens, Greece, they met with three former interpreters of Colonel Cory's, who was stationed in northern Greece in 1948-49.

A Call For Female Liberation

By PETER J. SHAW

LONDON (UPI) — The rice pudding puzzled the five-year-old girl.

"Why does uncle get his rice pudding served to him while he sits in his big leather chair?" she asked her mother, one of the females left at the dinner table.

"BECAUSE HE'S a man," was the reply.

Thirty-one years later the answer still disturbs playwright Jane Arden. She is in the growing vanguard of British women calling for a female revolution to terminate what she calls "the live psychodrama of male-female distinction."

The contemporary trend toward unisex in clothing appeases Miss Arden and her mates only a little. But she admits it may be a sign "the whole him and her concept is starting to break down."

Miss Arden says, "Women are oppressed like any other slave group.

"AND OPPRESSION is when you're defined, when you're imprisoned in a character group and told what you can do and cannot do."

Miss Arden thinks there will be no liberation of women "until the definition of family is solved." The family structure is at the root of female woes, she says.

"The family unit is the most unbelieveably horrible thing. We need a society where children are everyone's children —a group society where it isn't 'them and us' fighting social wars."

The key issue, Miss Arden says, is "can man live without someone below or above him?"

ALLIES OF Miss Arden include actress Diane Hart who is trying to form a separate independent political party for women in Britain.

"Men don't like women with brains," Miss Hart, 42, says. "They get jealous. But by avoiding them women can decide their own manifesto and really get started on the problems facing the country."

The most aggressive of the female revolutionaries to surface thus far are the dozens who make up the Women's Liberation Workshop, a brimstone-breathing band within the more conventional National Joint Action Campaign Committee for Women's Equal Rights.

Miss Arden remains one of the more erudite spokeswomen for the liberation movement. A chain-smoking blend of philosophical pensiveness and gamin wit, she fixes the listener with wide brown eyes while sitting barefoot on floor cushions.

SHE RECENTLY authored a play called "Vagina Rex and the Gas Oven" which dealt bluntly with female oppression.

Now she is starting a liberation newsletter called "The Gas Oven." The title derives from the attachment of most women to their kitchens. "And many women use them for suicide," she adds.

The newsletter will "probe the resentment, hidden violence and pain experienced by woman paralyzed by a male society," Miss Arden says.

"WOMEN, LIKE the Negro, is singled out from the beginning. She's considered something special — passive, frivolous, weak, lacking in leadership, incapable of dealing with power.

"Is it said the whole range of human experience isn't open to men? I don't mean equal pay or a woman being president. I'm talking about freedom. We don't have a 'special' role to play," she argues.

"Who ARE these spinachloving, Spock-oriented, honey-giving women anyhow?"

Miss Arden contends most girls "are brainwashed into their roles by the age of eight or nine. In their middle twenties they may see they've been duped."

Most women could avoid psychiatric care if they had freedom to choose "our own projects and our own destinies," she says.

"Free women and you free the world of an enormous number of social problems."

They're Redesigning The Tomato So That It Looks Like A Wiener

CHULA VISTA (AP) — If you were redesigning a tomato, what shape would you seek?

Here in this San Diego suburb they're trying to develop one that looks like a weiner.

They call them bologna or sausage tomatoes. Growers are testing consumer reaction in the fresh tomato market to see if there's a demand.

The odd shape originally was developed for canning. The longer, uniform shape reduced or eliminated the need to shave or mash tomatoes to get them into a can.

They also are easier to slice. The average bologna tomato is 2 to 2½ inches in diameter and 4 to 5 inches long. Breeders try to make them even longer and narrower, and also are striving to improve flavor.

They're even tackling a tougher problem: eliminating the depression at the stem end and flatting the tomato at the bottom.

A triumph at the two ends would reduce waste in the slicing.

But don't look for the sausage types at your neighborhood market. They're being sold on a trial basis in just a few stores. If they catch on, it will be three or four years before they are widely available.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Girl Makes Family Miserable With Attitude Towards Babies

DEAR HELEN:

My wife and I each had five children by former marriages. We all get along great except for my oldest daughter who resented our having a baby last year, and is throwing a fit because my wife is pregnant again. (We can afford a big family, and we have love enough for all.)

She disrupts the whole family, and her grandmother eggs her on. My mother considers it indecent to have more than two children, so she ignores all of ours except the two oldest. She spoils and pampers them, but it has had an effect only on my daughter. Our son won't buy this sort of thing.

I must admit this 14-year-old girl is a big problem. She is bad-tempered and lazy. She has run away twice, and each time ended up at her grandmother's, which is where she wants to live.

I'm not in favor, as I feel my mother is trying to take my daughter away from me, but we can't go on fighting. It makes for big tensions in an otherwise very compatible home. I seem to have failed as a parent, in this case.

Why, when you raise them all the same, does one turn out so differently? — FATHER

DEAR FATHER:

You didn't fail. With an over 90 per cent compatibility record in your family, I'd say you are an outstanding success as a parent. Each child is "born different." Even a paragon sometimes can't win 'em all.

For the good of the whole, let your daughter go to her disdainful grandmother. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Thirty years ago 10 of us young matrons started a little club. We did charity work, volunteered for Red Cross during the war, and finally ended up playing bridge once a week.

Of course we are getting along in years and some are widowed. The trouble is one lady has become very careless with her housework, which wouldn't bother us, except that we take turns being hostess and always serve lunch. Her dishes are so dirty we hate to eat there, but we don't want to hurt her feelings. Since her husband died, she just lies on the couch and watches television all day. You'd think her daughters, who visit her often, would insist that she clean up.

Since they don't, would it be all right to give her a little hint? — MRS. CLEAN AND FRIENDS

DEAR MRS. C.:

If friends of 30 years' standing can't level with each other, who can? Let your friend know how the rest of you feel about widows who give up. She may thank you for it—later on.—H.

Canned Foods Are Time-Savers

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Elderly homemakers, and others too, may find a real convenience in a shelf well-stocked with canned foods.

Mrs. Ruth J. Buck, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the Pennsylvania State University, notes that canned vegetables, meats and soups are convenience foods that save time in labor and preparation.

When selecting, Mrs. Buck advises, buy the can size that fits your needs. While larger cans are often more economical, they can be costlier if not all the food is eaten.

Green Chili Iceberg

To ½ cup dairy sour cream add 2 tablespoons chopped canned green chilis, ¼ tablespoon salt, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard. Mix well and serve on crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce.

Mill Valley Schools Boost Paychecks By 5 Per Cent

A 5 per cent salary scale increase for all district employees has been approved by the Mill Valley School District Board, according to Supt. James A. Collins.

The salary scale hike, a compromise following weeks of negotiations between the teachers' negotiating council and Collins, will cost $130,000 in the 1969-70 budget, Collins said.

Extension of health benefits to employees families, estimated to cost $30,000, was also approved at the board's Monday night meeting, Collins said.

At the June 16 board meeting, teachers asked for a 6 per cent raise while the board offered 4 per cent. Originally, teachers had sought an 8 per cent hike, Collins noted.

Collins also received a 5 per cent raise, increasing his yearly salary from $20,000 to $21,000. The superintenednt's salary was negotiated seperately from those of other personnel.

Trustees also agreed to allow three days of sick leave for emergency absences and said they would eliminate nonteaching duties, such as playground supervision, for teachers as soon as additional funds are available, Collins reported.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

LETTERS — Received 70 letters from parents in the Strawberry Point School attendance area protesting the transfer of Principal Robert DeVilbiss to Tamalpais Valley School and the assignment of a half-time principal at Strawberry. The board said a full-time principal will be assigned to the school as soon as additional funds are available.

GIFTS — Accepted $175 in contributions from Bill and Sally Garoutte, John H. Cutler and Conrad Von Blankenburg, and allocated the money to the books and supplies budget.

PLACQUES — Presented placques to retiring trustees Joyce Gross and William Clark for service to the district.

CONTRIBUTION — Agreed to give top priority during budget considerations to allocating $1,750 to help establish the position of a multi-ethnic education coordinator in the county schools office.

COMMITTEE — Named Galen H. Williams and Howard Baumgarten co-chairmen of a Citizens Committee to Study the district's financial policies.

BUDGET — Postponed action on the proposed 1969-70 budget to 8 p.m. next Monday at Park School.

LEAVES — Granted a maternity leave of absence to Shirley Hasley, fourth grade teacher at Park School, and agreed to cancel a leave of absence for Thomas Eggert, instructor of the educationally handicapped at Strawberry Point School, at Eggert's request.

NEW ORLEANS IN ROSS

The new brick wall flanking the entrance of the Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross sets the New Orleans motif for the popular annual event. Marcie Hicklin (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hicklin of San Rafael, looks in 2-year-old disbelief at melon-sized lemons entered in the fair by D. S. Lange of San Rafael. The fair opens today at 6 p.m. See also story, page 1. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean).

Orr Declines To Appear At Probe Into Grievance

Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr has declined to appear at a hearing into charges that he struck a 17-year-old youth outside a teen-age dance at the Fairfax Pavilion on Memorial Day.

Attorney Bella H. Aaron, chairman of the police-community relations committee of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said yesterday that the committee had hoped to hold a hearing into a grievance filed against Orr by Michael Mulqueeny, a Los Ranchitos youth, and an ad hoc committee.

Mulqueeny claims he saw Orr strike David E. Pratt, 17, of Fairfax, after Orr had ordered a large crowd that had been refused admittance to the dance to disperse.

Mrs. Aaron said she was informed yesterday by Wallace S. Myers, Fairfax city attorney that Orr "won't come" to a hearing. Myers gave no reason, Mrs. Aaron said.

Myers could not be reached today for comment.

The committee is empowered by county ordinance to investigate and conciliate human rights disputes, but has limited subpoena powers.

Mrs. Aaron was uncertain about the committee's next course of action.

Meanwhile, Mulqueeny revealed that the Marin District Attorney's office, which says it is conducting an investigation into the alleged assault, declined to take his statement because he wanted a lawyer present during questioning.

"They told me they don't allow lawyers present for statements," he said. "I told them I'm not going to make a statement unless I have a lawyer present.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony, assigned to investigate the case, could not be reached for comment on Mulqueeney's report.

Mulqueeny said he wanted an attorney present because "I believe they're not trying to investigate the case. I think the thing is being used to prosecute Pratt and not investigate Orr.

Orr asserts that Pratt, who faces charges of disturbing the peace, assault and resisting arrest, was belligerent and offensive and kicked several policemen.

Mulqueeny said he had conferred with the state attorney general's office in San Francisco about the investigation and it agreed to make inquiries of Marin authorities.

Bolinas, Stinson Set 4th Events

The Fourth of July will be as thoroughly celebrated on Bolinas Lagoon as anywhere in Marin.

The traditional Fourth of July carnival of the Stinson Beach Community Center will start at 7 p.m. tomorrow and run through Saturday. The carnival will have a gallery of game booths, refreshment stands, and a sandwich and salad bar for the hungry.

The carnival will open at 11 a.m. Friday and Saturday, and will continue all three nights "until there are no more customers," said Mildred Sadler of Stinson Beach.

The event was founded in 1947 to raise funds, and has helped build the community center, the Stinson Beach Fire Station and a community chapel. Carnival sponsors are the five groups comprising Community Center Inc. — the volunteer fire department, the progressive club, allied arts, the community church and the Bolinas-Stinson Parent-Teacher Club.

In Bolinas, the traditional Fourth of July costume parade will form at 9:30 a.m. in front of the marine biology station on Wharf Road, then follow a Bolinas fire truck to the beach at 10 a.m. for games and prizes to be awarded children for costumes.

The parade annually attracts "everyone and his billygoat," one resident said. The parade is completely free-form, with no bands or organized marching, but plenty of adults, children, dogs and other family components, all wearing and doing pretty much what they please.

Factors that influence the strength of wood are moisture content, size, number and location of knots, crossgrain and checks.

Teen Driver Only Bruised In Accident

John H. Davis Jr., 19, of 150 Madrona Avenue, Belvedere, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for leg bruises after a car-truck collision at 7:40 p.m. at Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue, the California Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said a car driven by James L. Ralph, 44, of 784 St. Francis Avenue, Novato, made a left turn in the path of Davis' truck.

Employee Is Crushed To Death By Machine

A giant generator housing plunged to the floor of the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. plant in Sausalito yesterday, crushing to death John Carson Smith, 58, of Stinson Beach.

Smith, of 224 Calle Del Arroyo, died at 2:08 p.m. in the emergency room at Marin General Hospital.

Police said Smith was standing on a large generator unit, guiding the metal housing as it was lowered into place, when a cable snapped and the housing landed on him.

The coroner's office said the housing crushed Smith's chest and legs.

Smith is survived by his wife, Marie, of Stinson Beach; two daughters, Diane McCollum of Stinson Beach and Barbara Neighbors of Novato, and a son, Douglas C. Smith of Stinson Beach.

A Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel; Mill Valley. Friends may call after 6 p.m. The body will be shipped to St. Paul, Minn., where funeral services will be held Monday.

Woman Treated For Gas Fumes

A 45-year-old San Rafael woman was taken to Marin General Hospital's community mental health unit yesterday after she was found unconscious from gas in her home, police said.

Hospital authorities would not release the condition of Hazel Mae Oliver of 77 Woodland Avenue today.

Police said Mrs. Oliver called them and said she was going to turn on the gas in her stove. When they arrived, she was unconscious on a couch, they said.

Two Motors With $400 Value Stolen

Two motors valued at $200 each were taken during the weekend from a boat on a trailer at 44 DeLuca Place, San Rafael police said today.

The motors were owned by Wilbur Bly Goodnough of Santa Clara.

Police today also reported five other thefts in the last two days including the burglary last night of the 7-11 Store at First and B streets.

A moneybag containing $85 was missing from the grocery's safe this morning, police said. There was no sign of forced entry.

A $100 radio-stereo and $100 tool box were taken from the trunk of a car owned by Charles Alan Paulsen, of 705 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, Monday night. The car was parked in a lot in the 800 block of Fourth Street.

A $150 radio was taken from a car parked at DeLong Chevrolet Inc. at 550 Francisco Boulevard Sunday night, police said. A window of the car was forced open.

A diamond ring, watch and a quantity of pills was taken during the day Sunday from the home of Robert Emmet Knox at 44 Bonnie Bank. Thieves gained entrance through an open sliding glass door, police said.

A $50 bike owned by a son of Ivan Robert Ladizinsky of 283 Arias Road was taken from near the Terra Linda High School swimming pool yesterday.

Novatan Resigns

Rose Hovis, one of the former owners of Pini Hardware in Novato, last night resigned as treasurer of the Novato Downtown Merchants Association, according to president Benjamin F. Edwards. Richard Tighe of Crocker-Citizens National Bank was named treasurer to replace her, Edwards said.

MUSICAL REVIEW

The Doolittles Shine; Higgins Has Trouble

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — "My Fair Lady," the musical version of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," which has played somewhere constantly since its Broadway success in the mid-1950s, returned here last night as a lavishly mounted production of the San Francisco Civic Light Opera.

For the Doolittles — Eliza, the cockney sweetheart and her red-nosed father Alfred P. — it was a smashing success. But for the key principal, Henry Higgins, it was somewhat a blundering evening.

The lovely Margot Moser with her lyric-coloratura and good looks won the audience with her delightful flower-girl-turned-lady role and Douglas Campbell made one forget of the other long string of Alfred's with his superb baritone and light-footed dancing.

However, the evening's bitter disappointment was Douglas Fairbanks Jr. as Professor Higgins, the master of phonetics. While he attempted to make the role of Higgins more sympatheic than the original Higgins created by Rex Harrison, he lacked vocal strength to convince the audience of his rock-hard constitution which finally breaks into humaneness.

From the start Fairbanks was in trouble. He was hardly audible in the opening scenes and badly placed microphones made even it worse. This was corrected somewhat in the second act, but it was really too late to care.

The urbane Reginald Gardiner as Colonel Pickering did help to counterbalance some of Fairbanks' shortcomings, and the distinguished actress Cathleen Nesbitt, who created the original Mrs. Higgins, was elegant and convincing.

The surprise casting of the evening was good-looking Terence Monk as Freddy who seeks in vain to woo Eliza. His powerfully controled tenor voice was perfect for the lovely "On the Street Where You Live." Also George Gaynes in the small role of Karpathy, the phonetics fraud, added the comic relief in the glittering embassy waltz.

The big production numbers — "Ascot Gavotte," which shows the British upperclass in a bit of satirical nonsense, Doolittle's "With a Little Bit of Luck" and "Get Me To the Church on Time" — prove once again the opera association's strength in the lavish world of the theater. The choreography of the latter two was rollicking and expertly executed under the eye of Carndall Diehl.

The lavish settings by Oliver Smith which moved into place swiftly were a delight to the eye and were a perfect background for the expensively gowned company.

A good pit orchestra under the baton of Ross Reimuller tied the whole package together nicely.

No doubt the musical will keep the Curran Theater packed for its seven-week run. It's proven crowd pleasure and has nothing distasteful to the palate.

As on matron remarked as she was leaving the theater: "This is worth all the lousy ones we've seen." So mark another one up for Mr. Shaw and the musical team of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe.

Hayakawa Gets Chamber Backing

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley has been endorsed by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce for the permanent presidency of San Francisco State College.

In a letter to Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, the chamber urged the trustees to offer the job to Hayakawa and to insist that he take it. Hayakawa is currently acting president.

The chamber letter maintained the turmoil on the campus prior to Hayakawa taking over reflected badly on San Francisco's national image. Letters were received by the chamber from concerned parents of students asking what could be done, the letter said.

Terra Linda's Band To Perform

The Terra Linda High School Band will make its first appearance in San Francisco's Sigmund Stern Grove at 2 p.m. Sunday in a concert open to the public without charge.

The 100-member band has received eight superior ratings in the California Music Educators Competition. It is directed by Gordon E. Lowe.

Guest solosits with the band in Stern Grove will be Marian Marsh, soprano, and Byron Jones, baritone.

MUSICAL REVIEW

A Fiddler On The Roof, Happy Critic Out Front

By KARL BARRON

BERKELEY — An ingratiating actor named Harry Goz fought the West's most dreadful auditorium Monday night and won — making the Civic Light Opera presentation of "Fiddler on the Roof" a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

As Tevye, the understated hero of Sholom Aleichem's stories which form the basis for the musical, Goz managed to make himself usually intelligible over the tinny microphones of the cavernous Berkeley Community Theater, and demonstrated that he is a performer of warmth and tremendous understanding.

PLEASURE TO HEAR

"Fiddler," now in its fifth year on Broadway (Goz is on loan from the New York production) is one of the few musicials of the 60s which has depth as well as lovely music. Its hit songs — "If I Was A Rich Man," "Sunrise, Sunset," and the title tune, are only part of the story, for Jerry Bock's music throughout is hauntingly beautiful.

The book by Joseph Stein "Enter Laughing") and lyrics by Sheldon Harnick all combine to make this a musical to treasure and see more than once.

It is timely, also, though its setting is Russia in 1906. It is a story of revolt by the young against tradition, and takes place just before the beginning of the revolutionary period.

EXCITING STAGING

Jerome Robbins' staging is exciting and imaginative, with some dream-like sequences set behind scrims, while in others Tevye projects his thoughts to us — spotlighted and with supersonic violins backgrounding him. The emotional impact of "Sunrise, Sunset" has to be experienced to be believed, and the reason for its success is Robbins' faultless choreography of the entire scene.

But it's Tevye's show, and if others have been any better than Goz, I would have to see them to be convinced. He sings well, his timing is great, he uses his body like a precision machine.

DIFFICULT FOR CAST

It's difficult for a supporting cast to shine out from under Tevye's sun, but still I could wish for more strength in minor roles, some of which in this production are not even adequate.

However, Goz is backed by an excellent performance by Stuart Howard, and good ones from Laura Stuart, Susan Geoppinger, Richard Balin, Bob Carroll and Leon Spellman.

The Bottle Dancers, Vito Durante, Glen McClaskey, Ronn Steinman, and Neal Thompson deserve special mention. Boris Aronson's sets are delightful, as are Patricia Zipprodt's costumes.

"Fiddler" will play nightly except Sundays at 8:30 through July 12.

College Band Sets Concert For Sunday

The College of Marin Community Band, conducted by John H. Myers, will present a concert Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross on the Northgate stage.

The program will include marches, light classics and "pop" music and will feature members of the band in a solo and trio.

Outdoor Painting Class Scheduled

A six-week course in outdoor painting for beginners and intermediates will be taught by Dorothy Williams of Kentfield beginning July 15 from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays in the Barn at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Registration for the course, which offers instruction in all media, is underway at the Center office.

DDT Ban Now Off At Least To 1972

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Agriculture Committee today gave DDT a maximum life expectancy of three years in California.

The committee, at its second closed-door session in less than a week, agreed yesterday on weakened compromise legislation calling for abolition of the farm poison by 1972 but giving the state power to extend the cutoff one year.

The committee will meet publicly tomorrow to vote on the rewritten bill by freshman Republican Sen. John A. Nejedly of Walnut Creek. He had proposed a Jan. 1 ban.

Sen. Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, chairman of the Committee, said the compromise will propose a Dec. 31, 1971, cutoff deadline for DDT and stress strong legislative intent that "as soon as practicable, the persistant pesticides stall be eliminated in California."

The committee specified a deadline, although Marler said the bill also will empower the State Director of Agriculture to grant a one-year extension if a "reasonable alternative" to DDT is not developed and available in time.

He said the extension would give the pesticide manufacturers and University of California scientists a maximum of three years to produce adequate substitutes. Marler has been an opponent of mandating any cutoff.

The compromise also creates a new class of "environmentally harmful" pesticides and adds four new technical standards under which poisons could be banned by the department of agriculture.

CLAIM REJECTED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Board of Control yesterday turned down a $100,000 wrongful death claim against the state involving the wounding of James Rector by a police buckshot blast during the "People's Park" disturbance in Berkeley.

Rector's mother, Mrs. Dolores Clifford of San Jose, sought the damages from the board, the last administrative remedy for claims against the state. The board's decision allows Mrs. Clifford to take her case to court.

IMMUNITY BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly-passed bill granting immunity from prosecution to Mafia or other underworld informants has moved a step closer to passage in the Senate.

The upper house Judiciary Committee yesterday approved the measure by Assemblyman Pete Wilson, R-San Diego, and sent it to the Finance Committee.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch strongly backs the bill as a means of gaining key information from criminals.

It permits Lynch's investigators to ask courts to force persons with knowledge of organized crime to testify in exchange for immunity from prosecution.

BOARD UNTOUCHED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly-passed bill to reapportion the four districts of the state Board of Equalization was killed yesterday by the Senate Elections Committee.

The measure by Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, was assigned to a between-sessions study, thus preventing its passage this session.

Priolo said his proposal was prompted by the Supreme Court's "one-man one-vote" decree for equal population distribution in elective districts. He said the districts are virtually the same as they were in 1897.

GUN CURB GAINS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill prohibiting drug addicts, former mental patients, ex-felons or aliens from owing any firearms was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday.

The measure by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, was sent to the Finance Committee on a split voice vote. Present law prohibits the same persons from owning concealable firearms.

Two gun control bills strongly backed by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch were killed earlier in the day by the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee.

One would have required the private transfer of a concealable weapon to be reported to the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation. The other would have required the licensing by the state of all gun dealers. Only concealable weapon dealers must register now under the law.

Violence At Quentin Prompts A Probe Call

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A legislative investigation of last month's violence at San Quentin Prison has been called for by Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles.

"Life is unpleasant enough in penal institutions without having to contend with defending your life every second due to laxity and neglect on the part of the authorities," Greene declared as he introduced his resolution. Greene said he was familiar with prison life because of his experiences as a "freedom rider" in the South.

He urged that the investigation "ascertain any conditions which might have led to such violence, and to develop such recommendations which would correct such conditions." The committee assigned to make the investigation should report its findings next January, he said.

The June 9 killing of one white prisoner and the wounding of six others was the fourth racial flareup at the prison since late April, and the slaying was the fourth fatal stabbing. The other three victims were Negroes.

Crash Hurts Ex-Policeman From Novato

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISO — California Highway Patrolman Alfred Schroeder, former Novato police officer, was seriously injured in an accident last night on Bayshore Freeway near Candlestick Park.

Schroeder, 31, was taken to St. Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City with possible skull fracture, broken ankle and possible internal injuries.

Another Patrolman Fred Graves, 23, was in the same hospital with facial cuts.

The highway patrol said that the two officers had made a routine traffic stop of a southbound car and were standing on the freeway shoulder talking to the driver when their patrol car was hit from the rear by another car, knocking it into the stopped car. Schroeder was thrown 60 feet by the impact, according to the CHP.

The driver of the car that hit the patrol car, Carl G. Soldati, 50, of Burlingame, was cited on suspicion of felony drunk driving, according to the CHP.

The driver of the first car stopped, Bobby Vasquez, 27, of San Francisco was not cited because of his quick work in using the patrol car radio to summon help, the patrol said.

Schroeder worked for the Novato police force from January 1964 to January of this year. He lives at 77 Stasia Drive, Novato.

Heroin Linked With Jail Death

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — A San Francisco police captain's son died in the San Mateo County Jail yesterday. Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore said a preliminary investigation indicated heroin was the cause.

Coroner Paul Jensen said an autopsy initially pointed to "toxicological involvement" in the death of Harry L. Nelson Jr., 28, whose father commands the Potrero Station.

Whitmore said an eight-story annex is being built to the Hall of Justice and Records and that drugs and paraphernalia apparently had been smuggled to the fourth floor jail through the construction area.

Nelson has been in jail since May 2, facing trial on charges of burglary, car theft and receiving stolen property.

Night Hangout In Fairfax Irks Neighbors

How to close a market that has become a hangout in the middle of the night presented an usual dilemma for the Fairfax City Council last night. The council had received a petition from 11 residents of the area around the Short Stop Market at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Kent Avenue, complaining about the noise generated by nocturnal visitors.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson reported the city couldn't revoke the firm's business license because, somehow, it doesn't have one.

Mrs. Wilson said she had understood the store was going to be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily and it was, for the first several months of operation. A few months ago, however, it switched to 24-hour operation.

Police Chief James R. Orr reported he had informed John F. Briscoe, the firm's Bay Area representative, that the store is a public nuisance. "I don't think we need a drive-in or store as a hangout for people," he said.

The council agreed to try and solve the problem by issuing a business license permitting operating from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. — if the city attorney says the action is legal.

Pickup Truck Drives Off Road, One Hurt

Shirley Welbourn, 26, of 24 Main Street, San Quentin, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a bruised scalp when a pickup truck she rode in hit a utility pole at 2:30 a.m. on South San Pedro Road, the California Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said the accident occurred near China Camp. Driver William M. Spearman, 21, of 710 B Street, San Rafael, said an oncoming car forced him off the road.

Knox Will Revamp Shoreline Clause

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The author of one of the two principal bills to continue the life of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will amend his bill to reduce the commission's proposed shoreline jurisdiction from 1,000 to 500 feet inboard from the bay.

An aide to the author, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, said the bill originally proposed 1,000 feet in order to include the salt ponds at both ends of the bay. But this no longer was necessary because the Senate Local Government Committee amended the bill to include all of the salt ponds in the BCDC's jurisdiction, the aide said.

(The BCDC's master plan for the bay proposed controls over a shoreline band up to 1,000 feet inboard from the bay, as well as over the salt ponds.)

The other principal BCDC bill, by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-Menlo Park, would limit the commission's shoreline control to a 100-foot-wide band around the bay.

The bills are to be heard by the Senate Finance Committee at 9 a.m. on July 10 in the Capitol. The hearing is the last major hurdle for legislation to keep the BCDC from expiring this year.

Fairfax Settles Part Of Problem Budget

Fairfax toiled through another section of its proposed budget last night and settled one of its major hassles by approving more part-time help for the city administrator.

In the third night of discussion on the problem, Mayor Francis J. O'Connell made a motion to pay a secretary $50 a month for taking minutes of city council meetings, to hire an outside secretarial service to take minutes of commission meetings, and to increase the hours of a part-time person to handle all other commission business.

He accepted an amendment from Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson, reducing the pay for council meeting minutes to $40 a month and the proposal, requested by the city administrator, was approved 3-2.

Councilmen Robert R. Souza and Frank J. Egger voted against the proposal, but for widely varying reasons.

"I'm opposed to contracting out the office work," said Souza. "If we need more clerical help I would be in favor of another person in the office so we could have continuity."

Egger, on the other hand, continued his opposition to the form of government. (The city clerk also serves as city administrator.)

"I think what we are seeing here on paper is that the jobs are really not compatible," said Egger, pointing out "It's just too much for her (Mrs. Frances R. Lestanguet) to try to do."

"If we add all these costs . . . we're really not saving that much from a full-time professional administrator," he maintained.

Mrs. Lestanguet noted that in 1967-68 (before the administrator resigned) there were three full-time persons in the office plus $3,300 worth of part-time help. Now there are two full-time persons and a request for $3,100 worth of part-time help, she said.

Mrs. Wilson, who normally sides with Egger on the form of government, said she voted for the motion because "I don't feel the office staff should be penalized for the actions of the council."

However, she emphaszed she still favors a full-time professional administrator.

In other budget business, the council cut $400 earmarked for printing the revised zoning ordinance after the council reluctantly agreed that it probably wouldn't get to the printers in the 1968-69 fiscal year. Another $900, for a map book, was cut when Building Inspector Dale Hostrup said he didn't really need it.

The council also gave tentative approval to $1,100 for replacing the city hall floor; $350 each for a clean-up campaign and the Fairfax Festival, and $100 for a fan for the Women's Club.

At 10:45 p.m., when it looked as if the council had reached the police department budget, the item actually scheduled for last night, Chief James R. Orr said:

"I came here at 8 o'clock to present the police department budget. You wore me down. Just accept it," he said with an air of defeat.

The council refused, maintaining police should have their chance, and set a meeting on it at 8 p.m. Monday.

Tricia Nixon Skips An Outing

LONDON (AP) — Tricia Nixon's busy list of social engagements for her British visit caught up with her today when she reluctantly abandoned the idea of visiting the regatta at Henley, a three-hour round trip from London.

Tricia made the 180-mile train journey to Caernarvon in Wales yesterday to watch the investiture of Britain's heir to the throne, Prince Charles, as Prince of Wales.

Tricia, 23, went shopping today for a birthday present for her sister Julie, the 20-year-old wife of David Eisenhower.

Recorder's Office Gets $324,611

Property transfer tax and recording fees collected by Marin County amounted to $324,611 for the fiscal year which ended Monday, County Recorder Noel T. Giacomini said yesterday.

Giacomini said that the transfer tax which is collected at the rate of $1.10 per $1,000 property sale is apportioned among the cities and the county, with the county's share $152,686.

The county receives all of the recording fees, which amounted to $95,324. These funds go into the county's general income, Giacomini said.

The transfer tax represents a fairly new source of income for the county. The tax was formerly collected by the federal government, which found it more expensive to collect than the funds received, Giacomini said.

In 1967-68 the county began collecting it, with $86,000 taken in that year. Marin's high property costs make the county the 13th highest among California counties in revenue received from this source, according to Giacomini.

He also noted that his office had the highest number of property recordings ever on Friday and Monday as persons rushed to complete transactions before interest rates rose.

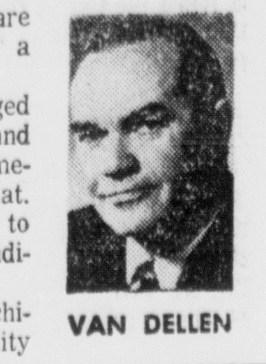
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

How To Tell When A Person Is In Need Of Psychiatric Help



VAN DELLEN

When should a person consult a psychiatrist? Many of the primary symptoms are significant only when they persist for a month or more.

All of us get the "blues," but prolonged depression causes loss of appetite and weight. The individual realizes that something is wrong, but he does not know what. His ideas do not make sense to himself or to others. These danger signals are early indications of flightiness and irresponsibility.

A PERSON SHOULD be taken to a psychiatrist when he has lost contact with reality and does not know where he was for a day or two.

Candidates for a nervous breakdown usually cannot sleep. Their work suffers and they become increasingly irritable. Such persons have trouble adjusting and cannot solve their problems because they are caught in a vicious cycle. The less sleep, the worse the performance; the worse the performance, the less sleep.

Occasional drinking sprees do not warrant psychiatric treatment. When, however, these bouts become more frequent, interfere with work, school, and social relationships, the person needs help. He is using liquor to escape reality.

Psychiatric care should be considered when noticeable personality changes occur. The docile, quiet man who suddenly becomes hostile and aggressive desperately needs expert care.

EVERY PHYSICIAN has heard the statement: "I can't get him to see a psychiatrist." This situation is understandable if we remember that persons who are not themselves do not use good judgment.

Others show early signs of paranoia. Unfounded suspicions include those whom they love and trust.

Disabling mental illness requires attention. Business tycoons have made fools of themselves and jeopardized the financial status of corporations during mental upheavals.

Women have wrecked their homes and the lives of their children.

DISASTERS SUCH AS these could have been avoided if the "storm" signals had not been ignored.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

WINE, PEANUTS, AND EPILEPSY

B. J. writes: I have epilepsy and would like to know if it is possible to get a seizure after drinking a small glass of wine. Also, would peanuts trigger an attack?

REPLY

Drinking is out for anyone with epilepsy. Conversely, there is no relationship between peanuts and convulsions and blackouts.

STAGHORN KIDNEY STONE

C. C. writes: My doctor says the kidney stone he removed was a staghorn type. Can you tell me something about such stones?

REPLY

Staghorn calculi have a rough granular surface and may be oval or branching. When large, they may fill the entire pelvis. They are composed of calcium phosphate, calcium carbonate, or cystine.

MEASLES AND CROSS-EYE

A reader writes: Can measles cause cross-eye?

REPLY

Yes, if the causative virus invades the brain. Cross-eye may be aggravated or start after any infection or period of fatigue, but these are precipitant, rather than causative, factors.

SOFT DRINKS FOR BABY

S.M. writes: Mother gives soda pop to my 10-month-old sister. Isn't she too young for this beverage?

REPLY

Soft drinks are not harmful and are objectionable only when substituted for more basic foods such as milk.

Today's Health Hint — A boat never should be overloaded.

5 Per Cent Living Cost Hike For Hub Employees

Five per cent cost-of-living increases were approved across the board last night for San Anselmo city employees with the promise that there may be further adjustments for some.

Action taken by the San Anselmo City Council was in two parts. The council voted 4-1, Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro voting "no" on the first motion which excluded department heads, saying 5 per cent is too low and that he favored 7 per cent.

Following a five-minute recess the council voted unanimously for the 5 per cent increase for department heads, Capurro saying he voted "aye" because "this will be adjusted and department heads will be included in their readjustment. It's not a closed issue."

Councilman Robert M. Scott felt, too, that the subject was not closed. He said, "I'm going to vote for some more (increase)."

Councilman James F. Reed cautioned employees, who with employees wives and other citizens made up the audience of about 30, that he didn't thing it fair to leave employees with the idea they have more coming. "You may be able to talk us out of it," he said.

Councilmen Duane C. Ragan and Kenneth L. Anderson both spoke for the 5 per cent increase during the salary session.

The council agreed to meet at 8 p.m. next Wednesday to consider salary adjustments proposed by City Administrator-Controller A. C. Kaeppel. Capurro said the council will than start going over the full budget for the second time approving item by item.

The council had before it a letter from Fire Capt. Robert Beedle asking that San Anselmo salaries be kept on a level with the cities of San Rafael and Mill Valley. Beedle, San Anselmor Fire and Police Association president, said that currently San Anselmo police and firemen are 5 per cent below the other two cities.

Beedle and other employees argued that higher salaries are needed to keep men. Police Chief Raymond R. Buchagnani, who said 5 per cent will put San Anselmo seventh place in Marin, added that three policemen left this year for better paying jobs and it was reported that one fireman is about to leave. Both chiefs were given loud applause.

Councilmen noted that the sales tax for San Rafael and Mill Valley were both higher than that of San Anselmo's.

The 5 per cent wage increase represents $34,500 in the 1969-70 budget.

Councilmen also voted unanimously to participate in the Public Employees Retirement System health plan. It excluded the seven library employees who are not a part of the system pending a fact-finding trip to Sacramento by Kaeppel and Scott. The plan will mean a reduction of about $2,600 to the city within its present participation in the retirement system.

Several persons in the audience urged the council to value people over other things in the budget, Mrs. Sarah Nome arguing to this point. Don R. Deane of 31 Cedar Street, urged the council to maintain salary parity with other Marin cities and said San Anselmo is becoming a "training grounds" for many other cities in the county.

Variance Granted

Marin County zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill granted a variance yesterday to L. W. Pedersen of 136 Harbor Drive, Black Point, for construction of a garage within two feet fo the rear property line at his home.

Census bureau projections indicate that U.S. population may increase from 200 million to 260 million by the end of this century. That means 75 million new homes — 15 million more than the present U.S. total — will be needed to house the American population, according to Charles E. Peck, vice president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation's construction group.

Lemon Grove Teacher New CTA President

I-J Special Report

BURLINGAME — Margaret L. Lemmer, English teacher at Lemon Grove Junior High School, Lemon Grove, San Diego County, took over yesterday as new president of the 170,000-member 106-year-old California Teachers Association (CTA).

Robert Neal, a Coalinga Fresno County, high school teacher, is the new CTA vice president.

Mrs. Lemmer said that there is a new breed of teachers who are demanding a voice in controlling their profession, as do those in medicine, law and other professions.

HER PLEDGE

"New teachers and many of us older ones have come to realize we are well-educated and well-informed persons. No longer will we take the subservient roles of yesteryear's 'school-marms' and 'schoolmasters.' We intend to say more and more about what is needed in the classroom, and be more and more active in public life. We will not be satisfied any longer with the status quo."

Mrs. Lemmer praised California's Winton Act — negotiations law—for helping teachers and the CTA work through approved channels for the improvements they see needed in education.

"California has avoided major teacher strikes because the CTA seeks improvements through negotiation, avoiding confrontation if at all possible. These CTA policies are made by elected representatives. It is a very democratic process and one which gives educators in this state's classrooms a chance to unify their voices in fulfilling their roles in determining who shall teach, what shall be taught and how it shall be taught," Mrs. Lemmer said.

ACTIVE ROLE

Mrs. Lemmer, a teacher for 31 years and active in teacher association work for 16 years, has served as president of CTA, Southern Section and the San Diego County Teachers Association, plus other CTA offices.

She is a graduate of Washington High School, Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and received her BS degree from California State College, California, Pa.

She has also done graduate work at University of Pittsburgh, San Diego State College, University of California, La Jolla, and California Western University, San Diego.

Her husband, Jack A. Lemmer, is an English teacher at Palm Junior High School in Lemon Grove.

Rookie Bill Lee Still In Awe Of Big Leagues

By GARY TISCHLER

Five years ago, Bill Lee was a crew-cut lefty doing his stuff for Terra Linda High School, and doing it amazingly well.

Yesterday afternoon, he sat in a room of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit, watching television. He had been a major leaguer for almost seven days now.

Most of the rest of his Boston Red Sox teammates, in Motor City for a series with the defending World Champion Detroit Tigers, were out on the town, seeing whatever you can in Detroit in the early afternoon, but Lee was still getting oriented.

The jump from a starting pitcher with Pittsfield's Class AA club in Massachusetts had been sudden and unsettling. One moment he was enjoying a day off and some three hours later he was in the bullpen at Fenway Park.

"The Pittsfield general manager called me and told me I had been sold to Boston," Lee said via long distance telephone. "I was completely shocked. My wife and I drove from Williamston to Boston, starting out at two o'clock. At 5:30 I was dressing on the field."

Lee, a personable 22-year-old who went on from Terra Linda High School to USC and from there to a Boston draft pick last year, is still a little dazed, as if somewhere along the line, a step has been skipped, things have been left out. The big leap has left him dizzy, elated, queasy and a little scared.

"I'm still trying to get oriented," he said. "I'm sitting here trying to get settled. It's not easy to get used to all this."

The Red Sox, who are aching for pitchers in their bid to stay alive in the Eastern Division of the American League, brought Lee up after Jim Lonbourg suffered a toe injury. They put him to work in a hurry.

Last Thursday, the Red Sox were in Cleveland and Lee got the call in the fourth inning of the second game of a doubleheader, with the Red Sox trailing 6-3.

"I was really scared," he said. "I walked the first two batters. But then I struck out Ken Harrelson and got the next batter to hit into a double play."

Lee went on to pitch four innings, gave up one run, two hits and struck out five for a notable beginning.

The next time Lee stepped on the mound turned out to be part of a general Boston disaster in Washington where the Red Sox dropped a doubleheader on Sunday.

He struck out five batters again, but he also had to face imposing Frank Howard, the Senators' booming homerun man.

"He hit a screwball for a homer off me with a 1-2 count on him," he said. "In a way, it's good that it went out of the park. If it had been lower, it would have torn my head off."

In two times out, Lee has struck out ten batters in seven innings, a feat which amazes him.

"I haven't struck out that many batters in seven innings in my life," he said. "I'm not a strikeout pticher."

It turned out that he discovered something.

"You can't make any mistakes," he said. "One mistake, and its out of the park. They can really tear into a ball. In AA ball, you make a mistake and they get a single. Here, it's gone. But they can't seem to hit the good pitches if you have control. It's easier to get a strikeout."

The first days haven't been easy for Lee. It's as if he's riding a high-powered balloon.

"For a while there, I was too scared to enjoy it all," Lee said. "We haven't had a chance to move into a place in Boston. And, in this sort of thing, I

Frazier Reminds Rocky Of Ex-Champ—Himself

Well, it's nice to have a heavyweight champion named "Joe" again.

It'll be nice to have a fight you don't have to go to Divinity School to cover.

But, because champion Frazier is a regular Joe, how does that rate him in the hierarchy of past and present champions, including the Flower of Islam, the Aga of Louisville, the Emperor of Saudi Chicago, Cassius Marcellus Abdullah Skivinsky Skavar?

There are three living retired heavyweight champions who never lost while they held the title to whom to go for a line. But I figured Gene Tunney wouldn't have seen the Jerry Quarry-Frazier fight if "Tannhauser" were playing in town that night. Or even if it weren't. I can never remember what to address Cassius Clay as—"Sahib" or, simply, "Excellency," or "Effendi," or what.

To The Telephone I Go

So I rang up Rocky Marciano.

"Frazier remind you of anyone, Rock?" I asked him.

"It was like I was in the ring," the Rock said, delightedly. "I made every move with him."

"Like to see that other fellow come out winging the way Quarry did, would you?" I asked.

"Yes," said Rock. "Usually, I had to chase them. They were playing to my strength when they made a phone booth out of the ring."

"Quarry made a mistake then? He should have engineered the fight?"

"Well," said Rock, "you have to remember, Jim, that you can hurt a guy very quickly when you can punch as hard as Jerry can. I don't think he made a mistake. I think he went out there and bet the whole pot on one roll, one card. When Frazier didn't fold and then came up with the stronger hand, Quarry's gamble had failed. I think THAT'S when he should have changed styles. You know, Archie Moore could change styles in the MIDDLE of a round. When he saw one thing wasn't going to work, he would shuffle the cards again. Jerry stuck to his plan even though it showed he was playing to Frazier's strength. Quarry should have gone back to his old style of fighting in flurries and stalling. But he stuck to the ground game."

"Would it have changed the outcome?"

Would Tell, Sooner Or Later

"Only to the extent Jerry would have lost the decision, not the knockout, I think. Frazier's style had to tell on Jerry sooner or later. This way, it was sooner."

"You say, 'Jerry's style,' Rocky? Isn't his 'style' the same as yours? You just fight the other guy as if you were trying to get out of a burning building and he was in your way?"

"It looks that way, Jim. But my style—OUR style—takes so much away from the other fellow, takes away so much of his ability. It is more effective than it looks. You see, when I started to fight, Al Weill would never have bothered with me if the ring weren't only 16-to-20 feet square. Of course, Frazier has to stay in absolutely first-class condition. Chasing somebody is hard work—harder than fighting him."

"So you think Jimmy Ellis will have gone to school on this fight? Frazier-Ellis will be part pugilism, part track meet?"

Could Make Him Look Bad

"Ellis can make Frazier look very bad, very amateurish at some stages of the fight. But you can't worry about clumsiness. You slow the fellow down any way you can, awkward, missing a lot, getting tied up. Ellis has to be slowed down. When he does, he's beat."

"What about Cassius Clay-Muhammad Ali?"

"Cassius had the greatest depth perception I've ever seen to go with his speed. He could gauge to a quarter of an inch where he would make you miss the punch. However, I don't think he will ever fight again. Also, the kind of skills he had cannot be helped by a 2-year layoff. When your strength is dodging punches you need lots of practice at it."

Restani Scores 22 In Victory

All-Northern California prep center Kevin Restani scored 22 points to lead the Crusaders to a 65-58 win over the Indians in the high school division of the Drake Summer Basketball League at Drake High School yesterday.

Ken Gommeringer had 15 points for the losers.

In other games, the Pirates dumped the Lions, 44-30, behind Kevin Peak's 12 points and Red and Blue whipped the Trojans, 78-33, as Gary Wall scored 15 points for the losers.

Welterweight Fight

SAN JOSE (AP) — Welterweights Roberto Amaya of Argentina and Richard Medano of Austin, Tex., will square off in a 10-round fight in the San Jose Civic Auditorium tonight.

Bolin Finally Wins A Permanent Job

And It's High Time, Says Bob

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bob Bolin has finally won himself a place in the San Francisco Giants' starting rotation and he figures it's high time.

The 30-year old righthander has won 71 games and lost only 53 since he joined the Giants in 1961 but it's been difficult for him to convince San Francisco management that he should start every fourth or fifth day.

However, he joined the starting rotation late last season and won six of his last eight decisions and stretched his current winning streak to three here last night when he went the route to beat San Diego, 5-4.

GO FOR SWEEP

The Giants, now 8-1 against San Diego this year, shoot for a three-game series sweep tonight, sending ace Juan Marichal, 9-3, against Joe Niekro, 3-5.

"We would be in real trouble if it hadn't been for the way Bolin has pitched lately," Giants vice president Charles "Chub" Feeney said after the Giants gained only their sixth victory in the 14 games of a road trip that ends here tonight.

He referred to two big games Bolin won earlier in the trip.

"I've always wanted to start, but Herman never had much faith in me," Bolin said last night in reference to Herman Franks, who quit as manager of the Giants last fall.

"I think this is the first time I've ever had five wins this early in the season. Herman would let me start, once in a while, but I'd have to pitch real well or he'd send me back to the bullpen.

KEPT IN

"One of our starters wasn't going good late last season and he put me in the rotation and left me there. And Clyde has kept me there," he said, referring to current Giant manager Clyde King.

The big righthander allowed 10 hits last night, including run-scoring singles by Clarence Gaston, Larry Stahl, Ed Spiezio and Roberto Pena.

However, San Francisco scored three unearned runs — one on a passed ball and two on a throwing error by third baseman Spiezio — to hand the Padres their fourth straight loss their 23rd defeat in their last 26 starts and their 20th setback in their last 23 home games.

COSTLY

It was a particularly costly loss for the new National League team because rookie catcher-infielder Walt Hriniak was spiked on the right forefinger sliding into second base in the sixth inning. It took five stitches to close the wound and Hriniak, who has been on the disabled list twice this season, will be sidelined for an estimated two weeks.

Bobby Bonds had tthree hits and Ron Hunt had two to set up the runs the Giants scored off lefthanders Dick Kelley and Billy McCool, 2-3. Willie McCovey, who has been murder against San Diego this year, drove in two San Francisco runs and Jack Hiatt collected an RBI with a bases-loaded walk.

O. J. IN PAIN, ON CUE

All-American O. J. Simpson grimaces on cue after plunging through the line as a cameraman moves in for a closeup. It's all a scene from "The Last Ten Yards," a television show in which O.J. plays the part of a football player who is injured. Filming began yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Mistakes Against Seattle Prove Very Costly For A's

OAKLAND (AP) — "We should have won the game 1-0," manager Hank Bauer of the Oakland A's declared.

That would seem logical if he were talking about a game his A's lost 2-1 or 3-1. But that was not the case.

The Seattle Pilots clobbered the A's 7-1 last night.

John Odom, 10-3, hurls for Oakland and Marty Pattin, 7-5, pitches for the Pilots tonight in the second of a three-game series.

WILD FIFTH

All seven Seattle runs came in a wild fifth inning on only three hits.

"They shouldn't have scored a run in that inning," Bauer said.

Center fielder Rick Monday dropped a fly ball to open the gates.

Losing pitcher chuck Dobson struck out Seattle hurler Gene Brabender for what would have been the second out but Brabender reached first when the third strike was wild and got by catcher Larry Haney.

"And Monday was playing in too close on John Donaldson," Bauer added. Donaldson, an ex-Oakland players, lashed a triple over Monday's head to drive in two runs.

INSURANCE

That was all Brabender needed, although Don Mincher assured the victory with a three run homer later in the inning.

Donaldson also hit a double against his former teammates.

"I wasn't bitter toward Oakland for trading me," Donaldson said. "I didn't think I was given a chance in spring training but Dick Green had won the second base job from me the year before."

The only run off Brabender was Reggie Jackson's 30th homer of the year—a towering 420-foot blast over the center field fence in the first inning.

"I was trying to pitch him outside and he hit the ball out of the park," Brabender said of Jackson. "After that, I kept the ball inside and got him out."

WILLING

Manager Joe Schultz of the Pilots said he was willing to give Jackson a homer in each game of the series if the Pilots could score seven runs in each.

"Jackson is a good hitter and he's hot," Schultz said. "After Jackson got the homer, Brabender settled down and pitched a good game."

The defeat sliced the A's lead over the second-place Minnesota Twins in the American League West to three percentage points.

Auto Racing Groups Get Closer Together

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club announced an agreement today with the Sports Car Club of America for an interchange of drivers in certain races during the rest of this season.

USAC drivers will be able to compete in SCCA's Canadian-American Challenge Cup and Trans-American events without special permission. SCCA drivers will be eligible for USAC championship and stock car events.

Drivers of both organizations already had been eligible for all USAC and SCCA events listed as international races on the calendar of the world sanctioning body, Federational Internationale de L'Automobile.

The two United States sanctioning groups, which have been talking a possible merger, have agreed to an effort to minimize conflicts between dates of their major races next year.

WIMBLEDON

Billie Jean To Finals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King, seeking a record-tying fourth straight Wimbledon title, and Mrs. Ann Jones of England advanced to the women's singles finals today.

Mrs. King of Long Beach, crushed fellow pro Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-0, in the first semifinal before the tall, English blonde upset Mrs. Margaret Smith Court, a two-time winner from Australia, 10-12, 6-3, 6-2.

MEET FRIDAY

They will meet for the title Friday.

The all American match was so one-sided the crowd of 15,000 on the center court watched it almost in silence. There was only a polite half-hearted round of applause for Mrs. King as she reeled off game after game.

Miss Casals was in the match only occasionally. She won one game, on her service, at 1-3 in the first set, and went to deuce and an advantage point on her next service gang before losing it.

Apart from that she scored three points in the first set and six in the whole of the second. Mrs. King dropped only two points on her service in the entire match.

Mrs. Jones won a two-hour classic.

The long match—the best women's duel of the tournament thus far—had the crowd in a rising state of excitement. Mrs. Court was the No. 1 seed and had previously won the Australian and French titles this year. Her defeat today shattered her dream of the grand slam.

The match swayed back and forth dramatically, with both girls playing smartly and displaying a wide range of strikes.

TOMORROW

The men's semifinals will be played tomorrow. Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., the lone American left with three Australians, will meet Rod Laver, the defending champion and top seed. The other semi matches Tony Roche and John Newcombe.

The men's final will be played Saturday

In men's quarter-finals yesterday, Laver defeated Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3; Tshe beat Bob Lutz of Los Angeles 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5; Roche defeated Clark Graebner of New York City 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 11-9, and Newcombe downed Tom Okker of The Netherlands 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

It's Not Easy Going 190 MPH, Says Yarborough

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Big, blonde Cale Yarborough, the fastest man in the world on a closed circuit race course, tried to explain what it's like to go better than 190 miles an hour.

"It's almost unexplainable," he began. "When you get to 185 the G-forces start working on you and every mile an hour better than that is that much harder."

Going into the 31-degree banks of Daytona International Speedway at 210 to 215 m.p.h. puts a driver under twice the force of gravity, he estimated.

NECK, ARMS

"Just try carrying twice your weight," he said. "It affects your neck and arms more than anywhere. And you're driving all the time in the turns.

The stocky Timmonsville, S.C., veteran of NASCAR's superspeedways once said anyone who could hold his foot to the floor could drive Daytona's 2.5-mile circuit.

"That's not true anymore," he said. "When you come to that first turn at 215 miles an hour it looks like you're coming into a wall."

He and the Wood brothers, mechanics who own and service his 1969 Mercury, were overjoyed at the record 190.706 m.p.h. lap Yarborough used to earn the pole position for Friday's Medal of Honor Firecracker 400.

Leonard Wood credited the new 429-cubic inch engine with the speed to wipe out the record 190.029 m.p.h. David Pearson set in a Ford last February.

Usually summer speeds are a little lower because the asphalt track is sticky. But Cale and his chief rival with the sound-alike name but no kinship, Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C., turned practice laps right at 191 shortly before qualifying began.

SEVEN CYLINDERS

Yarbrough's engine broke a rocker arm as he tried to qualify and he made one lap at 182.090 m.p.h. on seven cylinders—good for ninth starting position.

"I know I could have gone at the record," said a disappointed Lee Roy, "but now we'll have to just go for race day."

Donnie Allison of Hueytown, Ala., took the front row starting spot beside Cale in a Ford off a 187.703 speed.

Ford's also qualified third and fourth—Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., at 186.989 and Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., at 186.636.

WITH A FLOURISH

Colts' Alex Hawkins Ends Grid Career

BALTIMORE (AP) — Alex Hawkins, Captain Who of the Baltimore Colts, ended his 10-year National Football League career yesterday the same way he had spent it on and off the field—with a flourish.

The Colt handyman, a fixture on kickoff and punt-return squads and a defender and backup receiver and runner, announced his retirement from proball at a press conference that turned into a party.

The Hawk, who received a back injury in a game against the Rams last season, gave 10 reasons for quitting football. They included:

—"If Joe Namath doesn't play, neither will I."

—"The Colts can join the American League, but I won't."

—"Peter Rozelle (football commissioner) frowns on unsavory characters, and I don't have a friend who's not one."

—"John Unitas Colt quarterback had to bar me from his restaurant."

Hawkins, who turns 32 today, also said his "bar bills, lawyer's fees, fines and gambling losses" have outstripped his salary.

Three Marin Netters Advance In Junior Tennis

Three more Marin County netters turned up winners in the massive 22nd annual National Junior Hard Court Tennis Championships at the Peninsula Tennis Club in Burlingame yesterday while another fell by the wayside.

Darby Auerbach of Belvedere fought her way to a 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 win over Sue Bradshaw in girls 18 competition. In girls 14, Bee Kilgore of Belvedere won a 6-2, 6-1 verdict over Audrey Kemp while Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo downed Walt Gerken, 6-2, 6-1 in boys 16.

Also in boys 16, Bob Knight of Tiburon bowed to Paul Ramirez, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Russian To Get Surprise

LOS ANGELES (AP)—American hammer-thrower George Frenn will have an interesting souvenir to show to Russian Romauld Klim when they compete in the USA-USSR-British Commonwealth meet here July 18-19.

It is the hammer Klim, the world record holder, used in winning the event in the USA-USSR meet in Russia in 1965 over America's Ed Burke and Frenn.

Somehow the hammer, apparently discarded at the moment, fell into Burke's hands. But he wanted no part of it and Frenn took it.

"We discovered later it was illegal—too light and the chain about two inches too long," Frenn recalled today.

Frenn said he smuggled the hammer out of Russia to Poland for a meet there, and then eventually to his home in North Hollywood, where he teaches school.

He said he anticipates extreme astonishment when he shows it to Klim during the coming meet.

The American team was virtually set today. The British Commonwealth squad was to be announced during the day and the Soviets' July 4 or 5.

There are two major defections for the U.S., both world record holders. Distance runner Jim Ryun has announced he is through for the season, and yesterday in Houston shot putter Randy Matson disclosed he would skip the triangular affair.

Matson is in the stock brokerage business. He said he plans to attend a 10-week training program for security sales in New York.

"It's tough going to school, studying at night and also trying to train," Matson explained.

500 POUNDS OF POWER

Howard, Powell Lead The Way

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Put Frank Howard and Boog Powell together, and you have something that resembles the Washington Monument or the Creature from the Black Lagoon. Together they stand 12 feet, 11 inches and weigh 500 pounds.

Individually, they're pretty awesome, too.

They certainly were last night, but only Howard came out a winner.

The giant Senator collected a homer and two other hits in each game as Washington swept Cleveland 4-1 and 7-5. One of his other hits in the second game was a ninth-inning single that drove in the decisive run.

Powell, meanwhile, lashed a pair of homers and a pair of singles, knocking in seven runs, but his Baltimore Orioles couldn't hold the lead he gave them, losing instead to the New York Yankees 10-9.

In other American League games, Seattle crushed Oakland 7-1, Minnesota whipped chicago 10-5, Detroit clobbered Boston 12-4 and California trounced Kansas City 9-3.

With his prodigious performance, Howard raised his average to .306 and his homer total to 26.

The 6-foot-7, 260-pound slugger singled in the first inning of the first game, homered in the third and singled in the eighth. In the nightcap he walked in the first, homered in the fifth, doubled in the seventh and singled in the three-run ninth.

Ed Brinkman and Mike Epstein also homered for the Senators in the opener. Tony Horton connected with one on for the Indians in the second contest.

Powell's runs batted in total soared to 70, his homer total to 19 and his average to .303. The 6-4, 240-pounder cracked a two-run homer in the first, a two-run single in the fifth and a three-run homer in the seventh that put the Orioles ahead 9-7.

But Frank Fernandez clouted a three-run Yankee homer in the last of the seventh, leaving Powell a ninth-inning chance to tie the game with another homer. But all he did was single, and the Orioles couldn't bring him around.

Tom Tresh did some bursting of his own for Detroit, lashing two homers, a double and a single and driving in four runs. Jim Northrup also knocked in four runs against Boston.

The White Sox grabbed a 5-0 lead against Minnesota, but the Twins bounced back behind homers by Rich Reese, a pair, and Ted Uhlaender and Leo Cardenas, one each.

California rolled past Kansas City with a five-run rally in the seventh inning. Jim Spencer drove in three Angel runs, two with a double in the seventh.

New Boxing League Gets Under Way

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The International Boxing League wants to pattern the fight game after professional basketball, baseball, football and hockey.

"A boxer who qualifies for a professional team will be put under a contract basis," David Buhler said yesterday. "He will enjoy an insurance program and a pension fund, as in any major league sport."

The IBL formally started operations yesterday with eight cities represented, including Milwaukee, New York, Washington, D.C., Miami, Fla., Chicago, Denver, Colo., Philadelphia and Louisville, Ky.

OTHERS

Plans are being made to include teams from Boston, Minneapolis, Minn., St. Louis, Mo., Detroit, Toronto, Montreal and Mexico City.

Buhler, president of the Milwaukee group, told a news conference the IBL will begin operations this fall on an amateur level. By the fall of 1970, he said, the league will start a professional program to go along with the amateurs.

Boxers in each participating city will compete in elimination matches in order to earn a spot on that city's team. Milwaukee's first set of elimination bouts is tentatively set for Sept. 8 at the arena.

10-YEAR PACT

The league signed a 10-year contract Monday with the Amateur Athletic Union, which grants the IBL the exclusive right to sponsor inter-city league competition.

The AAU also is providing office space in its headquarters for a league representative, Buhler said, so that the two groups can work closely together.

The IBL will sponsor bouts between the Russian and American amateur champions on Oct. 25 at a site still to be chosen. The bouts will be televised by ABC-TV's Wide World of Sports in the United States and via Telstar to Russia.

"We are not out to control amateur boxing," Buhler said. "There will still be a Golden Gloves program and a PAL program. We are willing to help these programs, but we are not out to control them."

TELEVISION

Buhler, a Racine, Wis., businessman, said one of the keys to the success of the professional league will be network television.

The league will run from fall to spring, paralleling the basketball and hockey seasons.

Among other innovations, Buhler said, would be a league draft and possibly minor league affiliations "to insure that a supply of good boxers is always coming up."

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Braves Edge Reds And Clay Carroll

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Luman Harris blew his wad an inning too early, but it didn't prevent the Braves from adding to Clay Carroll's list of disenchantments with Atlanta.

Carroll was the victim of Sonny Jackson's bases-loaded single in the 10th inning last night that gave the Braves a 5-4 victory over Cincinnati.

It was just a little over a year ago that Carroll, who wasn't overly happy as a Brave, was traded by Atlanta to the Reds in a six-man deal.

The 6-foot-1 right-hander has developed into a brilliant reliever this season, winning 11 games, but he's been strictly a dud against his old mates. Three of his four defeats have been to the Braves this season.

Meanwhile, Los Angeles used a three-run inside the park homer by Manny Mota to turn back Houston 4-1 and protect its half-game lead over Atlanta in the National League's tight west Division.

In other N.L. games, upstart Montreal stopped Chicago's East Division leaders for the second straight day, 11-4; St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets, 4-1 and 8-5; Philadelphia extended its winning streak to eight with a 7-4 conquest of Pittsburgh, and San Francisco edged San Diego 5-4.

Carroll came on in the ninth inning and cut off Atlanta's rally after the Braves had tied the game 4-4 on Tito Francona's RBI single.

But, in the 10th, the Braves quickly loaded the bases with none out on a walk to Orlando Cepeda, Clete Boyer's single and an intentional pass to Tony Gonzalez before Jackson's winning blow.

"I was letting everybody hit in the tenth," said Harris, Atlanta's manager, "because I had shot my wad to tie it up in the ninth. We didn't have any pinch hitters."

Starter Jim Merritt blanked the Braves on four hits until they rallied with three runs in the eighth, including two on Hank Aaron's double.

Tony Perez slammed a three-run homer for the Reds in the first inning—his fourth blast in four games.

Mota's inside the park homer snapped a tight pitching duel between the Dodger's Bill Singer, who picked up his tenth victory, and Houston's Denny Lemaster.

With two out and two on in the seventh, Mota sliced a liner to right field that curved away from Norm Millér, who crashed into the box seat railing while making a desperate lunge at the ball.

Miller wasn't hurt, but by the time the ball was relayed to the infield, Mota had circled the bases.

The Astros had taken a 1-0 lead in the fourth on Joe Morgan's ninth homer, but Los Angeles came right back in the bottom of the inning on Wes Parker's RBI double.

Montreal, loser of four in a row until the high-flying Cubs went to Canada, battered ace Ken Holtzman for five runs in the third inning, then chased him during another five-run spree in the next inning.

Gomez Calls Haller 'Very Smart Catcher'

SAN DIEGO—Tom Haller, the ex-Giant who now catches for the Dodgers, has another admirer. He is Preston Gomez, manager of the Padres, San Diego's expansion team.

"Haller," said Gomez, "is a very smart catcher. He knows how to handle a pitching staff. He knows the game. He knows how to get along with men. One day he is going to become as good a manager as he now is a catcher."

WHEN HALLER was still with the Giants, Carl Hubbell used to say he was an "intellectual" behind the plate. Hubbell, a Hall of Fame pitcher who now directs the farm organization of the Giants, never was one to bestow a compliment lightly. He pays tributes only when deserved.

Last year was Haller's first with the Dodgers after a decade with the Giants who signed him in 1958 out of the University of Illinois. The Giants traded Haller Feb. 13, 1968, to the Dodgers for Ron Hunt and Nate Oliver.

Haller's first year with the Dodgers turned out to be his best as a major leaguer. He hit .285 and knocked in 53 runs. His high for the Giants came in their pennant year of 1962 when he hit .261 and drove in 55 runs.

THIS YEAR Haller is hitting .279. That was his average when the Dodgers and Padres concluded a weekend series just before the Giants came into San Diego.

Wayne Lockwood, sports writer of the San Diego Union, interviewed Haller at length and Haller predicted the Dodgers are going all the way this year.

"OUR PITCHING staff is more than sufficient to win the National League championship," Haller told Lockwood. "We have four guys (Bill Singer, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Don Drysdale) who have the potential to throw a shutout every time they go out there.

"That means everything. It means you can play for one or two runs because you know there's a good chance that will be enough to win. It means you can do the little things that win ball games instead of swinging for the fences.

"Sutton, Singer and Osteen all are in position to strike for 20-game seasons. Sutton leads the staff with 11 wins at this early date and Singer and Osteen have nine each.

"THE BIG THING about Sutton and Singer these days is experience. This year they're experienced major league pitchers, not just kids with good promise.

"And now we have Drysdale back. I was awfully pleased when Don was able to go nine innings (last Saturday night against the Padres). This is just like spring training all over again for him. He's not throwing real hard yet but he's making good pitches, putting the ball where he wants it. Big D has come back from his shoulder injury to win three of four starts."

Littler Tops Golf Money Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce Crampton's $12,500 second place check for the Cleveland Open has moved the steady Australian into sixth place among the leading money winners in golf this year.

The 33-year-old Aussie has collected $75,744 for 20 tournaments, the PGA Tournament Players Division announced yesterday. Crampton has not won a tourney this year but has placed in the top five in five tourneys.

Gene Littler, the top earner since early April, picked up $1,045 at Cleveland to boost his pace-setting total to $103,183.

Other leaders include: 2, Gary Player, $89,006; 3, Lee Trevino, $85,521; 4, Billy Casper, $79,521; 5, Dale Douglass, $78,637; 7, Miller Barber, $75,611; 8 George Archer, $74,942; 9, Dave Hill, $73,725, and 10, Bruce Devlin, $69,841.

could get sent down just as fast as I came up."

Somewhere along the line, the pace has changed. Lee, used to worry about who's taking care of the bats, is amazed at the jet-pace of travel in the big leagues.

"They fly first-class everywhere," he said. "You get into a bus, and the baggage goes ahead of you. You get on the plane and there's everything you could want to eat or drink and then you're in Cleveland, Washington or Detroit and you get on the bus again and you never even see your bags. It leaves you dizzy. I'm used to a simpler life. At Pittsfield, everybody took care of everything.

Lee is glad to be where he is. If anything is frustrating, it is that feeling that he's not doing enough to help the team.

BILL LEE
As crew-cut prep

"You just pitch up here," he said. "You don't shag fly balls, you don't hit, you just pitch. That's more pressure.

Lee has met most of the Red Sox, including all of the pitchers. Slugger Reggie Smith has taken him "under his wing." He met Carl Yastrzemski who opened jokingly with "You know, I don't like left-handed pitchers too much."

"I told him, 'that's strange. I kind of like them myself!'," Lee said. "We just joked around, but you don't really spend that much time with the rest of the team."

Lee is a rookie now, and he's got that rookie feeling. But he thinks he'll get over it.

"Right now, I'm anxious," he said. "Before, I was scared, but you get over that. You're awed by everything you see, I'm still awed, but I think I can help, too. I want to be a pitcher, not just a thrower. I think I can be."

Crampton Due For Victory

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Bruce Crampton, who hasn't won in this country since 1965, is one of the leading favorites for the rich first-prize in the $120,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament.

It may sound like a paradox —a longtime nonwinner as the favorite—but Crampton's remarkable record and the rather unusual circumstances surrounding this tournament support the argument.

First there's the recent record established by the transplanted Australian. He won over $100,000 last year and has better than $75,000 this year.

He's been second six times since last September and right now appears to be at the top of his game.

Crampton was second to Charles Coody in last week's Cleveland Open, third in the Kemper the week before that, sixth in the U.S. Open the previous week. In fact, he's been in the top 10 nine times this year.

"I've been playing pretty well recently," he admitted after a practice round at the 7,001-yard par 72 Warwick Hills Country Club course, site of the 72-hole event that begins tomorrow.

"It should be just a matter of time before I'm able to break through."

And, too, there's the tournament field. Most of the top names in the game are bypassing the event. Many are in England practicing for next week's British Open.

These include Masters champion George Archer, U.S. Open champ Orville Moody, South African Gary Player, who will be defending his title; Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, Bob Charles of New Zealand and others.

Jack Nicklaus is giving some exhibitions in Scanavia, before comleting in England. Arnold Palmer simply is taking time off. So is Coody.

Harding Gophers Win In Softball

The Harding Gophers nicked Wright's Richfield, 1-0, in a slow pitch division game of the San Rafael Recreation Department's adult softball league at Albert Park last night.

In a C-1 game, Home Market and Cain's Tires fought to a 4-4 tie while Timmer Realty bombed the Patio Club, 17-6, in a C-II game.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bad Break In Clubs Stumps Most Players, Even Experts

The bad break in clubs stumped most of the experts who encountered it during a national tournament. The situation looks fairly easy when you see it in print because all four hands are visible, but most players find such hands more difficult in actual play.

ONE OF FEW

New York expert Leonard B. Harmon was one of the few experts who had what it takes to make a slam on the hand shown today — namely, an ambitious partner and real skill of his own. Harmon won the first trick with the ace of diamonds, drew three rounds of trumps, and lost a finesse to the king of clubs. East shrewdly retruned a diamond, forcing dummy to ruff.

This was where most players went wrong. They led a club to the jack, discovering the bad break too late. Now only the king of spades remained as an entry to dummy. The long clubs could be established, but they couldn't be cashed.

GUARDS SELF

Harmon saw a way to guard himself against four clubs in the East hand. Instead of leading a club to the jack, he led out dummy's ace of clubs, overtaking his own jack.

West's discard revealed the club break. Harmon therefore led the nine of clubs from dummy, ruffing out East's ten. He could then get back to dummy with the king of spades to lead the eight of clubs and then the rest of the good clubs.

CLUB BREAK

Harmon's plan was likewise sure to work if the clubs broke 3-2. Both opponents would follow suit, and he would ruff the next club. Then he would return to dummy with the king of spades to run the rest of the clubs.

There was no way to guard against four clubs in the West hand, but you can't always have perfect security.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ 7 3
♥ 10 9 3
♦ Q 9 7 4
♣ K 10 6 5

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds.

You have five points in high cards, one point for the doubleton, and one extra point for the queen of partner's bid suit. The total is just barely enough for a raise.

Barkley's Words

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — The monument erected here in honor of Alben W. Barkley contains a likeness of the late Vice President and his last words spoken to an audience at the moment of his death. "I would rather be a servant in the house of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 2, the 183rd day of 199 with 182 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1776 the Continental Congress formally approved a resolution which became the Declaration of Independence from Britain. The document was signed two days later.

In 1881 President James Garfield was shot by Charles Guiteau in Washington, D.C. Garfield died Sept. 19.

In 1937 American aviatrix Amelia Earhart and co-pilot Frederick Noonan were reported lost over the Pacific. They were never found.

In 1964 President Lyndon B. Johnson signed a new civil rights bill.

A thought for the day: Pierre Corneille once said: "Who is all powerful should fear everything."

A Good Time Was Had By . . .

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Norman Weiler volunteered to take care of the 4-year-old boy next door while his mother was on a shopping trip.

"Let's sit on the front porch and have a good time," she urged.

The boy agreed but soon the inactivity was too much.

"Mrs. Weiler," he asked, "are you having a good time or am I?"

Stocks Take Upward Turn, Halting Skid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Traders applied the brakes today to the market's long skid.

The action was long overdue. The market had been declining since around mid-May, with only infrequent pauses since that time. Some strength was attributed to cheerier news on the Vietnam situation exemplified by Secretary of State William Rogers' statement that a continued lull in the fighting could be followed by increased troop withdrawals.

Some issues showed noteworthy gains—IBM, Lionel, Sedco.

Oils generally were firm with Natomas, Phillips, Atlantic Richfield and Texaco good gainers for most of the session.

Chemicals also were firm. Union Carbide, a fractional loser yesterday, was a fractional gainer for most of the session.

Several other electronics issues joined IBM on the uptrack. They included Honeywell, Motorola, Burroughs, Admiral.

Airlines generally were on the plus side, led by KLM and National. Aircrafts were mixed.

Steels also turned mixed, with several issues moving in and out of the plus column. Motors showed no particular trend.

W. R. Grace moved narrowly. The company announced agreement in principle for its acquisition of Marlene Industries. A Monsanto Co. official said the company's second quarter net should jump 10 per cent from a year ago. The stock improved fractionally.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were firm in brisk trading.

Underground Shelters For Businesses Tested

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The Bekins Co. has announced plans for construction of an underground survival shelter to serve major corporations in the event of disaster, according to Daniel P. Bryant, chairman.

Bekins recently signed an option to purchase a 200-acre site for the project near Coalinga, Fresno County, and has let an engineering contract for development of a master plan, which will include preliminary design and cost studies.

Bryant said, "Bekins has received several inquiries concerning security facilities that could provide protection against catastrophes such as a nuclear attack, earthquakes, fires, floods and riots."

He said four years of research has gone into the project and that preliminary consideration is being given to building a large underground structure to provide major corporations with:

A vital information center for storage and retrieval of vital company records and information stored on tape, film or paper.

A computer center capable of duplicating and storing computer data from throughout the United States.

An emergency operating center which would permit a limited number of major corporations to maintain alternate headquarters at the complex. Facilities will include offices and living quarters for up to 1,000 persons to live and work on a fully self-contained basis for as long as 30 days.

Bryant said that the project is under the direction of Joseph C. Raymond, director of Bekins archival services.

In addition to a three-acre underground building the complex would include an airstrip, heliport, large parking areas and recreational facilities. Raymond said that because of its remote location, elaborate communications network and outdoor recreation facilities, the complex could also be used for seminars and top-level management conferences.

The 200-acre site under option to Bekins is the Bull Pine Ranch, 22 miles northwest of Coalinga, approximately half way between Los Angeles and San Francisco in the Diablo mountains. The land is owned by Grant Squire, Hanford cattleman and cotton grower.

Bekins has retained Harold Schlintz and Associates of Fresno to handle the master engineering phase of the proposed project.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Select Right Fund To Fit Your Needs

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a 37-year-old widow with one child. For the last five years, a mutual fund in which I have a systematic withdrawal plan has paid me $100 a month. At present, I am working and can manage without this check which is depleting my capital. Should I sell my shares outright or continue the plan and reinvest my checks? — W. W.

A. Prompt action designed to protect your capital is important.

One of the values of systematic withdrawal plans is their flexibility. Use of these programs has mushroomed — from about 52,000 in 1962 to over 223,000 plans in 1968 — an indication of their value as a supplement to income. In your case, however, your agent should be notified to discontinue the payments until the need for them again arises.

Your fund, until last year, was an outstanding performer in its class. But performance or go-go funds are usually not considered as suitable as income or balanced funds for use under a withdrawal program. While in a rising market this group tends to make up monthly withdrawals by rapid capital growth, in a declining market problems such as you have encountered are not unusual.

Until you once again need extra income I would allow the fund to rebuild through reinvestment of all distributions. When the time arises for a withdrawal plan, exchange of these shares for the growth-income fund offered by the same management can be arranged for a minimal fee.

Q. Would you advise selling Western Union, in view of its recent price move? — J. D.

A. Not only have shares scored a three-month 45 per cent rise, but in the face of a sharp market sell-off and the sale of 1.3 million additional shares they have retained all but 10 per cent of that gain. This strong technical action reflects investor confidence in the future of private data transmission. Acquisition of AT&T's TWX system, which is being studied, would add $72 million to annual revenues. First-quarter earnings per share were 71 cents up from 38 cents in 1968. Hold.

Clampdown Needed On Boo-Boos In Building

Waste and overspending is a perennial disease that afflicts all government levels from federal to local.

Even before an Air Force efficiency expert sounded a warning on overspending and touched off Congressional demands for tighter control over defense spending, the Marin County Board of Supervisors asked for a detailed summary of various boo-boos made thus far on the buildings at the Marin County Civic Center.

The scale of the alleged waste and overspending is different, but the principle is the same.

Compared with the Pentagon's huge projects strung the world over, the job of overseeing the county's building programs should be relatively simple since they are concentrated in three main buildings — the existing Administration Building, the new Hall of Justice, and the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

The now famous leaks from the plastic covering over the roof of the Administration Building have been a source of irritation and embarrassment for six or seven years.

A new type of plastic dome plus special expandable concrete used in the new Hall of Justice will, hopefully, correct the flaw.

BUT A SERIES of other irksome defects that keep cropping up prompted the new board of supervisors to demand a listing of what Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. described as architectural "mistakes."

Diffused lighting in the library proved so diffused that patrons would go blind trying to read among the stacks.

The entrances to the new Hall of Justice are designed with huge glass panes that appear to be more decorative than practical. Replacement value for one large pane runs something close to a thousand dollars, and the supervisors reluctantly took out a $3,000 insurance on about 10 of these panes.

Cost of replacing broken glass is not the only concern. The supervisors contemplated in horror the possibility that heavy sheets of glass, if broken, could slice down on persons who might be walking below.

Cell bunks in the new, television-equipped county jail turned out to be smaller than standard size so that special mattresses had to be ordered from the Department of Corrections.

Change-orders, accompanied by requests for more funds, come parading in for supervisors' approval almost weekly.

AND IN ALMOST every instance, blame for the "mistakes" or poor judgment cannot be pinned down. The designer blames the contractor, and vice versa. Invariably, the county and its taxpayers wind up holding the bag.

The library lighting was so obviously inadequate that the supervisors will charge the remodeling cost to the architect.

Along with an accounting of errors committed thus far, we hope the county can begin pinpointing some of the responsibility so that the cost of correction can be assessed to those responsible.

Vote To Prohibit Cigarette Ads May Be Aimed At Press Media

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The vote of the state senate to ban all cigarette advertising in California through approval of SB 341, by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, by a vote of 28-7, was surprising, to say the least.

The measure had nothing to do with the smoking of cigarettes, but put an over-all ban on advertising cigarettes in public media, including newspapers, television, radio, and bill-boards as well as in any other form of advertising.

The vote was surprising in that many senators who normally are against writing restrictions on the business methods of the free enterprise system cast an aye vote for the measure, and this caused a lot of speculation that the move was a retaliatory measure against the news media which derives revenue from cigarette advertising.

SOME SENATORS are irked at the press, radio and television media because of stories which have appeared recently presenting certain solons in an unfavorable light in matters of conflict of interest, and conceivably, this attitude could have resulted in the favorable vote the Beilenson measure received.

But of course, none of this appeared in the more than an hour debate on the senate floor. However, representatives of the tobacco industry felt this resentment was a major factor in passage of the bill.

Originally, SB 341 applied to all tobacco advertising, including cigars, pipe tobacco, snuff, etc. Everything was amended out of the measure on the grounds other tobacco products were not as harmful as cigarettes.

BEILENSON'S argument was to the effect that the cigarette advertising was primarily harmful to the youth of the state, for the reason it enticed some 4,000 young people a day to take up smoking, and that heavy smoking would take as much as eight years off a person's life if he or she pursued the habit.

The Beverly Hills senator, however, admitted it is each individual's prerogative to smoke if he wishes to, and that his bill contained no anti-smoking ban.

THE HOUR-LONG debate was ludicrous in part, proponents arguing that many countries, including England, prohibited such advertising, while opponents said so do Russia and Red china. Sen. John Schmitz, R-Tustin, pointed out that George Washington, whose portrait hangs in the senate chamber and is revered by the members, was the largest tobacco planter in Virginia.

Schmitz, however, in a serious vein, argued that if advertising is prohibited by law in any specific field, it can be applied to another as well on health grounds, such as coffee.

"It all adds up," he declared, "to a totalitarian state."

CIGARETTES ARE a legal product, it was pointed out, and until they are made illegal, the legislature has no business in interfering with advertising them for sale.

The question of constitutionality was not brought up, but it is a fact that such a measure might be unconstituional, in that the ban applies only to cigarettes, and not to other tobacco. Therefore, treating one portion of an industry different from another could be illegal.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A suspicious lady accosted a drug store clerk to demand, "Is it true that the new hair restorer you're pushing is guaranteed to work in 24 hours?" "Positively, ma'am," nodded the clerk, "and we can prove it. See that fat female over at the soda fountain? Yesterday afternoon she pulled the cork out of one of our bottles with her teeth, and when she woke up this morning she had a mustache!"

You probably have heard of the bank clerk in an austere New England institution who answered the telephone one morning and bellowed, "No, no, no. NO. No. Yes. No. No, no," — and hung up. When his boss rasped, "What do you mean saying yes to that upstart?" the clerk explained, "I had to. He asked if I could hear him."

An on-the-job publicity man for one of the major film studios set up a curious exhibition in Paris of a series of fake paintings that had been used for a multi-million-dollar "epic." Unfortunately, only twenty-four hours before the widely advertised exhibit was scheduled to open, not one of the fake paintings had turned up.

"What shall I do?" the Paris man long-distanced to the studio.

"There's been a tie-up on the docks," he was told. "Use your head, man! Dig up the originals. Nobody'll know the difference!"

More Credit Due Ambulance Crews

As regards a "news article?" entitled "Firemen Revive a 4-Year-Old" which appeared on June 23. Said article stating that firemen had not only revived the boy but that they had administered oxygen to him while enroute to the hospital.

This is not only untrue; it is so far from the truth that it is almost laughable . . . Firemen are not allowed to administer oxygen in any of our ambulances and are allowed to ride in the patient compartment only on rare occasions. The resuscitator presently used by the fire department in question is of little or no benefit to anyone; providing presently accepted methods of cardio-pulmonary-resuscitation are used, which they rarely are in cases of this type.

Often we see an article . . . reporting that an ambulance took nearly 20 minutes to reach the scene of a relatively minor occurence . . . Rarely mentioned is that the ambulance crews normally manage to do an excellent job despite the efforts of over-zealous bystanders, patient's relatives, firemen and other well-meaning but relatively untrained persons.

Enclosed you will find a copy of a request for a formal commendation to be issued to the ambulance crew mentioned in the above incident . . .

Halt 'Monstrosity' At Tam Creek

. . . Mental laziness is a drag to progress; and it breeds the mediocrity of improper hearings and concrete solution to flood control. . . .

What degree of accomplishment is a trip to the moon, if at the same time on the local scene the military is pouring concrete into meandering streams, and wistful citizens murmur about why didn't somebody do something sooner?

Many other communities have worked long and hard to investigate other solutions. They have not seen fit to swallow the Army line — hook, line and sinker. They will have bike trails and mini-parks, open streams and flood control, flood plains or drainage sewers, and they'll have people and trees. . . .

Marin County will have flood control: Army style, durable, stark, eternal, slippery and so dangerous to children it must be fenced.

Mr. Peter Arrigoni, thanks for your sincere efforts and honest searching! Yours has been a tough job. You have dared to investigate the bundle tied so tightly by the Corps of Army Engineers. Your associates have out-numbered you and have put the County in a very tenuous position (I think). Even worse, on Tam Creek they have voted to have my tax money in Zone 9 put towards a monstrosity, which I don't want and which is a useless extravagance (ask any doctor of hydraulic engineering at U.C.).

Flood control, of course it's needed; but bad design and expensive overkill is just plain dumb. We have been trying to help the County avoid a catastrophe. Today (June 24) the Board of Supervisors postponed until July 8 at 1:45 p.m. the hearing on Corte Madera Creek. Will you be there? Will Marinites show by the head count at that meeting that beauty is important to life in Marin?

Additional Facts On Cascade Dam

Readers of your recent comments about events involving Cascade Dam might be interested in some additional facts.

The meeting of June 19, with the mayor and chief of police, was requested a couple of weeks earlier by the residents of the Cascade Dam area, well before the tragic drowning on June 18. It had nothing whatever to do with the school district and I was present only because I happen to live in the area, not because I am a member-elect of the school board.

Apart from the fire hazard, the Cascade Dam problems (principally traffic congestion and noise) directly affect perhaps 25 households. The purpose of the meeting was to exchange views informally with our mayor and whatever other city officials he invited about those problems and ways in which they might be alleviated.

Our concensus, expressed at the meeting, was that we should try first to find solutions that would not reqire the enactment of additional ordinances. Primarily, our concern here was in preserving the natural state of the reservoir and in not hindering acess by Mill Valley residents any more than absolutely necessary.

Secondarily, we hoped there would be a minimum of publicity because there was evidence that publicity last summer had added to our difficulties by attracting people to the area, most of whom, apparently, were from outside Mill Valley. . . .

Since the residents were concerned about the possible adverse effects if our meeting should be widely publicized, I voiced that concern to the mayor and the news reporters present. I asked them, as a personal courtesy (meaning to the Cascade residents, as I am sure most everyone understood), that our meeting be given no more publicity than necessary. Considering the tenor and circumstances of the meeting, I thought this a reasonable request, and I still do.

Obviously, however, it would have been better judgment not to have made it. While I fully appreciated that the right to decide what coverage to give the meeting was solely that of the papers (I would have it no other way), and I admitted my lack of any such right, it did not occur to me that by expressing this sincere and well-founded concern of the residents I might be responsible for moving a news item of limited interest to the front pages and precipitating the very publicity we hoped to avoid.

As a newcomer to public office and the ways of the press, I clearly have a lot to learn. As a strong believer in the principles of the Brown Act and the concept that action by public bodies should be taken only in open meeting after public discussion, the repercussions of our attempt to have an informal talk with our mayor are embarrassing. More importantly, however, some members of the school district community may have received the impression from your editorials that I run around trying to "suppress" news. To them I apologize. I do not, and would not do any such thing. The idea is completely abhorrent to me. . . .

If only I were affected, I would have taken my lumps and perhaps not written you at all. As it is, while I can stand the consequences, I am not sure my lovely neighborhood can. My neighbors asked me to join with them in trying to find just workable solutions to our common problems with the idea that I might be able to contribute something constructive. In my naivete, I let them down. Thanks to the publicity, the number of people visiting the area may well increase. If that should happen, my friends and neighbors will suffer for something for which I, alone, am responsible. I hope they will forgive me.

Russ Seek American Support In Stabilizing Southeast Asia

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There's a fascinating new development stirring in U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations.

Moscow is taking a major diplomatic initiative which could result in an American-Soviet arrangement to keep the peace in Southeast Asia.

The Soviet government is not yet formally approaching the United States. That would not be the way it would do it. At this point it is simply floating an idea to all the Asian non-Communist nations at a very high diplomatic level.

The first public disclosure that the Soviets were moving along these lines came at the opening of the recent summit conference of Communist parties in Moscow when Soviet Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev dropped this seemingly irrelevant sentence into the middle of a party pep talk:

"The course of events is putting on the agenda the task of creating a system of collective security in Asia."

At the time, this attracted little attention, and at first looked to be a device to turn attention away from embarrassing matters like the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

It is proving to be far more than that, and U.S. officials are watching its evolution with great interest.

TO ILLUSTRATE the importance the Kremlin attaches to promoting this idea:

It called to Moscow its ambassadors in Asia for explanation.

It sent a career deputy foreign minister to meet with officials throughout Asia.

It dispatched trade-and-aid missions to expand its economic and diplomatic contacts from Iran to Japan.

It should be understood that this Soviet project is now only tenuous and exploratory. The Soviets don't mention the United States in discussing it with the Indians or the Japanese or other Asians. But it is evident that the Soviet concept of "Asian collective security" is not directed against the United States, and the Soviet diplomats are being made aware that few, if any, of the non-Communist Asian nations would accept such an arrangment without American participation.

ONE THING is clear. The overriding Soviet interest in "creating a system of collective security in Asia" is the escalating Sino-Soviet conflict.

As seen from Moscow, Red China could not be more offensive. The Chinese are now describing the Soviet leaders not just as deserters and destroyers of Communists but as "today's czars and imperialists."

It is unlikely that either side wants war, but there is a continual escalation of mutual suspicion, and it is clear that in no time in Russian history has Moscow felt such acute concern over its sprawling, populous, nuclear-armed Eastern neighbor. And on top of all the other lacerations, there is the historical racial animosity between the two softened by nothing.

THE SOVIETS would not be talking about collective security in Asia if it were not in their national interest. It is. They need Asian economic stability; they lost $3 billion in aid to Indonesia because of Sukarno's instability. They need Asian political stability to prevent Communist Chinese expansion by force or subversion, which would endanger Russia.

The United States would not be open to this Soviet initiative if it weren't in our national interest. It is. Every trip we have made to the Western Pacific has convinced us that there can be no secure peace in Asia unless it is guaranteed jointly, either by tacit agreement or by treaty, by both the United States and the Soviet Union.

If such an arrangement can be reached in the visible future —it will not come rapidly —there would be little danger of serious war in Asia.

In this area, on this issue and at this time our interests are parallel.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

British Sell To Arabs But No Tanks To Israel

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The British Labor government has quietly joined France in imposing a drum-tight arms embargo against Israel.

While saying nothing about this publicly, the Wilson regime is following the "De Gaulle policy" in every respect. Like the French, although barring weapons to Israel, the British are selling them to Arabs.

A considerable number of Britain's new main battle tank, the Chieftain, have been sold to Kuwait and Libya.

London's secret adoption of a discriminatory arms ban against Israel came to light during the recent visit of Premier Golda Meir.

A principal purpose of her trip was to place an order for a large number of Chieftain tanks.

But when Mrs. Meir broached the subject with British officials, they turned her down.

ALTHOUGH BRITAIN is sorely in need of increased exports and is openly selling tanks and other military hardware to the Arabs, Mrs. Meir's offer of a big Chieftain order was declined.

This rejection was doubly jarring because it not only was wholly unexpected but a complete about-face.

Early this ear, the Wilson government gave every indication of being eager to sell Chieftain tanks to Israel. Several were readily sold to Israel for testing in the desert preliminary to placing a sizable order if they proved satisfactory. They did, and Mrs. Meir was set to give that order.

The Labor regime's explanation for its backstage flip-flop was patently spurious and hypocritical.

Mrs. Meir was told she was being rebuffed because Britain did not want to do anything that might impair the Four Power deliberations in working out a peace formula for the Middle East. Yet while professing this lofty aim, the British made no attempt to deny they were selling Chieftain tanks to the Arabs.

Also, it was intimated to Mrs. Meir that the Labor government might again reverse itself and make its late-model tanks available to Israel if the latter made certain concessions to the Big Four.

These hints were indignantly spurned by the Israeli premier.

THE NEW Pompidou regime has made no change in France's pro-Arab Middle East stance.

Still adhering to the De Gaulle policy, France is covertly selling arms and munitions to Egypt, Lebanon and Iraq. With Britain now quietly following the same course, Israel in effect has been shut out of the major European weapons market.

The only important arms it is acquiring are the 50 F-4 Phantom supersonic fighter-bombers it has bought from the U.S. Their delivery will start late this year.

Sweden, which talks a lot about peace and is an open-armed sanctuary for U.S. military deserters and Vietnam defectors, has developed a highly lucrative armaments industry.

Its latest "big ticket" item is a double-delta wing jet fighter called the Viggen (Thunderbolt). A completely Swedish product, the plane has twice the speed of sound and compares favorably with the U.S. Phantom, the Soviet MIG-21 and the French Mirage.

COUNTRY PARSON

"These days I hear in public meetings what I used to lower my voice to say behind the barn."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

Alice Parsons, The Sea Lion, Is Looking For A Boy Friend

This item more properly belongs on the society page or in the want ads but since this is the space reserved for this column, you'll just have to read it here.

Alice Parsons needs help.

Alice Parsons needs a male.

Alice Parsons' spirit, if those of you who know Alice's past will excuse that choice of words, is sagging.

For those of you who don't know about her past, well, that's something else you'll just have to read here.

Alice is probably about the most famous sea lion in all of the world. At least she is the most famous sea lion in all of Marin which professional Marinites consider to be almost all of the world.

ALICE LIVES at the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

She came there three years ago from Santa Cruz which is where the original Alice Parsons, a human, lived and died. Somehow the bill of lading that should have been with the Mississippi-bound remains of the human Alice Parsons wound up on the shipping crate of the then-unnamed sea lion.

So the museum named the sea lion Alice Parsons. Then, a Reno casino dealer who was the niece of the human Alice Parsons appeared on the scene and announced that she was convinced that her aunt's soul had trans-migrated to the body of the sea lion. (That explains that spirit remark.)

And, although she hasn't been there lately, the niece used to visit the museum to chat with "Aunt Alice."

BUT ANYWAY, that's not the point of this item. That all happened when Alice was a mere pup.

She is now a healthy, mature female sea lion and healthy, mature sea lions need the companionship of healthy mature sea lions of the opposite sex. Boy sea lions, to put it in the terms that Alice's soulful barkings these days seem to express.

"It's perfectly natural," says museum director Paul Maxwell. "Alice wants sex," says his bubbly wife Gay.

"It takes money," say both. Since the museum is not exactly overburdened with money, the Maxwells have notices out all over the place alerting fish companies and the like of Alice's plight. They're hoping someone maybe will pick up a healthy, young male sea lion somewhere and bring him to Alice.

THERE'S EVEN a sign up at the museum saying, rather plaintively, we think, that a purse is needed "for Alice, poor Alice."

Gay Maxwell said Alice's yearning for companionship explains her penchant for trying to escape into the San Rafael Canal.

The sign says: "Did you know that she wears the fur off her tummy because the edge of her pool is too rough? That her pool needs re-doing? That a slide would do wonders for her seal appeal? That she's lonely and needs a mate — someone young and sleek?"

This is getting entirely too sad so if anyone out there has a young male sea lion he wants to get rid of, call the Maxwells and they will be delighted to introduce him to a very nice, and very lonely, lady.

INCIDENTALLY, the museum also needs mates for its peacock, bobcat, mountain lion and Teddy the bear. Gay Maxwell says, however, that if Teddy gets a mate, he'll have to get a new cage too because "a lady Teddy wouldn't fit" in his present one. "One good domestic quarrel would ruin it," Paul Maxwell said.

Oh yes, they need a girl gibbon too. They thought they had one the other day from a nice lady named Mrs. Margaret Gibbon (no kidding) of Corte Madera but it turned out to be a boy too.

Now that all that social news is out of the way, we have a question for whichever bureaucrat is in charge of parking meters in San Rafael: How come if there's a sign on your meters in front of Bank of Marin saying there's a one-hour limit, the bandit has both a meter and coin slot for two hours? We just wondered.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Never-Ending Demands For State Subventions

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The matter of state aid to California public schools for the new fiscal year is tied up in legislative debates over rival tax reform plans, but two things about it are predictable.

First: The amount will be greater than ever before.

Second: It will not be enough to satisfy the districts.

State subventions to the school districts have increased every year for a long time. But despite the steady increase, the districts insist more loudly each year that the state is not paying its proper share.

Just how much the state puts into the public schools, and where it goes, is shown by statistical tables in "Educational Finance in California," published by the California Taxpayers Association.

It shows that state expenditures for public education (kindergarten through junior college) in the fiscal year just closed were 208 per cent of those in 1959-60.

BY WAY OF comparison, health and welfare — often cited as the most rapidly escalating cost of government — in this fiscal year totaled 324 per cent of the 1959-60 figure. And corrections — the penal system for those whom neither education nor welfare has kept on the straight and narrow path — cost 257 per cent of the 1959-60 figure. Most categories of state expenditure showed much lesser increases.

The California Taxpayers Association estimated state expenditure for the public schools in the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled $1,527,318,732, compared to $726,415,308 in fiscal 1959-60.

During the same period, federal funds distributed to California public schools leaped from $19,070,670 to $144,686,349 — or nearly eight times the earlier figure.

And during the same period, taxes collected by California school districts more than doubled, rising from $948,461,632 to $1,936,196,180.

Yet the enrollment increase in the public schools was only 41 per cent.

WHAT HAPPENED?

Part of what happened is indicated by the outlays for new educational programs that did not exist in 1960: Instructional television, elementary reading specialists, mathematics improvement program, training teachers for physically handicapped, subventions to public and school libraries. Biggest outlay for any new program was $104,387,106 for compensatory education, of which nine-tenths came from the federal government.

Nearly all of these programs require local funds to supplement the state and/or federal money. A school district adopts a program because "the state will pay most of the cost" — but the cost to the district keeps rising.

MANY SCHOOL administrators and trustees contend that the state should bear half the financial burden of the public schools. The California Taxpayers Association's figures show that in 1966-67 the state's share was 38 per cent.

State funds, however, are based on enrollment. In a district that spends $2,000 per pupil to run its schools, the state's percentage will be only half as great as in a district that holds per-pupil cost to $1,000 (give or take a little because of the complicated "equalization" formulas). For the state to guarantee a certain percentage, rather than so many dollars per pupil, would thus be an open invitation for more lavish spending.

Meanwhile, elections to increase school district tax rate ceilings fail in ever-increasing numbers. And that is just another reason why, no matter how much the state winds up granting the schools in this year's version of "tax reform," it won't be enough to satisfy the school districts.

Hearing Set On Zoning Problem

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will hold a public hearing at its 8 p.m. meeting Monday to discuss possible changes in uses permitted in a C-1, or commercial, district.

Since this is an age where neighborhood stores are dying out, the commission believes there may be a need for other uses for such buildings, public works secretary Thelma Foster reported. C-1 zoning now allows for such uses as groceries, beauty parlors and barber shops.

Use permit applications will be sought by Michael Considine and F. M. Gelardi to serve alcoholic beverages at their proposed Lion's Share restaurant at 60 Red Hill Avenue and by Subud California for a church at 1405 San Anselmo Avenue.

24 Strep Cases During Last Week

Twenty-four cases of streptococcus infections were reported last week in Marin County by Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. Also reported were three salmonella cases, three infectious hepatitis cases and one case of mumps.

Youth To Attend National Key Club Convention

Lee Harris, lieutenant governor of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Key Club International, will attend the 26th annual convention of Key Club International Sunday through next Wednesday in Miami Beach.

Harris, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson S. Harris Jr. of 153 Robinhood Drive, San Rafael, will serve as president of the San Rafael High School student body during the fall semester and is also active in the county Youth Commission formation efforts.

Harris is a counselor at the Jewish Community Center and an honor student at San Rafael High. A debater, he is a member of the National Forensic League and has appeared before the state Assembly on lowering the voting age.

His trip to the convention is sponsored by the San Rafael Kiwanis Club, which also sponsors Key Club.

Session Tonight

Officers will be elected at the organizational meeting of the Dixie School District board today at 8:30 p.m. at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda, a group spokesman has announced.

Shoreline Highway Resurfacing Planned

Portions of 30 miles of Shoreline Highway between .3 of a mile north of Eskoot Creek near Stinson Beach and 1.7 miles south of Walker Creek will be resurfaced, according to the state Division of Highways.

Bids on the project will be opened July 30 in Sacramento.
